movement as was Superintendent Graham, but the board felt that the schools should be run economically and that the money was more needed in manual training schools and equipment.

Just what consideration the board will show the mayor's request is to come in on the expense can not be predicted, but it would appear quite probable that it will spend whatever money it has to spare in equipping the schools with playgrounds and equipment for them.

Senior Class Play. With the final rehearsal only two days off, the senior class play, "The School Mistress," to be given at the South Omaha high school auditorium next Wednesday evening, has been prophesied by the coach, Thomas Reed, and several other critics to prove a huge success.

The play is a comedy of three acts by A. W. Pinero. The setting is in an old English college town, where Miss Doytt is a school mistress. The first act opens with Miss Doytt secretly married to a mysterious English gentleman, the Honorable Vere Quessett, who does not appear until in the latter part of the act.

Miss Doytt is the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Doytt, Miss Dinah Rankling, daughter of Rear Admiral Rankling, an old eccentric Englishman, is a student at the school. A certain Reginald Paulover becomes infatuated with Miss Rankling and follows her to the school. Vere Quessett appears and manages to tell a number of lies. Then the complications arise, and just before the climax the house in which all are staying catches fire and all is confusion.

The play is of two hour duration and will commence at 8:15 o'clock sharp. Music will be furnished by an orchestra. The cast: The Honorable Vere Quessett, Paul Orchard; Miss Doytt, Bernice; Miss Rankling, Lewis; Miss Paulover, Hazel; Miss Dinah Rankling, Louis; Miss Reginald Paulover, Lester; Miss Vere Quessett, John; Miss Dinah Rankling, Forest; Miss Saunders, Albin; Miss Dinah Rankling, Ernest; Miss Dinah Rankling, Vivian; Miss Dinah Rankling, Garwood; Miss Dinah Rankling, Boyd; Miss Dinah Rankling, Maude; Miss Dinah Rankling, Maude.

High school commencement week opened last evening with the annual banquet at the First Presbyterian church, given by the junior class to the graduating seniors. The room was beautifully decorated with the class colors, blue and white, and large couches of sweet peas, the class flower, adorned the tables. More than 100 students were present, besides the faculty. The dinner lasted from 7:30 to 10:30. Each person was a four course meal and the program present was presented with a miniature basket of flowers as well as a red carnation. Garwood Richardson was toastmaster.

The program: Toast, "Planning the Itinerary," S. W. Moore. Toast, "All Aboard," Raymond Mahoney. Toast, "Seen by the Wayside," Merle Curt. Song, Georgiana Davis. Toast, "Nearing the End," Louis Foley. Toast, "Arrive," Paul Orchard. Piano solo, Gladys Van Sant. Toast, "Conductors' Joys," Sadie Fowler. Song, Forest Dennis. Toast, "At the Throttle," N. M. Grant. Toast, "Wanted Presents Back," Kate Turan. Miss V. streets had admitted to the police that Mike Lickwich of Thirty-third and U streets had sent her numerous presents of value to the old country, told the police that Mike entered the Turan home and carried away his erstwhile presents. When Katie came here, it is said that her affections could not be longer held by Mike, who wanted his presents back and said so. Yesterday the Turan house was entered and all Mike's presents, together with $35 in cash taken away. Detective Mike Gillin brought Lickwich in last night pending investigation.

Luther League Adjourns. Last night's session brought the fourth annual convention of the Nebraska Luther league to a close. After the address by Rev. Luther Kuhns, Mr. Pinkney presented Rev. Fred Schuldt with a gold Luther league watch charm in token of his work and the success in the league. The occasion was also Rev. Schuldt's birthday. The annual election of officers was also held, resulting: Rev. Frederick Schuldt, president; Fred C. B. Harmon, vice president; North Platte, Jacob Gehrig, treasurer; Benson, Baccalaurent Sermon.

Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick of the First Methodist church will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating seniors of the high school this evening at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium. His subject will be "Transforming the Wilderness." There will be special music and singing by the High School Glee club and the orchestra. About forty students will graduate this year. All advance preparations have been made by Principal S. W. Moore of the high school in the way of a program.

Children's Day Program. Rev. Robert L. Wheeler has arranged for a program to be carried out at the First Presbyterian church this morning in honor of Children's day. To the Devil's Hotel. It will be South Omaha night at the Den in Omaha. The city council will meet at 4 p. m. In the evening a large delegation will attend the Ak-Sar-Ben initiation in Omaha. A number of the politicians have expressed a scruple against lodging in the Devil's hotel.

Brings the Dog Tag. Fred Hengelman returned a dog tag to the office of the city clerk yesterday morning and then squirmed before the officials who wanted to know what became of the dog. The tag was issued to William Ince some time ago. Yesterday Hengelman found it and thinking to save someone trouble visited the clerk's office to turn it in to the rightful owner. The men about the office after an inspection of Hengelman, awarded him the prize for honesty in South Omaha. High School Notes. Reserve tickets to seats in the high school auditorium on next Friday evening at the commencement exercises have been issued by the principal's office and every attendant is required to have a ticket. Final examinations for all under-classes, including senior A's, will commence Tuesday morning at 8:15 and continue each morning until Thursday morning. Report cards will be issued by the office about the middle of vacation.

The debating class closed a very successful session on the question, "Resolved, That the present system of government is preferable to a pure democracy." Last Friday afternoon in the class room, Emma Johnson, Fred Curtis upheld the negative, while Gerwood Richardson and Frank Faux defended the affirmative. The judges, Frank Broadwell, Carl Beck and Karl Lee, was two to one in favor of the affirmative.

