

Nebraska METCALFE STIRS UP DEMS

Entry Into Field Causes Sensation at the State House.
PREDICT MAHER WILL GET OUT
Charles Bryan's Aspirations Are Encouraged by Act of Former Associate and Party Factional Lines Draw Tight.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Neb., June 8.—(Special.)—The advent of Richard L. Metcalfe into the race for the democratic nomination at the primary, has put the Bryan faction badly up in the air. It had been figured among the faithful that George W. DeGrae would inherit the support of the Bryanites in the event that no other man filed who was closer to King William and Prince Charlie and that there was a good chance to defeat Governor Morehead with the Bryan vote split for one man.

However the filing of Mr. Metcalfe has complicated the situation and in the opinion of many democrats means nothing less than the nomination of Governor Morehead or John G. Maher. While Mr. Maher insists he is in the race to stay, it is generally figured that sooner than see the reactionary vote split up and a Bryan candidate nominated, he will get out of the way so that the governor can have plain sailing.

In such an event it is believed the nomination of the governor is certain. Just what condition that will leave the Bryanites in is wholly a guess, but it is believed that many of them will not be at all backward in bolting the party nominee.

Dr. Day Returns.
Dr. Day, special veterinarian for the state live stock sanitary board, is back from his trip to Scott's Bluff, where, with Dr. Ring of the state farm, they investigated the hog cholera conditions in that county. According to Dr. Day the disease does not seem to be so fatal in that locality, which he says is the high altitude and plenty of sunshine. The disease was brought there by hogs being shipped in and local organizations are being formed to suppress the disease and also to prevent the shipment in of any hogs, which have not been properly treated for the disease.

New School Values.
New valuations being made on school lands by the state department of public lands and buildings under Commissioner Beckman show that in Sherman county the increase in valuation amounts to $23,584.46 on 85,000 acres, an increase of about 70 per cent. The new valuation is $35,984.16, while the old valuation was $12,399.70, an increase of $23,584.46 on 85,000 acres. This makes an increase annually in the rental of $28,239 in Valley county the old valuation was $15,844.16, while the new valuation is $43,668.80, an increase of $27,824.64 on 42,000 acres. This makes an increase annually in the rental of $28,239 in Valley county the old valuation was $15,844.16, while the new valuation is $43,668.80, an increase of $27,824.64 on 42,000 acres.

D. E. Wherry of Payne City has filed for the republican nomination for state senator in the Fourteenth district, comprising the counties of Gage and Pawnee. That is, his filing will count, provided Mr. Wherry sends in a receipt for the filing fee from the county treasurer of Payne county, which he seemed to have forgotten to enclose in his letter. This district was represented in the last session by Jacob Klein, a democrat.

SERVICE, KEYNOTE OF LIFE

Serving Man Aright is Serving Man's Lord and Maker.
DR. CLARKE AT LOWE AVENUE
Evanson Minister Heartily Received on Visit to Former Flock—Preaches Morning and Evening.

It was an impressive reception his old friends and flock accorded Dr. A. S. C. Clarke of Evanson, Ill., at Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning and evening. The doctor seemed to enjoy the reunion quite as much as the people did. The church was well filled in the morning when he preached on "Invited Personality," and in the evening, when he preached on "The Peril and Power of Prosperity." He returned to Evanson this morning.

But what things were said to me, those I counted loss for Christ.—Philippians 3:7.
"What Paul had in mind," said Dr. Clarke in his morning sermon on "Invited Personality," "was a recasting of accounts, a reevaluation of life, a thing we all need to do. When you find a man sitting down to revalue his life in order to find out for himself if he is making it count for the best and most, according to his opportunities and powers, you find a man approaching an important aspect of life."

Service was the keynote of the sermon. "Service of God in man," Dr. Clarke said, "is the true philosophy of life. Man's mind is not in error, it is his life. He has found out the best way to live, but his difficulty comes in living out the definition."
"Serving Man is Serving God." Dr. Clarke stressed this point, "that serving your fellowman is serving God." He showed that Christ made that clear in his description of the "last judgment" to the righteous, who, when he told them they had fed, clothed and taken him in, asked "When saw we thee an hungred and fed thee, thirsty and gave thee drink, naked and clothed thee, a stranger and took thee in?" And the Lord's answer: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."
"When the Scribes were trying to confute the Master and asked him if they were lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, He, perceiving their craftiness, said, 'hand me a penny.' They did. 'Whose image and superscription is on the penny?' he asked them. 'Caesar's.' 'Then,' said Christ, 'render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's.'"

"Using this as a basis of illustration, Dr. Clarke said: 'Our lives are coins and as the Luxus, who has a dollar, is worthless if he cannot be spent. You often find men, who, while not willing to confess to being bad, have not the face to say they are as good as they should be. So they say, 'Oh, I'm a middling man.' Did you ever see a middling man? No, a dollar is either good or bad. Appearance don't count; it's the ring. You can tell a bad dollar from a good one by dropping it."
"Lives Must Be Spent."
"So I say, our lives, like coins, are worthless unless they can be spent. Is your life spent for Christ and his creatures? That is the meaning of my text. Has your life only a silvery gloss and not the real ring of the genuine coin?"

Woes of Mankind Can Be Eliminated if All Will Give Little Help

Poverty, misery and want will be relieved by "service," according to the doctrine of Rev. J. B. Maxwell of the Calvary Baptist church, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Omaha university at the Calvary Baptist church yesterday morning.

"Unless we declare ourselves willing to live that we may serve, we are unfitted to live," said Rev. Maxwell. "People must be delivered from measureless want, woe and misery by service. The servant is the kind and where there is service you will find there is also the great."
"Be a servant, Be of service, or be nothing. It is the only means to success." Rev. Maxwell called attention to the conditions under which Jesus Christ's work was accomplished. He said he was born in the most insignificant town in the most insignificant country in the world, and that he lived in the most immoral age of which men have record.

Suffrage Leaders to Meet in New York

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In an effort to concentrate support for a suffrage measure in congress, suffrage leaders today issued a call for a meeting of all leaders in the movement in the United States to meet at Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's New York home, Marble House, on July 2.

Two bills, one by Senator Shaforth and the other by Senator Hristov, are now before congress. The suffrage leaders are divided as to which measure is better, but they hope to settle all difficulties at the Newport meeting. Suffrage workers from nearly all states and representatives of both the Congressional Union and the National American Woman Suffrage association will participate.

Miss Doris Stevens, executive secretary of the Congressional Union, will leave for Washington for Newport in a short time and, upon her headquarters there for the purpose of conducting an educational campaign from there throughout the summer. ### RAILROADS TO INDUCE TRAVEL THROUGH THE EAST

The end of the school year, coincident with the opening of vacation season, has stimulated travel on all lines in and out of Omaha recently and railroad passenger agents anticipate an unusually large business here this season. Eastern railroads for the first time have combined for circuit tours of the east. This will be an attractive feature especially to persons living in the middle west, who have heretofore been without attractive combination routes through the eastern states. Former efforts have been to induce travel through the west, rather than through the eastern states, and the innovation promises to greatly stimulate business this year.
