a negro, is a son of Mr. Archbold's butler.

When Senator Foraker concluded his testimony the committee adjourned indefinitely without deciding whether to call the witnesses Mr. Foraker suggested.

Mr. Foraker took up the letters from Mr. Archbold hostile to the so-called Price corporation bills in the Ohio legislature.

"I don't remember having talked with Senator Hanna, but I probably did talk to him," said the witness.

"No one ever got ahead of Senator Hanna, and as he wanted the State Journal he got it, and I returned the loan," declared the witness with a smile.

The senator told of his activity in framing the Elkins interstate commerce act.

"If I had been in the service of the Standard Oil company I would not have advocated legislation so hostile to it," declared he.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—The committee today heard testimony from J. P. Morgan, chairman of the board of directors of the First National City Bank...

Mr. Morgan testified that the $50,000 sent him by the Standard Oil was a loan he had requested from several sources to enable him to buy the Ohio State Journal.

"No one ever got ahead of Senator Hanna, and as he wanted the State Journal he got it, and I returned the loan," declared the witness with a smile.

The senator told of his activity in framing the Elkins interstate commerce act.

Charts Presented to Committee

Elaborate charts were presented to the house money trust committee today, giving lists of "interlocking directors" in a number of leading financial and industrial corporations; also a table "showing affiliations of J. P. Morgan & Co., Guaranty Trust company, Bankers' Trust company, First National bank and National City bank and other corporations through interlocking directorates."

A prepared summary, after giving the names of eighteen selected institutions said to be affiliated, says:

"The firm members and directors whose affiliations are thus shown number 190. In the aggregate they hold 85 directorships in 41 banks and trust companies having total resources of $1,532,000,000 and total deposits of $2,854,000,000; 56 directorships in 11 insurance companies, having total assets of $2,946,000,000; 155 directorships in 31 railroad systems having a total capitalization of $12,193,000,000 and a total mileage of 142,200; six directorships in two express companies and four directorships in one steamship company with a combined capital of $45,000,000 and gross income of $7,000,000; 26 directorships in 26 producing and trading corporations having a total capitalization of $2,582,000,000 and total gross annual earnings in excess of $1,140,000,000; and 48 directorships in 19 public utility corporations having a total capitalization of $2,528,000,000 and total gross annual earnings in excess of $428,000,000; in all, 749 directorships in 124 corporations having total resources of capitalization of $25,500,000,000.

of the same kind and character that is revived every few months."

Auditor Durkee, who is in charge of the auditing and claim departments, said that no notice of removal had reached him, adding: "If it is the intention of the company to move to Chicago, I know nothing about it."

Business Men Protest

Prominent Omaha business men expressed themselves on the proposed move as follows:

President Byron Hastings of the Real Estate exchange: "The Bee has stated my attitude exactly. I think all Omaha is opposed to the recent manner in which the Burlington has been treating us and its prejudices against Omaha in the matter of headquarters should be attacked. The Burlington's attitude is no more than I expected when the Hill interests took possession. The Ashland move was emphatic proof that those interests are opposed to the interests of Omaha."

George G. Wallace: "The Burlington has not thought much of Omaha's passenger patronage since the Hill interests took it over, but the shipping and jobbing interests here should come out with a loud protest against the sneaky little moves the roads have been making against this city. There should be a shippers' and jobbers' boycott or something done on the part of Omaha to make the road realize that we feel the effects of its prejudice against us."

D. C. Patterson: "We ought to make a protest against the actions of the Burlington higher up than can be distinctly heard by them."

C. F. Harrison: "The Bee is right. The

GIRL FALLS FROM SEVENTH FLOOR OF BUILDING

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 18.—Miss Frances Groff, who fell from the seventh floor of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings building yesterday might be day by hospital surgeon, Miss Groff herself declared she expected to get well. Miss Groff still is unable to say what caused the fall. Surgeons believe she was suddenly seized with the impulse to jump and made the leap without further thought. Such impulses, they said, frequently came to persons when looking down from high places.

The young woman was the third to fall from the building. The other two were workmen employed in construction and neither was fatally injured.
