President's Yacht Setting for a Hilarious Time and Then Some.

NAVAL OFFICERS ARE INVOLVED

Wine, Men and Women on the Wilson Craft Furnish the Material for a Spicy Little Scandal.

NEW YORK, June 3.—(Special Telegram.)—The earnest center of President Woodrow Wilson and extraordinary efforts on the part of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, backed as they have been by the tactics which naval officers characterize as "almost without precedent" have proved unavailing to protect the secret behind the enforced resignation of Assistant Paymaster Edward C. Little, attached to the president's yacht, the Mayflower, and member of one of Maryland's oldest and most exclusive families, and the sudden transfer of Lieutenant Archibald C. Douglas, junior grade, from the Mayflower to the Asiatic station. Secretary Daniels wished it to be announced that Mr. Little had resigned to enter business, but an examination of the Navy department records shows that the paymaster's resignation was officially accepted "for the good of the service."

High Wind, with a Heavy Rain, in the Vicinity of Hampton

HAMPTON, Neb., June 3.—A small tornado swept the country west of here late yesterday. Several houses were badly damaged and numerous barns, windmills and fences blown down. So far as known no lives were lost and there are no reports of serious injuries. The storm displayed the greatest violence at a point three miles west of here, where it tore up everything in its path, telephone lines suffering the most. Telephone lines are down for miles. Between here and Aurora two inches of rain fell in a few minutes, putting creeks out of their banks and flooding cellars. Near Aurora there was a high wind, but it was a straightaway rather than a twister.

Chamberlain Found Guilty of Forgery

TECUMSEH, Neb., June 3.—(Special Telegram.)—Charles M. Chamberlain, cashier of the failed Chamberlain banking house of Tecumseh, has been convicted of a forgery charge in Spokane county superior court at Spokane, Wash. Chamberlain was charged with signing the name of Theodore Rusterholz to a check for $11.50 given him by M. C. Gray to pay Rusterholz for labor, and depositing it in the bank in Chamberlain's own name. Sentence has not yet been pronounced.

Young and Handsome

Both men are young and handsome, and have means independent of their salaries. They have entertained lavishly on the Mayflower, and among their guests have been the president's daughters and Miss Helen Taft. They were frequent guests at week-end house parties.

Memories of This John Doe

PUEBLO, Colo., June 3.—The victim of a peculiar lapse of memory, "John Doe" who has been under observation in a hospital since last December, today recovered the use of his mental faculties sufficiently to disclose that he is George E. Bartholomew, former editor and merchant, whose home, he says, is in Saratoga, Minn. He said his wife was in Minneapolis and he has a mother in Kansas City.

Heavy Rains in Kansas

KANSAS CITY, June 3.—Heavy rains, averaging two inches, were general throughout Kansas last night and today. This section of Missouri also experienced from one-half to two inches of

BURNHAM OF NORFOLK PICKED

Each One to Represent Different Class on Board—Suggestion to Banks that Members Stand By the Choice.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 3.—(Special Telegram.)—These nominations for directors of the federal reserve bank of Kansas City were made today at a convention of bankers representing member banks in federal reserve district number 10: Class A—Gordon Jones, Denver, Colo., president United States National bank; W. J. Bailey, Atchison, Kan., vice-president Commercial National bank; C. E. Burnham, Norfolk, Neb., president Norfolk National bank. Class B—M. L. McClure, Kansas City, president Kansas City Live Stock exchange; Thomas C. Byrne, Omaha, president Byrne-Hammer Dry Goods company; L. A. Wilson, El Reno, Okla., farmer stockman and former banker.

What Law Requires

The law requires that the member banks shall elect three bankers and three Class B, respectively. Three other directors are designated as Class A and Class B, respectively. Three other directors, to be known as Class C, are to be appointed by the federal reserve board in Washington. The convention adopted a resolution recommending that the member banks endorse its selection at the election, to be held in fifteen days.

Name Required Number

Contrary to expectations the "primary" convention of bankers from federal reserve district number 10, which met at the Kansas City clearing house this afternoon, nominated only a sufficient number of men to complete the directorate of the federal reserve bank of Kansas City to be elected by the member banks. It had been suggested some days before the meeting that the bankers, who were divided into three groups, according to the currency law, would recommend enough men to give eighteen names from which to choose.

The new government bank will have the directors. Besides the six to be elected by member banks in the district, three will be named by the federal reserve board at Washington.

The majority of bankers assembled today were very desirous that the men nominated here should be the final choice of the bankers of the district. When some opposition arose to the nominating of only enough men to fill the required places, it was stated that when the list is sent to the member banks for approval spaces will be left where other names may be written in. At the close of the meeting, a resolution was adopted endorsing the six candidates nominated. It stated: "We unanimously request all banks to vote for these candidates when the vote is taken."

Banks in the mid-continent field of Kansas and Oklahoma are greatly dissatisfied because no class B director was named to represent the oil interests of this district which, they say, represents an annual business of more than $100,000,000 through these banks. It is understood that there will be a meeting here tomorrow at which another nomination will be made in class B.
