ANDERSON'S TOYS ALL SOLD

Christmas Cheer Carried to Crippled Worker at Hospital.

BEE'S STORY BRINGS BUYERS

Little Store of 'Furniture' So Carefully Made by Heat Tolerant is Eagerly Bought Up by Omaha People.

Hans Anderson has won. He will have a fine Christmas. All his toys, carved so laboriously and fitted so neatly, have been sold, and if he had four or five times as many more in his little store he could easily dispose of them before Christmas. Seated in his invalid chair at the county hospital he heard the news of the success of the sale and his eyes glistened. In them shone more intensely the spirit that had spurred him on through the days of his confinement. He said, "I am glad," and his pleasure showed in every line of the wrinkled face.

Where Cottage Counted. Most people afflicted as Hans, with a broken neck, would have found nothing in life worth striving for. But he kept alive the vital spark of life by his determination to busy himself each day and not think of his plight. Without funds, without friends able to aid, he put to use one talent left him. He could carve and fit and glue and tack together miniature furniture—cradles for dolls, houses to put them in, little carts, rockers and a host of other things that please the juvenile heart. He worked away, keeping busy when it seemed as if his only reward would be the knowledge that time did not hang so heavily for buyers as few out at the county hospital where there are so many unfortunate ones.

The Bee brings Aid. The Bee heard of Hans' plucky fight, his courage under affliction, presented it to the very ones who respond and in one day the reward was given. Hans knows now there is joy in life. An Alamoite dairy car carried the toys to Orkin Bros' store Sunday, and of Omaha at its meeting in room 312 of the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon by C. L. Baxter, superintendent of the Council Bluffs district of the league. He explained the methods whereby the Iowa organization solves civic, industrial, economic and moral problems. The Methodist ministers voted to have a committee consisting of the president, vice president and secretary bring the matter before the Omaha Ministerial union with a view to arranging to have Mr. Baxter present the plan to that body as soon as possible. The Omaha Methodist ministers expressed the hope that such a league could be established in this city, that gambling and other vices might be suppressed, especially during certain festive occasions here.

Mr. Baxter explained that the league was an organization of Iowa citizens, representative men of Iowa who are interested in the moral problems of the state. He pointed out that the membership is not made public so that the work of the organization does not lead to embarrassment in that regard. The secretary, of course, he said, must be known as he maintains headquarters. "Seventy-five per cent of the cases of violation of law can be handled by letter," said Mr. Baxter, "so that it is not so often necessary to make arrests and prosecutions. We believe in getting the evidence and then writing the man violating the law, setting forth that we have all the evidence necessary to prosecute him, and ask him to stop without forcing us to go to the extent of prosecuting him."

Some of the problems successfully dealt with in Iowa by the league, according to Mr. Baxter, are the cigarette habit, gambling in many forms, intemperance, the tramp and what to do with him, the discharged convict and how to find employment and many other matters. The Omaha Ministerial union will hold its meeting the third Monday in January, at which time it is likely Mr. Baxter will give an opportunity to explain the working of the league to that body.

Verdict for Mrs. Keen in Big Insurance Case. A jury in the district court at Council Bluffs yesterday gave Mrs. Libbie Keen, widow of William Keen, for many years depot master at the Union passenger station in Omaha, a verdict for $1,917.15 in her suit against the Continental Casualty company of Chicago, to recover the amount of an accident policy carried by Mr. Keen, approximating $1,750. Under the instructions of the court the jury was not permitted to give a verdict for more than one-fourth of the amount sued for, but was required to answer five interrogatories by which, if answered affirmatively, the widow would be entitled to move the court to allow the full amount. All of the five interrogatories were answered affirmatively, and the judgment will undoubtedly be entered against the company for $1,750.

On September 3, 1911, while he was enjoying his outing at a northern lake resort, Mr. Keen attempted to turn over a boat that was partly beached, receiving dangerous abdominal injuries. Serious complications followed before Mr. Keen could be operated upon, and on September 6, three days after the accident, he died in Omaha, where he was brought for treatment. The company denied responsibility under the conditions of the policy, claiming that the condition was due to organic weakness that had been concealed at the medical examination.

Jewelry Loot Found and Boy Implicates Men as Footpads. In the arrest of two men and a 17-year-old boy late yesterday afternoon the police think that they have in custody the men who robbed the Plateau and Conley jewelry stores of goods worth in the aggregate $300, as well as the men who are responsible for many highway robberies. The men in custody are Frank Richardson, 622 South Twenty-eighth street; Nathan Kelley, 2716 Burdette street; and Gilbert Dolan, a teamster. Richardson is the boy of the gang. Dolan was arrested yesterday as a suspect in the Plateau robbery and after a third degree session with Chief Maloney he confessed to a part in the robbery of both jewelry stores. He named the other two as his partners. He denied that he had any part in the highway robberies, but he told Maloney that he had heard the other two talk of the jobs. The companions of Dolan were arrested and they fit the descriptions given by victims. Detectives Sullivan, Lahey, Rich and Murray visited a "plant" at Fifteenth and Chicago told of by Dolan and recovered two suit cases full of loot taken from the two jewelry stores. A search was made of the homes of the other men, but nothing more was found. Dolan also named P. Porter as an accomplice in the gang and he, too, was arrested and charged with being a suspicious character. When searched at the city jail he had $38 in his possession.

