OCTOBER CIRCULATION 51,898.

State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, ss. Dwight Williams, circulation manager of The Bee Publishing Company, being duly sworn, says that the average daily circulation for the month of October, 1912, was 51,898.

Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them. Address will be changed as often as requested.

Are you a daffydiller? Get into the game.

The sultan is saving his blood and pleading for peace.

Speaking of daffydills, the Balkans hold the key to Turkey.

Extra sessions mean extra trouble for the men who call them.

Of course, western men are the first to give woman the ballot.

"Shall the dead live again?" Well, politically speaking, that depends.

What is a coal famine? Is it another name for a boost in the price of coal?

Somebody is still playing Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde on the stage. Enough of that in real life.

Well, Uncle Joe was revised downward gradually, anyway; first, from speaker to the floor, then the other.

"The republican party is destroyed," says the colonel, still smarting under the sting of defeat. Not so fast.

If President-elect Wilson wishes to do the real gallant, let him appoint Citizen Jane Addams to a place in his cabinet.

In behalf of world peace, we second the nomination of Andrew Carnegie for secretary of war in the new cabinet.

How can a man keep in a good humor who has to wield a facio pen by pecking typewriter keys with a sore finger?

The average American city would resemble Paradise if one-tenth of the "city beautiful" schemes proposed materialized.

Omaha people want to do the fair thing by the street railway company, and they also want the street railway company to do the fair thing by them.

Charles Page Bryan, the ambassador to Japan, who resigned a lucrative office, is obviously not a democrat and no kin to William J. Bryan.

Cast a side glance at the reformers, does any sane man doubt that a republican president would have been elected, with a united party behind him?

Imagine the affectionate thoughts that steal athwart the placid mind of Nick Longworth whenever he happens to think of Pa and that ex-seat in congress.

Governor-elect Morehead says he does not expect to be re-elected. If his three immediate predecessors had had the same viewpoint they would not have been disappointed.

"Sixteen years to one victory" is the way Mr. Bryan's Commoner revises the sacred democratic ratio. We doubt, however, if Mr. Bryan will insist, as he used to, that this ratio is sacred and unchangeable.

Senator Borah reaffirms his allegiance to the republican party, with the declaration that "that is the party in which I have fought so far, and I shall continue to fight there."

The municipal home rule amendment to the Ohio constitution has just gone into effect. The municipal home rule amendment to the Nebraska constitution became effective the moment the ballot making a majority was dropped into the box two weeks ago.

Workmen's Accident Compensation.

At the recent meeting to form a state organization of Nebraska manufacturers one of the principal topics of discussion was proposed legislation for compensating workmen injured in industrial accidents.

Here in Nebraska a commission, appointed by the governor, under legislative authority, has been at work for months with a view to making recommendations to be submitted to the coming legislature.

The Bee makes this recital, not to enter into the merits of the matter at this time, but to impress our readers, who may be affected either as employers or as employees, with the urgency of looking into the subject and studying it carefully for the purpose of reaching practical conclusions.

"The Intelligent Voter."

It is common practice in certain circles to speak of "the intelligent voter" with a sort of sneering reference as if few people manifested any degree of intelligence in marking their ballots at the polls.

Signs of the Times.

It is impossible but that offenses will come, but we unto him through whom they come.

Those Seven-Cent Meals.

The women of the Chicago School of Domestic Arts and Sciences think they have found the solvent of the high cost of living in a meal they say can be served for 7 cents a plate, with this menu:

One loaf of home-made bread, 2 cents. Mutton and vegetables en casserole, 25 cents. Steamed rice, 5 cents. Bread pudding custard, 10 cents.

What of Our Ex-Presidents?

If Theodore Roosevelt and William H. Taft live we shall, for the first time in many years, have two simultaneously surviving ex-presidents after March 4.

Congress on His Hands.

President-elect Wilson evidently believes he has felt the pulse of his party sufficiently to justify him in calling an extra session of congress immediately after his inauguration.

Light on a Mystery.

Looking Backward This Day in Omaha

COMPILED FROM BEE FILES NOVEMBER 17

Thirty Years Ago—

The bar banquet in honor of Judges James W. Sawyer and Judge James W. Neville took place at the Millard. At the head table were, besides the guests of the evening, Judge Wakeley, who acted as toastmaster, Judge McCreary, Judge Laska and Judge Dundy.

Let it Come to Omaha.

Western league base ball magnates in session in Chicago have voted in favor of transferring the league's headquarters from Chicago, and it has been suggested that it be moved to Kansas City.

Poor Girls and Education.

The feminine president of an eastern school for girls makes the remarkable statement that "no girl can serve two masters—her college and her pocketbook."

Ten Years Ago—

The Board of Education defined its attitude toward domestic science in the schools, toward to introduce it the first of the next school year.

Call for Greek Veterans.

From over toward Macedonia comes another distress signal; the Greek nation is calling for all its veteran soldiers in America.

BLASTS FROM RAM'S HORN.

The man who is true to himself is a friend to everybody.

Today is the time to do, tomorrow is the foot's seed time.

The best time to begin to move the world is before sunup.