Preliminaries at the high school tennis tournament have nearly all been played. Richardson and Shainholz are out of the race, but the contest between Shainholz and Robinson stand even with McBride and Goldberg, both having a record of one win and one loss. The preliminary will be played next Monday afternoon. Wilson and Shainholz have yet to play a preliminary with Jordan and Lee. The winners of the preliminary will compete for the championship of the school. The single championship series will be played next Wednesday afternoon.

The members will meet in the auditorium and proceed in a body to the cemetery.

Commonwealth Men Make an Excellent Showing for May

"I am surprised at the excellent showing which our men made during the month of May," said President Frans Nelson of the Commonwealth Life Insurance company, in speaking of present business conditions.

"We always intend to set our mark high, but when we placed it at $300,000 for the month of May, under present conditions, we hardly expected the agents to deliver the goods. Much to my surprise, and to the credit of the exceedingly able insurance men in the Commonwealth, we have not only made the mark, but we have passed it. May for 1914 shows a substantial increase over the corresponding month of 1913.

"If crop conditions in Nebraska materialize, as we have every right to expect, this will be a record year for the insurance men in the Cornhusker state," declared President Nelson. "In spite of the fact that we have a comparatively young company, organized less than four years ago, we have more than $70,000,000 life insurance in force. The Commonwealth is in close touch with the situation all the time and we believe that our present efficient staff of agents will carry the big business in this state for 1914."

President G. L. E. Klingbell of the German-American Life Insurance company left Wednesday morning for an extensive visit in the Pacific coast states. While the visit of the official is said to be on business only, it is rumored that in the event that conditions appear favorable to him, the German-American insurance company will start an active campaign for new business in a field which they have heretofore given a wide berth.

News From The Insurance Field

Owners of Motor Cars Have Gained Through Insurance

The insurance of automobiles has been one of the most interesting phases of the business in Omaha this season, and several new developments have attracted the interest of automobile owners as well as that of insurance men.

The Foster-Barker agency is one of the most active in the automobile insurance field, and their experience is perhaps the most typical in the field here.

The advent of automobile insurance a few years ago brought new elements of risk to be considered. The value of the machine, the reputation of the owner, the horsepower of the car, the construction and the condition of the motor all entered into the consideration.

Like most new experiences in the business, automobile insurance has proven an expensive experiment for the concerns who have written such insurance in Omaha. The losses for the first half of 1914 have been exceptionally heavy, yet in spite of this situation the rates for the current year were reduced during April.

It is estimated by the Foster-Barker agency that three-fourths of all the automobiles owned in Omaha carry insurance against loss of the car by fire or theft. It is further estimated that more than half of this number of automobile owners carry liability insurance.

The liability insurance, though perhaps the most attractive policy to the owner of the machine who has himself usually had several narrow escapes, is expensive as compared with the fire insurance, and this feature prevents many people from taking the liability policy. On the other hand, fire losses have become so common here that every experienced owner of a motor car feels that it is a good investment to carry fire insurance as well as liability insurance for his own protection.

MANY SMALL LIABILITY BONDS START IN JULY. Many of the smaller bonds required under city and village ordinances will expire this month and the Lion Bonding company is preparing to re-write the majority of the desirable bonds in this class. Several new bond requisitions are to be filled this year, and indications are that the competition in this line of business will be lighter than usual.

Insurance Notes. E. H. Luthardt, vice president of the Lion Bonding company is attending the meeting of the Iowa Bankers' association at Clinton, Ia.

A. C. Kennedy, the veteran insurance man who has been ill at his home for several weeks, was able to be downtown Friday, and will resume his desk this week.

The German-American Life Insurance company reports an unusually brisk business from Kansas and South Dakota territory where crop conditions are said to be excellent.

Dr. Ira E. Atkinson spent the week-end at Lincoln attending the graduation of his son. Dr. Atkinson is superintendent of the condition of the health of the state university.

Frank Nelson, president of the Commonwealth Life Insurance company will leave this week on his annual vacation at the northern lakes, and the greater part of the vacation time will be spent in fishing, it is said.

D. D. Hall, secretary of the German-American Life Insurance company is trying to figure himself out of a vacation because of the condition of the health of Mrs. Hall, who has been in poor health for several months.

A number of new agents have been secured to the efficient staff of the Bankers Reserve Life Insurance company during the last few months, and preparations are being made to increase business in the middle west territory during the present year.

Studebaker ECONOMICAL LIGHT WEIGHT SIX $1575

Studebaker SIX was the first true light weight "Six;" it created a new type.

It first demonstrated the scientific correctness of the light "Six," because its construction is light but strong, perfectly balanced and proportioned.

Before its advent the so-called light "Six" was merely a slightly smaller car, of not much less bulk than the heavy "Sixes."

It gained nothing in economy as compared to the Studebaker six, through heat treatments of steel and consequent reduction in area and weight, with doubled or tripled strength.

Studebaker SIX experimentation covered three years, and no man could buy the car until we were satisfied that it was scientifically right.

The thousands of Studebaker SIXES in use, the hundreds of thousands of miles that have been traveled, the satisfaction of their owners, justify our expense and labor.

Without an immense production, and vast manufacturing facilities, our engineers could not accomplish the present result—a result beyond the most conscientious assembler or the manufacturer less completely equipped.

Send for the Studebaker Proof Book, describing Studebaker manufacturing methods.