HEART DISEASE CAUSES DEATH OF ALBERT GALSCHKE. While talking to a physician friend in the Omaha German Music club rooms at 1320 Farnam street last night at 11 o'clock, Albert Galschke of Thirteenth and Missouri streets, South Omaha, suddenly clasped his hands to his breast and murmured, "I am dying." Ten minutes later his body was removed to the Leo Hoffman undertaking parlors. Galschke was outdancer of the club rooms and had been employed by the German society for several years. He was 53 years of age and is survived by his widow and one daughter. Heart disease is given as the cause of death by the physician who was with him at the time of his death.

CHADA UNABLE TO KEEP BEYOND ARM OF THE LAW. The jail experience of Antonio Chada would make a splint laugh. Saturday Mayor Dahlen paroled him from the county jail, where he was rounding out a ninety-day sentence. Saturday night, after a few hours of liberty, he was re-arrested after he tried to pick the pockets of sleeping lodgers in the city jail. Yesterday morning Judge Foster took pity upon him and dismissed the case against him. Last night Chada was arrested for vagrancy and again locked up.

RUPTURE. I have a certain cure for rupture without resorting to a painful and uncertain surgical operation. I am the only reputable physician in this line of work who will take such cases for treatment upon a guarantee to cure, or make no charge. You may deposit the money in a bank in your own name, and when you are satisfied a cure has been made you then instruct the bank to pay the money to me. By doing this you are absolutely certain of a cure, or it will cost you nothing. If I was not perfectly sure of my work I could not do business in this way very long, but instead, have been doing business so for 29 years, and adopted this plan because so many have been swindled by quacks and fakery. Not one of them will permit a patient to deposit his money until a cure has been made. When taking my treatment, patients must come to my office once each week for four weeks, and if they live nearby can return home and work during the interval. I do not use the Patented Was treatment, as it is dangerous. Call or write for literature.

AMOS GILLER IS INJURED WHEN TRAIN HITS CYCLE. Amos Giller, 24 years old, a contractor living at 2008 North Twentieth street, was struck by an Omaha passenger train while crossing the tracks at Pender late yesterday afternoon on his motorcycle. Giller suffered a broken leg. His body also was badly bruised. He was brought to his home in Omaha for treatment. Joe Newell of Pender, who was riding on the motorcycle with Giller, jumped from the machine and was uninjured.

Millions Moved By Armed Clerks to W. O. W. Vault. Sixteen million dollars' worth of bonds and securities in twenty padlocked boxes, guarded by four uniformed officers and twenty members of the clerical force of the Woodmen of the World, were moved in a dray wagon yesterday afternoon from the basement vault of the First National bank to the spacious vault of the new Woodmen of the World building, Fourteenth and Farnam streets. Government bonds, municipal bonds and other securities held by the Woodmen of the World were the valuable papers transferred. Sovereign Clerk John T. Yates helped load the boxes into the wagon. His twenty men acted as special guards and each had a heavy revolver concealed in his pocket for possible emergency, although the fact that the securities were to be moved had not been made public. When the boxes had been unloaded and carried into the lobby of the new vault, Mr. Yates' chief clerk, George P. Burdick, labored nearly ten minutes at the complicated combination lock of the gigantic new door. When all the wheels and dials had been adjusted he gave a steady pull and twenty-four and one-half tons of steel—the giant door—swung noiselessly back. While the officers guarded the entrance the clerical force hurried the boxes into the vault. The steel jaw of the vault again moved majestically, the combination was flipped and the sixteen millions were safe.

POSTOFFICE A FORTRESS; BATTLEMENTS OF POUCHES. One hundred and ninety thousand pieces of first-class mail handled in less than twenty-four hours is the record established yesterday by the men working in the mailing room at the Omaha postoffice. The rear end of the government building resembles a huge fortress today. Big canvas bags of assorted mail arrive almost every minute and the plane is piled high with packages of every shape and description. Night Foreman L. H. Pitt at the postoffice cleared up with his slightest extra helpers last night, but he had to work overtime to do it. Mr. Pitt says the Christmas mail this year is the heaviest in many years, as near as he can judge.

Ministers Hear of Work of Iowa Public Welfare League

The work accomplished by the Iowa Public Welfare League was outlined to the Methodist Ministers' association of Omaha at its meeting in room 312 of the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon by C. L. Baxter, superintendent of the Council Bluffs district of the league. He explained the methods whereby the Iowa organization solves civic, industrial, economic and moral problems. Peddler Hit by Car Dies of His Injuries

Daniel Smith, aged 60, the peddler who was struck by a street car at Fifty-fourth and Leavenworth streets last Thursday afternoon, died at 5 o'clock yesterday as the result of his injuries. Smith was walking across the street and attempted to pass the car before it reached the crossing, according to the statement of the motorman. He was knocked down and his skull fractured and several ribs broken, after he had been dragged over fifty feet. He was carried to the county hospital where he lingered between life and death until yesterday. He was unconscious most of the time. A. E. Trebejcek and Conductor Nelson constituted the crew of the car at the time of the accident.

Omaha Chinaman Wants White Wife

An Omaha Chinaman, anxious to wed a white wife, is expecting to apply for a marriage license in Council Bluffs today, and if he gets it he will have to comply with all the requirements of the Iowa law, even of the most technical character. Word came from Sioux City last evening that the Chinaman applied there for a license and was refused, and that he left announcing that he would secure a license in Council Bluffs. The name of the white woman was not disclosed, but it is said she is also from Omaha.
