Working order all the way out. He denied that his controller box had "blown out" as stated by passengers and he said that he had experienced no difficulty whatever with the "overhead" controller. He said that he stopped the car at Thirty-ninth street and that for the first time he noticed that his airbrake refused to work. He said the next thing he knew was that the car jumped the track and he was buried beneath a mass of wreckage. He was taken to his home early this morning. The garage wrecked by the runaway street car is the Electric garage, owned by George Redick and Denise Barklow. At the time of the crash, Night Foreman Will Sullivan was the only occupant of the building and he was in another part of the building. The car, which was owned by Luther Kounize and one to T. E. Stevens, former cashier of the Corn Exchange bank, were demolished, and several other machines nearby were scratched by flying glass and brick.

Each of the wrecked automobiles is worth about $2,000 and the damage to the garage building will exceed $5,000.

At 2 o'clock this morning a wrecking crew, assisted by several fire companies, completed the task of clearing the street of the debris and the cars that were held up for several hours were allowed to go through.

Street car officials say they examined the brakes of the car this morning and found that they were still in working order.

OTTOMANS WILLING TO NEGOTIATE WITH BULGARIANS DIRECT

The movements of the Bulgarian armies. The reputation of Lieutenant Wagner of the Reichspost, which went up like a rocket when he was claiming to be the only correspondent witnessing the battles, has fallen like a stick.

The English newspapers believe Wagner was used, knowingly or innocently, by the Bulgarian staff to send reports calculated to mislead the Turks.

The great battle that Wagner declared had been fought nearly a fortnight ago at Tohatatja, losses in which, he said, exceeded those at Lule-Burgas, never occurred. One correspondent with the Bulgarian headquarters declares Lieutenant Wagner was a headquarters man of the time during the battle of Kirk-Klisseh, which she claimed to have witnessed, and he would have had to ride 200 miles in two days if he had seen it.

The situation as regards the dispute of Serbia and Austria over the former's demand for an Adriatic sea port is again considered very serious. There is reason to believe, say Belgrade dispatches, that the Serbian government will not submit a satisfactory reply to the Austrian representations on the subject, though it has not positively recovered them.

More ill feeling between the nations became evident today, when the Serbian minister presented to the Vienna government an official complaint that the Austrian consul at Prizrend fired from the top of his house at Serbian troops, when they captured the town. It is believed in Vienna that the consul was defending some Albanians, numbers of whom are alleged to have been shot by the Serbians for concealing arms and abusing Serbian soldiers.

Explosives Stored in Muncie. Half a dozen residents of Muncie, Ind., testified concerning a vacant house at Muncie in which McManigal said the McNamara and Hockin in 1909 stored nitroglycerin. The witnesses asserted that boxes mysteriously were taken in and out of the house at night; that the windows were covered with paper and that the nocturnal visits of a wagon to the house deepened the mystery so that children began to regard the place as haunted.

Emanuel Maddox, a box manufacturer, identified Hockin as having ordered nitroglycerin packing boxes which were delivered to the Muncie house. Other witnesses testified Hockin was seen about the house.

Hockin, now secretary of the Ironworkers' union, was again pointed out by John Longbaugh, agent of a nitroglycerin manufacturer at Montpelier, Ind. Longbaugh said Hockin promised to pay a high price for nitroglycerin if the dealer in explosives would sell it without asking questions.

Pointing to Hockin, Longbaugh, who now lives at Tulsa, Okla., said: "I told this man my company would not allow me to sell nitroglycerin without knowing what it was to be used for. He replied he would make it attractive for me and that he would carry it away in suit cases on the train. I asked him if he wanted me to steal the nitroglycerin. He said he did not care, and as for carrying explosives on passenger trains he wasn't bothered."

The witnesses who identified Hockin as having to do with the purchase or concealing of explosives were passed by attorneys for the defense without cross-examination.

Frank Eckhoff, a friend and neighbor of the McNamara family in Cincinnati, testified that in 1909 James B. offered him $50 to put a package on a nonunion job, but Eckhoff said he refused because there were watchmen around.

"Two weeks later the job was blown up," he said.

Base Ball Association Gives Hastings Title

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 16.—(Special Telegram.)—Reports were received from Milwaukee today saying that the Board of Arbitration of the Minors' association had reversed the decision of the Nebraska State league directors and reinstated a game which Hastings won against Fremont and which the directors threw out on the ground that Hastings was carrying more men than the league rule allowed. This gives Hastings the league championship in spite of the directors' decision. Hastings and Fremont were left tied for the championship.

Army Defeats Tufts. WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 16.—The Army had a harder time defeating Tufts today than the score indicates. The Cadets were returned the winners by a 15 to 6 score, but in the first two periods were outplayed by the Tufts team. Devere had his hands full with O'Donnell, who got through several times and spoiled Army plays behind the soldiers' line.

Chicago Wins Game From Illinois Uni

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 16.—Second place honors in the "Big Nine" football race will be fought out between Chicago and Minnesota at Chicago next Saturday. Chicago's 10 to 0 victory over the University of Illinois here today put them in the running for second place and relegated the local eleven to fourth place in the final standing.

Chicago's scores were the result of a touchdown, a goal from touchdown and a place kick. Kennedy went over for the touchdown in the first period, after Gray had placed the ball on Illinois' three-yard line on line plunges. Sellers kicked goal.

In the third period, after Chicago had advanced the ball to its foe's twenty-yard line on a forward pass, Sellers scored three more points when he booted the ball squarely between the goal posts from placement.