We know what God will do for us when we know what He has done for others.

The man who would have God's help in anything must take God's way to get it.

Many a man hides his wife's coffin in roses who never gave her a five-dollar bill to do as she pleased with.

The man who is waiting to do a big lot of good in one day will never do a lot of good in any one day.

Without great faith in something great character is impossible.

If there is a heaven for fools, the man who makes a who's-who on the street on the election will be there on a front seat.

The greatest trust ever formed is the one that begins at the mother's knee.

Think of the irony of putting "At Rest" on the headstone for the wife who was worked to death.

The man who has reached the place where sin cannot shock him is very close to the place where God's mercy cannot reach him.

SECULAR SHOTS AT PULPIT.

Louisville Courier-Journal: A Texas minister said the other day that profanity was the nation's bane, but since the Wilson election there's nothing to cuss about.

Houston Post: Thomas F. Ryan has just given $100,000 to St. Catholic church in New York. We hope there will be no pinheads to say he did it for the purpose of acquiring control of the church.

Chicago Record-Herald: A Boston pastor says that a man and a woman can marry and live comfortably on $15 a week, saving $1 for emergencies.

Baltimore American: Instead of a clergyman officiating at a funeral in Boston recently a talking machine was used.

Boston Transcript: President-elect Wilson has been likened to many other men, Joseph Chamberlain among them, but it remained for the Princeton clergyman to discover his resemblance to Habakkuk.

There is a legend, however, that he was ordered to carry food to Daniel in the lion's den and, to enable him to obey, an angel took him by the hair of his head and transported him to Babylon.

Hardly think Mr. Wilson's hair would stand the strain.

BRYAN AND THE CABINET.

Will He Sacrifice Present Independent Position? Washington Herald.

Of course, Mr. Bryan does not want a cabinet position. Thrice candidate for the presidency, and with a lingering hope that even yet his ambition may be realized, Mr. Bryan probably regards a cabinet office as beneath his dignity.

Besides this, he wants to be in an independent position. He has a newspaper through which he can disseminate his views, and he does not hesitate to express his mind. There are many things which he will want to say during the next four years, and a portfolio would bind him hand and foot.

So Mr. Bryan, being wise in his day and generation, will not enter President Wilson's cabinet. There are other things for him to do.

SUNDAY SMILES.

"My friend," said the good deacon, "are you prepared for the wrath to come?"

"Yes," replied the crooked politician; "I've got enough to keep me in easy circumstances all my life. Now, let the voters know me under as soon as they like."—Judge's Library.

"He's the most thoughtful man I know."

"Yes, though he doesn't smoke himself he always carries matches for the convenience of those who do."—Detroit Free Press.

Featherfoot—My old Uncle Bertram says I have half as much sense as a ring and a hammer.

Ringgold—Well, what's the difference? It's only an old man's peevish way of talking.

Featherfoot—Yes, but when he says such a thing as that—he—er—raises a doubt, don't you know?—Chicago Tribune.

Mary—Doesn't Ida keep her hardwood floors in beautiful condition?

Alice—Perfect. Everyone who goes there has to be careful of their feet or a dislocation—Harper's Bazar.

"That rich family on our block drove their only daughter from home."

"How brutal!"

"Not at all. It was in their motor car."—Baltimore American.

Wife—Isn't "air pocket" an aviation term?

Husband—Not always. When you went through my clothes last night you left nothing but air pockets.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"What became of that malefactor of great wealth who was sentenced to serve a year?"

"He got out of the tangle in an unusual way."

"Some new technicality?"

"No, he served his time."—Kansas City Journal.

MARCO BOZZARIS.

By Pitt-Greene Halleck.

(The first three verses of this famous poem, with slight changes that will suggest themselves to the reader, fairly picture the disastrous awakening of the sleeping Turk.)

At midnight, in his guarded tent, The Turk was dreaming of the hour When Greece, her knee in supplication, Should tremble at his power; In dreams, through camp and court, he trod.

The trophies of a conqueror: In dreams his song of triumph heard; Then wore his monarch's studded ring; Then pressed that monarch's throne—a king— As with thoughts, and gay of wing, As Eden's garden bird.

At midnight, in the forest shades, Bozzaris ranged his subtle blades, Heroes in heart and hand; There had the Persian thousands stood, On old Plataea's day; And nowhere breathed that haunted air, With arm to strike and soul to dare, As quick, as far, as they.

An hour passed on; the Turk awoke; "That bright dream was his last; He woke, to hear his sonnets shriek, "To arms! they come! the Greek! the Greek!"

He woke to die "midst flame and smoke, And shout, and groan, and saber stroke, And death-shots falling thick and fast As lightning from the mountain cloud; And heard, with voice as trumpet loud, Bozzaris cheer his arm; Strike—till the last armed foot pressed! Strike for your altars and your fires! Strike for the green graves of your sires, God and your native land!"

People and Events

Out of the ruck and riot and ravages that the war-torn reader longingly looks for uniformity in the spelling of Saloniki.

Arizona approved all the modern innovations printed on the ticket, including the method of telling offensive judges where they get off.

