proclaimed to the world he had solved the problem of the air several years before heavier than air machines had been successfully navigated, was vindicated at Hammondsport today, when Glenn Curtis, the avistor, went aloft in "Langley's Folly."

The crude flying machine, which fell into the Potomac river when Dr. Langley, its inventor, attempted to fly in it and which later was consigned to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, had every requisite for flight and remained in the air long enough to demonstrate the practical mind of its maker, who had been ridiculed by his incredulous contemporaries. The relic was wheeled from lits hangar early this morning, the pilot immediately climbed into the seat and was away under much the same conditions as would prevail in a flight of the latest geroplane. The flight was short, but successful.

But for an untimely accident and what was termed the "miserliness of the government," Laugley would undoubtedly have won fame during his lifetime. In-

Another meager ter than fully steady. Another meager supply at mid-week enabled sellers to force an advance of 10015c, and the movement to the scales was fairly active. This was followed by a slight improvement on the best lambs on Thursday, while the bulk of the common to medium kinds remained at about steady figures, closing quotations being just about where they were at the close of the previous week. There being not enough killers here today to make a market, prices are quotably unchanged, and, according to advices received from outside points and from the eastern dressed murton markets, general conditions are not favorable for any material improvement in the near future.

markets general conditions are not favorable for any material improvement in the near future.

Aged sheep have been scarce all the week and what few offerings put in appearance brought prices a little better than last week. HUDSON RUNS BOTH WAYS

Ups and Downs and Side Walis of the Scenic Route to New York.

The Hudson river is very remarkable in several respects. In the first place, for 150 miles of its length it is not a true river but a fiord. From Albany to the ocean its rock bottom, with the exception of a few lalands, is below sea level. How far below, it is not accurately known. Opposite Storm King mountain, where the engineers of the new aqueduct for supplying New York City with water from the Catskills hoped to build a tunnel under the river, they bored a thousand feet down into the dirt and sand that fill the gorge under the water and did not find rock bottom. The shore line at Albany is at practically the same elevation as the shore line at New York, and the tide rises at Albany two and eight-tenths feet. The upward and downward flowing of the tide. of which Hudson took advantage in his voyage, had long been noticed by the indians, who spoke of the river with wonder as the stream that flowed both WAYE.

The river is unsurpassed for its great natural beauty. The distinguished German surgeon, Dr. Adolph Lorenz, in 1901 declared it more beautiful than the Rhine. which depends on the castles on its banks for its main charm. Primarily, the beauty of the Hudson is due to the extraordinary range of its geological history. From its source to the sea it is an epitome of creation. It rises in the Adirondack mountains, which tower to a great height. The famous Highlands of the Hudson, between which Hudson sailed 300 years ago, are of the same Archean rocks and were once a group of Islands. The Catskills are more modern and the Pallaades still younger. The latter, rising sheer 200 to 500 feet above the water's edge, were once a tiery molten mass and their columnar shape is due to the manner in which the mass cooled off. These facts indicate what a storehouse for fascinating research the Hudson valley is for the person, young or old, who will study it with the mind as well as with the eye .- Lee-14% lie's Weekly.