Illinois braced strongly in the third period after playing an open game, but could not pierce holes in Chicago's line for substantial gains. For Illinois, Silkan, Rowe and Woolsten were the chief ground gainers. Norgren, Gray and Pierce did the best work for Chicago.

JOHNSON DEMANDS JURY TRIAL IN ASSAULT CASE

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, demanded a jury trial today when arraigned in municipal court on a charge of assaulting Edwin F. Weigle, a newspaper photographer.

Weigle asserts he was injured by Johnson while attempting to take a picture of the negro pugilist as he was being taken to jail on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act. Johnson, it is said, struck Weigle with a heavy walking cane. No date for trial was set.

Johnson was not in court when his case was first called and his attorney was given an hour and a half to produce him, under penalty of forfeiture of the $500 cash bond given by the pugilist yesterday. A plea for a continuance was denied by the court, but the demand for a jury trial effected a postponement.

Jack Johnson, victor of United States District Attorney Wilkerson today in an unsuccessful attempt to settle the Mann act charge against him by pleading guilty and paying a heavy fine. Johnson admitted he was much disturbed over the prospect that he would have to go to the penitentiary.

WANT ELECTION INVALIDATED

Progressives of Polk County File Petitions in District Court.

ALL REPUBLICANS ELECTED

Court Orders that Strikebreakers and Strikers Cannot Carry Weapons Either Concealed or Otherwise.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Nov. 16.—(Special Telegram.)—The long-promised suit in court to invalidate the election in Polk county was commenced today. The petitioners are defeated candidates for local office, but prominent democratic attorneys have charge of the case and it is supposed that the main purpose is to affect the state election if possible. Two petitions were filed.

The first asks the supervisors to certify up all proceedings regarding Polk county elections from the time the voting machines were purchased and up to the issuance of election certificates to the successful candidates of the November election.

The second petition asks for a writ of injunction restraining the board of supervisors from issuing election certificates to any candidates until the case is finally adjudicated.

The two petitions resolve themselves into an attempt to have the voting machines thrown out of Polk county. The 1912 election is not alone involved. The election of 1910, when the voting machines were used, is indirectly affected. The attorneys contend that if the court declares the present election illegal, the election of 1910 was illegal and the officials who were elected then have held office illegally.

The hearing is set for Monday. Efforts to obtain temporary writs having failed. Attorneys are divided in opinion as to whether with Polk county's vote thrown out E. G. Dunne, democrat, at Mason City would become governor of the state.

Neither strikers nor strikebreakers are permitted to carry revolvers, either concealed or otherwise, in Des Moines.

This was the decision of Police Judge Versteeg today in the case of W. F. Versteeg, owner of the Vee Transfer company, who was arrested under an ordinance which denies the right to carry firearms without the consent of the mayor and city council.

Transfer men had claimed the right to go armed if only their weapons were exposed.

Three Girls Overcome By Fumes of Gas

GRISWOLD, Ia., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—Three daughters of E. T. Neer, a farmer living three miles east of town, were sent into the basement of their home on an errand, and not returning in a reasonable time, Mr. Neer went to see what detained them, and discovered them lying unconscious on the floor. They were revived with difficulty and acted in such an unusual manner, striking at members of the family, talking incoherently, etc., that an investigation was made and an effort to determine the cause. The residence is lighted by an acetylene plant and it is supposed that a leakage of gas was the cause of their strange experience. They soon recovered when brought out into the fresh air.

The case has been sent to the head of the Iowa legal department for an opinion.

ALASKA LAND FRAUD CASES MUST BE TRIED

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—United States Judge K. M. Landis today overruled a motion for demurrers to the indictments pending against Albert C. Frost and other defendants in the alleged Alaskan land fraud cases.

Frost and the other defendants are charged with seeking to acquire by unlawful methods 19,000 acres of coal lands valued at $10,000,000.

The indictments have been pending for some time. Through various agents and employees it is alleged the defendants procured titles to claim of the coal lands by petition to United States land offices with a view of uniting all of the claims and forming a big land corporation.

M'NAMARA WOULD KILL STENOGRAPHER WHO KNEW TOO MUCH

Miss Dye, who now lives in Pittsburgh, recently identified hundreds of letters introduced by the government as implicating the forty-five defendants in a conspiracy.

McManigal Buys Many Clocks. Jewelry store employees testified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today that alarm clocks used by the McNamara brothers and Orle E. McManigal in the manufacture of bombs, were purchased in such quantities as to arouse suspicion. McManigal has confessed that when he bought clocks he pretended he gave them to farmers.

How the dynamite bought twelve small clocks at Pittsburg in July, 1910, after he had blown up a job at McKee's Rocks was described by Miss Margaret Burns. She said when she sold the clocks to McManigal she asked him what he was going to do with so many and he replied they were for friends in the country. Miss Anna Elliott testified McManigal bought at an Indianapolis jewelry store all the alarm clocks in stock.

According to McManigal, J. J. McNamara, secretary of the Ironworkers' union, used to keep a stock of clocks locked in a vault in his office. The clocks were fitted to bombs so that when the alarms went off at a prearranged time the handles of the winders connected up a battery and caused the explosions. The similarity of a clock which McManigal lost in Peoria and another clock found at Los Angeles was one of the clues that put detectives on the dynamiters' trail.

Explosives Stored in Muncie. Half a dozen residents of Muncie, Ind., testified concerning a vacant house at Muncie in which McManigal said the McNamara and Hockin in 1909 stored nitroglycerin. The witnesses asserted that boxes mysteriously were taken in and out of the house at night; that the windows were covered with paper and that the nocturnal visits of a wagon to the house deepened the mystery so that children began to regard the place as haunted.
