WOMEN KEEP COLORADO WET

By Work Before Election and at the Polls Defeat Dry Plank.

TAKE ADVICE OF MEN FOLKS Say They Realize that Prohibition Would Injure the State in Its Campaign to Bring Tourists the Year Around.

"It was the woman vote that kept the state of Colorado wet by a majority of 6,000," said F. W. Fagel, proprietor of the Albany hotel of Denver, who is in Omaha, accompanied by his wife and daughter.

"Any one who says that the women do not use their heads," he said, "can just look at the vote in Colorado. Before the election it looked as if the state would go dry. This would have killed Colorado and the women knew. What did they do but get out and work night and day before the election, and on that day stood at the polls all day long working. The result was that the wets carried by such a large majority that the dries will never attempt their fight again."

Just to illustrate the vote, in Palmer Lake, a suburb of Denver, there are fifty-four voters, including twenty-seven women. The vote on the dry and wet was fifty-two for the wets and two for the dries.

"When the question of women voting was put up at a recent election I voted against women being given the right to vote, but I have come to the conclusion that women know what they are doing and should be allowed to vote in every state in the union. The women of Colorado knew that should the state go dry it would stop right where it is now and not increase and grow, so they voted to keep it wet."

But few precincts have been canvassed, as delays have repeatedly prevented the canvassing board from continuing its work, but the canvassers believe the park bonds, which are issued regularly every year, will be defeated. Fire Warden Ed Morris, acting on the belief that the $100,000 issue of bonds carried, has condemned the fire house at sixteenth and Iard streets and it will be ordered torn down. A new house will be built on Harney, near Eighteenth, and the other company quarters will be repaired and improved. It is Commissioner Ryder's plan, announced when the bond issue was submitted, to build a north and south police station, and a new central station, if possible, combining with it a model workhouse, where young criminals could be

Barlow May Serve Out Rest of Term on the Water Board
Milton T. Barlow, president of the Water board, probably will serve out his term, although he has asked that his resignation be considered, and that his successor be allowed to come into office now.
F. D. Wead, who ran without opposition, will fill Mr. Barlow's place when the latter's term expires the first of the year. Several months ago President Barlow intimated that he wanted to resign, but the other members petitioned him to remain during the period following the assumption to ownership of the water works.
He has again requested the board to consider his resignation, but at a meeting this week he was asked to serve out his term and will probably do so.
