about the carnival as Loch blinself, will go on the mat with an unknown, whose name probably will not be announced in advance. The Farmer says his judgment was good when he picked Frank Gotch as a comer and he thinks it is still good when he says the new man he will introduce will be heard from favorably in the future. The Farmer's sons also will appear at the carnival.

The seat sale opened auspiciously Saturday. Many purchasers said they were going to take their wives to the carnival and it is likely there will be more women present than ever before attended an event of the kind in Omaha. Since there no smoking will be permitted the women will be free to attend without risk of finding anything offensive, even to the most fastidious.