Cupid has become so hot and frisky out at Walla Walla, Wash., that churches have applied for policemen to act as spark arresters in the vestibules.

A Philadelphia court informed a joy-riding chauffeur that people on foot had superior rights on street crossings over people on wheels. Still, unless people on foot carry good stiff axles, policemen, the best plan is to watch for a safe opening and jump across.

On the wings of the wind from the Windy City comes the startling news that the suffragettes are to open a school for the training of women spellbinders who will champion the cause. Great Caesar, who will temper the winds of future campaigns for defenseless voters?

The sheriff-elect of Calhoun county, Michigan, and the congressman-elect from the New Bedford, Mass., district are birds of rare plumage at the picnic counter. Both promised, if elected, to come around among the boys and thank them for the victory, and they actually did it. Wouldn't that jar a professional?

Coming down to the bottom facts of unrewarded toil, the case of the burglars of Perryopolis, Pa., heads the chapter. Four of them lugged a 600-pound safe a mile into the woods to blow it at leisure, only to find that it was open and empty. On a piece of wrapping paper stuck on the open door was this suggested note: "You can take the 4-n thing back."

After wandering around the country enjoying himself for fourteen years Hugh Hefey blew into his former home in Washington the other day and was surprised to find that his deserted wife wasn't sitting on the porch, lonesome-like, waiting for his return. But she was there all right. She answered his knock, grabbed a club and chased him off the block.

It is always safe to depend on a Chicago preacher "delivering the goods." By the simple motion of his hands, emphasizing words to match Rev. Alfred L. Seeley, evangelist, last Sunday banished the hell of brimstone and eternal punishment from the program of the future state. Dealers in futures are now at liberty to ticket through passengers without cold storage coupons.

Prescription Economy

We don't make a feature of cut prices in our Prescription Department. Of course, you know that we'll save you money wherever it's possible to do so.

That every Sherman & McConnell Store insists upon—all the time and every time—DRUGS, and ONLY DRUGS. Our idea is—not how cheaply we can compound your prescription—but how carefully—and that's true economy.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Question: "I have a headache, my eyes are sore, and I feel very nervous. What should I do?"

Answer: "To take the surplus oil out of the hair and keep it soft and fluffy, get a 4 oz. jar of plain pomade, but the one thing this will cure itching scalp and dandruff and make the hair grow, and you will not be bothered with itching, straggling locks."

Question: "I do not weigh enough for my height. I am dull and lifeless and have frequent headaches. Please advise what will help me?"

Answer: "Your condition is very common, especially among brain workers. Take the following tonic by mixing equal parts of hypophosphites, 2 oz.; tincture codliver oil (not cod liver oil), 1 oz.; and take a teaspoonful before each meal and in a few weeks your strength will be restored."

Question: "I am getting too stout for comfort and would like you to publish a safe effective cure."

Answer: "Purchase separately to avoid substitution: Annetto elixir, 3 oz.; glycol arboreus, 1 oz. Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful after meals for the first three days and then double the dose. Many have reported the loss of a pound of flesh a day after taking the medicine for several weeks. This should be continued until you properly reduce your weight."

Question: "Could you publish a remedy for liver and kidney trouble and the neuralgia that arise from that source? I am troubled with dizzy spells, sleep, and my eyes and also with rheumatism."

Answer: "If you will get three grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur tablets) and take according to directions, you will not only be relieved, but if you continue the use of these tablets you will be gradually cured of all your troubles. They will purify the blood and also cure your rheumatism."

Question: "I suffer greatly with catarrh, bad breath, headache and pain across my eyes. Only my nostrils and throat are affected. Can you prescribe a remedy to cure me?"

Answer: "The following local treatment should be used: Obtain a two ounce original package of 'Nose' powder, use half teaspoonful in a glass of warm water and sniff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils several times daily until they are cleansed thoroughly. Use one ounce of vasoline or lanolin on each nostril up into the nostrils, and four carbolol on each nostril. This should be used at intervals of seven to ten days, and has relieved hundreds of letters from grateful people who have cured their catarrh and been cured from that dreadful disease."

Question: "I have been suffering for years with stomach trouble, and I have tried many remedies, but they did not even relieve. I have great pain at times, especially after eating."

Answer: "Obtain tablets triptolite and take according to directions. These tablets are pink white and blue. Take a pink tablet after breakfast, a blue tablet after dinner and a blue tablet after supper. These tablets will cure any case of stomach disorder."

Question: "I have been greatly annoyed by coughing and a tickling sensation in the throat and hoarseness after singing. My bronchial tubes are affected."

Answer: "You can be very easily cured of this bronchial trouble by using essence menthol-lavender. This relieves quickly and certainly brings about a cure, by its tonic and laxative action and therefore is superior to ordinary preparations, which only relieve. You can feel the medicine working on the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes, giving a feeling of freshness and strength to the entire system. Purchase a 3 oz. package of essence menthol-lavender and take according to directions on bottle and take eight to ten doses daily and you will soon be cured of your trouble."

Question: "I have suffered for years with rheumatism, and I have tried many remedies, but they did not even relieve. I have great pain at times, especially after eating."
