Last June We Inaugurated A Clearaway of Suits

It was an innovation for Omaha. This year we have prepared an unusual value-giving event in our Ready-to-Wear Section. Every Suit in Our Showing is Offered at Reduced Prices. There are none withheld. Every suit is from our regular stock and has been tailored to our own personal orders. We have all sizes, from 16 years to 46-bust. We have every new style; the quality and workmanship are the best.

For Monday we offer as an extra value 72 SUITS from our regular stock that have never been offered for less than $19.50, $24.50 and $29.50. June Clearaway price $12.75

These suits are all desirable 1914 Spring and Summer models and include besides black and white check, navy blue, black, tan, green and all the Spring colors. On account of the low price of these suits we shall make a charge if we alter these garments. Monday—8:30 A. M.

KARLUK CRUSHED IN THE ICE

Flagship of Stefansson Sinks Near Herald Island in January.

CREW SAFE ON WRANGELL ISLE

Entire Party, with Exception of Captain Robert A. Bartlett, Marooned There, with Plenty of Wood and Food.

NOME, Alaska, May 30.—The wooden 33-ton steam whaler Karluk, flagship of the Canadian government's Arctic exploring expedition, under command of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, was crushed in the ice and sunk January 16, near Herald Island, northeast of Siberia. The entire white crew, except Captain Robert A. Bartlett is now at Wrangell Island with plenty of food and wood.

Captain Robert A. Bartlett of the Karluk made his way across the frozen ice to North Cape, Siberia, and then proceeded overland to Whaler Bay, Siberia. There he was taken on board the whaler Herman, which carried him to St. Michael, where he now is.

It is assumed by authorities on the Arctic that when the ice closed in on the Karluk last January the twenty-four men on board got their supplies out on the ice, along with the dog teams and were able to reach land well equipped for the remainder of the winter.

Set Out for Berlin.
It is assumed also that as soon as the days became of sufficient length to permit of travel, Bartlett, accompanied probably by some of the five Eskimos on board, set out for Bering sea. The frozen sea was quite safe for travel. It is assumed that he drove his dogs over Siberia from North Cape to Whaler on the Bering seashore, where he met the whaler Herman, which sailed from St. Francisco about March 25. The Herman took him to St. Michael's where there is a cable station. It is supposed that the Herman will go to the relief of the Karluk crew as soon as she can get through Bering strait into the Arctic. Stefansson is at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, having left the Karluk September 16 to hunt caribou ashore. When he returned to the point where he had come ashore he found that the Karluk had been blown away by a storm. About October 1 an Eskimo saw her driving westward. It is apparent that the westward drift continued until the shipwreck. It will not be possible to send dog teams to Herald Island now, for the ice is melting. There were nineteen white men on the Karluk and five Eskimos. It is supposed eighteen white men remain in the camp of the castaways.

Notes from Polar Bears.

Wrangell Island is a Russian possession northeast of Siberia. The island is not inhabited and owing to the ice it is difficult to make a landing. The ice in the Arctic will not begin to break up within a month.

car and was forced out in the 14th lap. The 49-mile record was broken with a speed of 32.6 miles an hour. Thomas led his nearest competitor, Duray, by more than two laps. Guyot was third. Time: 5:27:35.

Guyot is Third.

Guyot, Thomas' teammate, finished in third place, his time being 5:14:05. Duray's average speed was 30.95 miles an hour and Guyot's was 30.30 miles an hour.

Conry, who won last year's race, finished fourth in 5:27:35.

Oldfield, in an Indianapolis made car, was the first American to get the checkered flag, taking fifth place in 5:32:31.

not fatally hurt. Chassagne escaped unhurt.
The first hundred miles was completed by the leader, Thomas, in 1:59:35, or at the rate of more than eighty-seven miles an hour. Thomas was closely followed by Duray and Bragg.
Gilhopley's car overturned on the southwest turn, and both driver and mechanic were taken to the hospital. Both were thought to have been seriously injured.
Dawson, winner of the 1912 race, broke his collar bone when his car turned over and pinned him and his mechanic under it.

Notes from Nebraska City and Otoe County

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., May 30.—(Special.)—The Nemaha county officials have challenged the Otoe county officials for a game of base ball to be played on July 4. Those taking part in the game must be office holders. Nemaha county officials came here last year and played and this year it is thought the Otoe county officials will go to Auburn to play a return game. A banquet and a good time always follows the game.

MAKING UP TO THE LATINIS

This is What Wilson is Doing, Says R. L. Metcalfe.

MISSION TO OVERCOME FEAR

Finds Nebraska Democracy Badly Divided and Suggests that a Few Leaders Step Down from High Places.

"The Mexican question is broader than our own civil war; it does not relate to Mexico alone; it does not relate to American property interests in Mexico alone, but it concerns the reputation of the United States with Mexico, Panama, Central America and all the south American republics."

This was the way Richard L. Metcalfe, first civil governor of the Panama canal zone, approached the subject of the Mexican difficulties when speaking before the Jacksonian club of Omaha at the reorganization banquet at the Paxton hotel last night.

"These South American countries and the whole Latin-American territory today should be buying our goods, our farm implements and our produce, but they are not doing it."

"Why?"
"Because their prejudice has been so worked up against us for many years that they are everlastingly afraid of us. But the administration of President Wilson and his attitude on the Mexican question has already done more to wipe out this feeling and create a feeling of friendship than has anything since the days of James G. Blaine. It is winning the friendship of South America. What Woodrow Wilson is doing for Mexico is for Panama as well and for all of South America, and when he wins, as he will, he will make a great and far-reaching stroke for world peace."

But Mr. Metcalfe did not concern himself with national politics alone. Being in Nebraska, he felt out whether there is any chance for him to be elected governor of the state, he had a few things to say about state politics.

ARREST WINTERS AND WIFE

Parents of Missing Girl Charged with Conspiracy.

FORMER ROOMER ALSO JAILED

Police and Detectives Say They Found Bloodstained Child's Clothing Seated Behind Cellar Wall.

NEW CASTLE, Ind., May 30.—Dr. and Mrs. A. Winters, father and stepmother of Catherine Winters, aged 10, who disappeared from her home here more than a year ago, were arrested on their arrival here from Terre Haute, Ind., today. They were charged with conspiracy to commit a felony. This makes three arrests in the case, W. H. Cooper, a former roomer in the Winters home, having been arrested late last night.

It was said a second search of the home of Dr. W. A. Winters, father of the girl, would be made late today. Private detectives and local police officers who searched the home last night asserted they found, sealed in the basement wall, a red hair ribbon, a red undershirt and red sweater, which had belonged to the missing child.

The sweater, police officers declared, had holes in it which looked as if they had been burned there, and the undershirt was stained as if by blood.

Cooper was a roomer at the Winters home at the time of the disappearance of the girl, but left New Castle the day after she disappeared and remained away for ten days. He did not seem much surprised when arrested and declared that he could prove an alibi. He also blamed Mayor Watkins for his predicament.
