Those who want appointments at his hands have been looking for him all week and yet he has not appeared in the city. Now comes word from the governor himself in letters to some of the aspirants that indicates that he does not even expect to be in Omaha very soon. Since he has not come and does not appear to be comand has lost more members from its ing soon, none of the democrats are willthat he was coming. Last week they whispered about that he would be in Omalia during the early part of this week. Monday they looked for him Tues-Tuesday they looked for him Wednesday. Each day they told the hotel clerk they were expecting him, and the hotel clerk in turn conveyed the information to others who inquired for him. All this time it develops the governor was not comtemplating coming very seriously. One of the office seekers has a letter from the governor lated December 3 in which he remarks, "Appointments will not be made for some time yet." In another sentence he says mething about being glad to see some the applicants, "should I be in Omaha," all of which is taken to mean that he has no immediate intention of being in Omaha.

BIG RECORD FOR CITY GROWTH

Omaha Probably Stands First in Examples of Healthy Growth, Many Instances of Advancement Being Cited.

Like Nebraska corn, one can fairly hear Omaha grow, Every day there comes the announcement of further expansion and those who have been in the city only in the last four years undoubtedly have witnessed the greatest upbuilding of a city that is to be found in the United States. Like the boy, who upon reaching adolescence, suddenly shoots up to the fullness of man's growth, has been Omaha's experience in the last few years, and still can be heard the ripping of outgrown clothes and yet can be seen the donnage of new raiment.

In the last year three buildings costing $1,000,000 each have become a part this new raiment, and the order is now being taken for another. The Union Pacific headquarters building, the Woodman of the World building, and the new court house have been completed in Omaha within the year; all of which makes a record that is scarcely to be equaled by a city any place on the

And in the last five or six years the Brandels buildings and theaters, the Keeline building, the City National Bank building, the Flatiron building, the Plaza hotel and other good buildings have been erected.

New things indicative of Omaha's advancement are being announced every day. The $1,000,000 hotel on the ground donated by John L. Kennedy and A. D. Brandels at Eighteenth and Douglas streets is now practically assured. One Omaha business man has declared that Charge of Contempt he will see that the proposition goes through whether sufficient stock is sold in Omaha or not.

Some of the buildings which also will be a part of Omaha's great collection are now being talked of as well as built. The new Masonic temple at Twentieth and Douglas streets, a beautiful edifice, soon will be completed; while across the street from it the Omaha club is expanding. A contract wil be awarded this week for a $20,000 to the bluiding.

Notice was given in this column a week ago of another new theater for Omahathe Hippodrome, which will be erected next door to the new hotel. A glance at Douglas street will suffice to show that Omaha is making a record in city

The Baird building, being erected by the McCague Investment company for the Boston Ground Rent company, is nearinto district court with an application for ing completion. The new Empress theater at Douglas and Sixteenth streets, in course of construction, is showing its beauty through the carpenter's framework. And down below on east Douglas street, there are rumors of another new building. The Beebe & Runyan company is discussing plans for a new $200,000 structure near Eleventh street.
