

Will Omaha follow New York in the matter of Soft French Cuffs? Oh, Yes, Indeed Omaha WILL.

"Manhattan" Shirts with soft French Cuffs! Rather a nifty idea isn't it? And they're wearing 'em all over the east. That's the reason I hastened to market and stocked up.

Result is Manhattans in Madras, Cheviots, Flannels, Mercerized and Oxfords, all with Soft French Cuffs, and quite the suappiest shirts ever thrust across an Omaha Furnishing Shop counter.

With the election of Woodrow Wilson slates for democratic appointments at the though he is taking no part in the movement, Sylvester R. Rush, at the present time special attorney for the government egal department, is being pushed for United States attorney, a position now held by F. S. Howell, a Taft appointee Howell still has a year or so to serve. but the friends of Rush are getting in early and are preparing to bring his claims before Mr. Wilson. They point to the fact that Mr. Rush is familiar with the government legal business, having been connected with the legal depart ment for years and the additional fact that he has always been a democrat is another reason why it is claimed that he is entitled to the promotion.

The Aborn singers endowed the faded

quent and enthusiastic applause, forcing the willing artists to repeat many of the acquisition and by right of birth beautiful songs.

There was a mellowness, a warmth, and a sweetness that at times combined to hold her hearers perfectly attentive. Miss Aberorombie showed her skill as an opera.

Miss Herbert, who sang as Azucens won salvos of deserved applause. Her rich, strong contraito voice was heard the Orpheum this week, is the best comin its richest beauty during the scene at the gypsy camp. She made her singing speak the feeling of her motherly sorrow and of the struggle that went on within her breast. She spent her words clearly and shaded her tones deligntfully in contrasting the song variations.

The role of the troubadour was entrusted to Eugene Battain, who already has proved to Omaha that he is one of the best singers in the Aborn company. His performance last evening justified the enthusiam which it created among the listeners. Mr. Battain's Manrico is a man with red blood, virile, handsome and daring. He is a well conceived person and a well acted one. The part of Count di Luna was sung by Irwin Meyers, a pleasurable singer, in good voice, and deeply appreciated by the audience. The chorus work was better in "Il Trovatore" than it was in any of the other performances. In the scene at was delightful, and the anvil song was much appreciated, timeworn as it is. The staging and costuming were better, it seemed, than in the previous operas. This afternoon "The Tales of Hoffmann" is to be repeated, with the same cast that sung it on Sunday evening. Tonight "La Boheme" will be the produced.

Miss Gladys Chandler, the Octabe ser will appear at both performances, this afternoon as Olympia and this evening as the Orpheum this week, is the best com-edy juggier on the stage today. Mr. Fields has been an emphatic hit in vaudeville and he has featured with a half dozen musical comedies during the last few seasons. His latest success was abroad where he scored heavily before English, French and German audiences.

Miss Abercrombie heard Monday evening as Cho-Cho-San in "Madam Butterfly," appeared again, singing the role of Leonora with even better success than she attained in the Puccini part. Miss Herbert, who sang as Azucena.

Unknown, until now, to anyone, Sam Sidman and Tom Coyne, the comedians with Hastings big show at the Gayety twice daily this week are indulging in a friendly contest between themselves to ascertain which causes the most laughs during the performance. Their wives sit together during the performance and mark down the laughs as they occur, crediting them to the comedian causing them. The result is expected about Saturday.

There's one act at the Hippodrome this week under the name of "Those Three Fellows" that is making one of the biggest hits of the show. No one knows who they are, they hiding their identity behind the title mentioned above, but for just what reason no one seems to know. As a matter of fact there is no cause, as far as their act is concerned, why they should hide, as their vocal and musical contribution to the program is highly satisfactory—so much so, that it would not be surprising if the act should be booked for a return date within a few weeks. Matinee daily at 2:00.

"The Rosebuds" company, appearing at the Krug this week, is one of the pop-ular shows of the circuit. Joe Adams, "that funny fellow," is the leading comedian.

SUGGEST SECRETARY OF STATE

as Such He Would Please the People, Thinks Henry W. Yates-Smyth Doubts Bryan Accepting an Office.

The general opinion among prominent emocrats of Omaha is that W. J. Bryan may have any place he may desire in the cabinet of President Wilson next March "I believe Mr. Bryan can have any place he wants in the cabinet," said C. Smyth, "and I think he is entitled to any place he wants. He is entitled to it for the campaign of education he has waged for the last sixteen years, for the heroic fight he made at Baltimore and since that date throughout the Wilson campaign. I do not know that Mr. Bryan would care for a position. I am not sure he would accept a position in the cabinet After the very first dose of Pape's If I were to guess I should say he would

As to which place in the cabinet of the new president would be the position in was not so sure.

"The secretary of stateship, which has name," said Mr. Smyth, "is the office that has to do with foreign relations. and I really believe Mr. Bryan could do better service in a position in which he would have to do with the affairs of our own government. The country is to work' out its destiny not in matters of foreign relations, but chiefly through its own in the cabinet in any position would be administration as some have suggested, for I don't believe any man can dominate Wilson.

Nothing Too Good, Henry W. #### BUSINESS MEN BOOSTING SATURDAY'S BALL GAME

Efforts to induce the Omaha Ad club and the Commercial club to boost for next Saturday's game between Creighton and Omaha universities have been successful, as the former organization has agreed to make every effort to turn out for next Saturday's game and to officially recognize it as foot ball day. The Commercial club is expected to officially eniorse the game.

Morganthaler is working hard to preare his men for the game and expects to spring a surprise on Creighton. The defeat of the strong Cotner team has put the fighting spirit into the team and they expect to crase the memory of the 58 to 0 of last year. Coach Miller of Creighton is confident of a victory, as all of the members are in good shape. The Creighton High and the Nebraska School for the Deaf will play a preliminary
