

HULL-MCKEEN CASE IS OFF

Settled Out of Court at Instance of Mrs. E. H. Harriman.

TERMS NOT FULLY DECIDED ON

Railroad Interests Tired of Odium Incurred Through McKee, Who is Aided as Head of the Motor Car Company.

The Hull-McKeen alimony case has been settled out of court. C. W. Hull had sued to annul the divorce and alimony of $10,000 given his wife, now Mrs. W. R. McKee, and the McKees resisted the action.

The information is that pressure brought from the outside led to the settlement. McKee is president of the McKee Motor Car company, a Harriman concern. President Mohler of the Union Pacific, it is said, acting in co-operation with the wish of Mrs. E. H. Harriman, had a part in urging negotiations for cessation of the sensational proceedings.

Details Not Complete. Some details of the settlement terms have not yet been arranged, attorneys for the McKees having refused to enter upon specific financial considerations until after Hull's suit should have been dismissed. Through it is said to be extremely unlikely that the litigation will fall to reach agreeable terms, Hull's attorneys left open a way to renew hostilities if in the future it shall be desired to do so. They moved to dismiss the suit, but the motion was to dismiss without prejudice to the institution of a new action of a nature identical with that of the old.

Attorneys for Hull went before Judge A. C. Troup of the equity division of the district court and moved dismissal at 11 o'clock yesterday. Judge Troup dismissed the action and taxed the costs to the plaintiff Hull. The costs are in excess of $300, the principal items being for taking of voluminous depositions.

John L. Webster, of counsel for Mr. and Mrs. McKee, said there had been no special agreement on terms of settlement.

No Compromise—Webster.

"We never have proposed compromise," said Mr. Webster. "From the time Mr. Hull started this action until now we have refused to consider any sort of compromise, until the suit should be dismissed. In duty to our client, Mrs. McKee, we took the position from the first that her good name should be protected above all else and we should not enter upon any negotiations regarding the financial side of the case until the charges against Mrs. McKee should be withdrawn."

With dismissal of Hull's action came automatic dissolution of an injunction restraining Mrs. McKee from collecting a $500 alimony installment, which under the contract between her and Hull became due last April. The contract now is in full force and effect, so far as the records of the district court show; the $500 alimony is now seven months overdue and another installment of $500 will become payable on April 1, 1913. The installment due on April 1, this year, has not been paid, so far as the records show.

Several Conferences.

The end of the Hull-McKeen suit followed a series of conferences extending through two days. Friends and associates of both plaintiff and defendant urged compromise. One of the conferences was held in the Union Pacific headquarters. President Mohler and other officials of the Union Pacific railroad impressed upon the litigants the advisability and desirability of settlement. It is said that Mrs. E. H. Harriman, who succeeded to her late husband's interests in the Union Pacific, had expressed her displeasure with the notoriety the case was bringing to persons identified with the railroad.

WILL MAUPIN PRAISES THE BEE'S DEVELOPMENT EDITION

Will Maupin, booster, writes from his Lincoln mansion, to C. C. Rosenwatter, general manager of The Bee, to express his opinion of The Bee's recent Nebraska Development number. And here is the said opinion:

I have delayed writing you concerning your recent Nebraska Development number of The Bee because I wanted to take my time and digest it thoroughly. And having done so I find it difficult to voice my sentiments. I could say, "Bully," but that is hackneyed. I could say, "splendid!" but that is trite and commonplace. So I will have to content myself with saying that it is the complete and the most beneficial thing of the kind that ever came out of Nebraska. You and your co-workers on The Bee have earned congratulations of all men and women who are really interested in letting the world know what a great state Nebraska is, and it is to be hoped that the Development number will be circulated by the hundreds of thousands, for wherever it goes it will bring a good will for the wonderful commonwealth. Nebraskans are awakening to the fact that they must get into the publicity game and make Nebraska's resources known if this state is to take her rightful place in the sisterhood. Your recent number will do much to arouse that spirit.

Friday the members of the three suffrage societies will give a test at the Home hotel in honor of Mrs. Stewart. The hours will be from 2 until 5. The members of the reception committee are Mrs. F. B. Cowgill, Miss Belle Kimball, Miss Jeannette McDonald, Miss Alice Landie and Mrs. J. N. Lowe.

A cordial invitation to the teachers who are here to attend the state convention is extended to them to meet Mrs. Stewart at this time.

AUSTRIANS ARE ARRESTED FOR TRIMMING A BROTHER

Junck Lalitch and Joe Lalitch were getting along fine trimming Mat Neamish, an Austrian countryman, in a saloon at Ninth and Douglas streets yesterday morning. Neamish had a large roll of bills, having just been paid off at the penitentiary, but when the men were rounded up and searched at the station the Lalitches had most of the money. They had it concealed in all their pockets and had even tried to hide about $50 in his mouth. Their game was to cut cards for dollars, the two Lalitches combining against Neamish.

"RAILROADING in ROMANCE AND REALITY"

By ELBERT HUBBARD, Contributing Editor

An editorial by Fra Elbertus of East Aurora. He sermonizes to railroad men in particular, to public servants in general and to ALL of us in the long run, if we read his message aright.

"THE DRAMA OF MY LIFE"

In Two Parts

1. "THE TALK OF THE WALLS"

By IVAN NARODNY

Illustration from Photograph of the Author

Narodny was four years in solitary confinement—four years during which he spoke to no one but his keeper, and did not leave his cell except for fifteen minutes each day. Ivan Narodny was, and is, a leader of the revolutionary movement in Russia. For his devotion to the cause of democratic government, he was not only imprisoned, but came within the shadow of the gallows. The drama of his life is a human document of surprising interest. In this first installment, which he calls "The Talk of the Walls", he tells us how he and his fellow prisoners conversed by means of a code of telegraphic taps; he tells of keeping a diary by writing on handkerchiefs with his own blood. He tells of making friends of a dove, a mouse and a fly. It is a true record, far more fascinating than fiction could ever hope to be.

"THE GHOST OF SHAFT 2"

By ARTHUR HAYWOOD

Illustrations by Rollin Crampton

This is a story 'way off the beaten track. The scene is laid in a South African mining camp. The ghost mystery will puzzle you up to the last paragraph as fully as it puzzled the hero—and he had some lively adventures before he solved it. The illustrations by Rollin Crampton have caught the spirit of the Dark Continent.

"THE ANSWER"

By CRITTENDEN MARRIOTT

Illustrations by Frederick A. Duncan.

A story of optimism and good cheer. It carries a lesson for every woman, and every man, too. A woman who has seen all her children marry and make homes of their own, is tempted to fear that her usefulness is ended. The turn that Mr. Marriott gives to his plot proves that no one can say that the world has no work for him to do. Truly an "Answer" to a condition that has occurred time and time again in every-day life.

The Always Interesting

"WOMEN WHO COUNT" DEPARTMENT

The November 10th issue will carry intimate sketches of Miss Mabel T. Boardman, head of the Red Cross Movement in America, and of Miss Jane Delano, another Red Cross leader; also of Miss M. Louise Evans, who is a journalistic factor in Virginia.

Cover Design

"A FRONTIER HONEYMOON"

By EDWARD BOREIN

A stirring picture in colors of an elopement in the cow country. Edward Borein is said to be by art critics the legitimate successor of Frederick Remington. The picture is certainly worthy of a frame and a prominent place in your library.
