Fidelity Storage & Van Co. Doug. 1618. When you know gas lighting you prefer it. Omaha Gas Co., 1509 Howard St. Bivans Asks Divorce—Charles C. Bivans alleges that his wife, Esther, has been cruel to him, and he asks that their marital bonds be dissolved. Gillett Divorce Granted—Mrs. Jennie Gillett has been granted a decree of divorce from Emile J. Gillett in district court. Cruelty was the ground for the action. "Today's Complete Movie Program" may be found on the first page of the classified section today, and appears in The Bee EXCLUSIVELY. Find out what the various moving picture theaters offer. Charles Schroth in Police Court—Charles Schroth was haled before Judge Foster in police court on a charge of drunkenness and vagrancy. Schroth once owned a chain of saloons, as well as other properties. He was discharged. Suit from Year Back—Through their attorneys, Never Harris and Blanche Harris have each filed a suit in the district court against The Bee, asking $20,000 bail apiece for publication of an article in July last year, which they now allege is libelous. For Carrying Concealed Weapon—Frank Villner, 178 Dodge street, is ground keeper at the Country club. He was arrested by Officer Jensen for carrying concealed weapons. He said he carried a loaded gun because dogs in the neighborhood of the club insisted on digging holes in the tennis courts. Via Bayard in Omaha—V. Z. Bayard of Cincinnati, traveling agent for S. H. Hutchinson, manager of the Department of Tours of the Union Pacific, for thirty years a resident of Omaha, will be in the city for the next ten days advising with the traffic department of the Union Pacific for the entertainment of the Eastern Passenger Ticket agents. Mrs. Long Asks Divorce—Cruelty, non-support and desertion are alleged by Mrs. Bertha Lee Long as grounds for divorce from James Benjamin, who has been her mate for several years, while they lived at Arlington, Schuyler and Omaha. Her petition, just filed in district court, asks that her maiden name of Bertha Carmack also be restored. Seelie Wants Divorce—Mrs. Sarah Virginia Seelie has sued her husband, Frank, for divorce. Frank has filed his answer and a cross petition in district court. He denies every allegation made in the wife's petition, except that they were married. He declares that she has been cruelly cruel to him, and that the divorce should therefore be granted to him rather than to her.

GRADUATES AT CREIGHTON

Several Different Exercises Are Held During the Day.

HONOR STUDENTS ARE NAMED

Commencement Exercises for the Seniors in the Arts Department to Be Held at the Brandeis Tonight. The school year of 1913-14 at Creighton Arts college was brought to a close with fitting exercises by the undergraduate body at the university yesterday. The commencement exercises for the seniors were held last evening at the Brandeis. Several different exercises were held during the morning, among them being the baccalaureate sermon, the presentation of a fountain to the university by the senior class and undergraduate exercises in the university auditorium. The final day was opened with solemn high mass at St. John's church, at which the 500 students of the arts college were present. Rev. Martin Bronsgeest, pastor of St. John's church, officiated. Rev. Albert A. Wise, professor of English classics for the freshmen class, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates. Father Wise drew examples from the life of St. Aloysius, patron of youth, showing how he clung steadfastly to the principles which he believed right, in spite of all difficulties which beset his path.

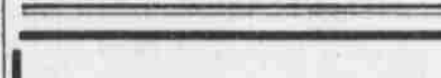

Present Large Fountain. The presentation of the large stone fountain by the outgoing seniors was an impressive ceremony. The fountain has been installed in front of the main entrance to the university. Lawrence B. Bushman, class president, made the speech of presentation and Paul A. Burke read an original poem. Rev. F. X. McMenamy, dean of the arts college, accepted it in behalf of the university. The undergraduate exercises were held in the university auditorium, at which time Dean McMenamy announced the results of the year's study, and the medals for the year were conferred. A medal was conferred on the winner of first place in each class, as well as the winners of first place in elocution, oratory, inter-collegiate English and inter-collegiate Latin.

Advice from President. At the conclusion of the exercises, President Magevney made a few remarks. After congratulating the students on the successful termination of the work of the year and wishing them a pleasant vacation, he said in part: "While vacation is a rest from study, it is not to be understood as synonymous with two months of absolute idleness. We can never afford to be altogether idle. In a busy world like ours where every man must shape his own destiny there is nothing to be achieved except by diligent and unremitting industry. Opportunities of self-improvement and of emolument are about us everywhere and are always soliciting us to higher and better things. But their summons will fall upon deaf ears unless the energies of our being are alert and responsive to their invitation. They grow out of our environment and are as present to us during vacation as at any other time of the year. He is a wise man who recognizes them and moulds them to his own purpose. "It is an old saying that everyone is the architect of his own fortune. This is true. But it must not be forgotten that most of the tools with which we must accomplish results are to be sought in the conditions of every-day life. These conditions must be taken hold of and manipulated to suit our numerous and complex needs. Enjoy your vacation then to the full. However, do not forget that though books are laid aside and the school door is closed the work of your intellectual and moral development must still go on apace under the influence of other less direct, perhaps, but not less potent agencies."

Graduates Warned By Bishop Scannell Against New Fads

In his address to the graduates of Mount St. Mary's school at Creighton auditorium, Tuesday afternoon, Bishop Scannell advised the young women to avoid the new feminist ideas which are held by many women at this time. Women's duties are more important than women's rights, the bishop told them, and an educated heart is more to be desired than culture in music and literature. Besides the six graduates, the entire school, each girl dressed in white, participated in the program, displaying the careful training they had received in piano, choral work and elocution. Miss Rose Hannon delivered the salutatory, while Miss Edna Smith was class valedictorian. Numerous wreaths, medals, badges and other prizes were awarded by Bishop Scannell, assisted by Father Bronsgeest of St. John's church. Awards were made for politeness, Christian doctrine, penmanship, honor, Latin, ethics, English composition, elocution, painting, music and general excellence. Diplomas of graduation were given Misses Frances Platt, Omaha; Rose Hannon, South Omaha; Gladys McKeehan, Casper, Wyo.; Helen Crowe, South Omaha; Margaret Sadtler, Omaha, Neb.; Edna Smith, Douglas, Wyo. Certificates in music were given Misses Gertrude Miller, Omaha; Faye Chambers, Douglas, Wyo.

Prompt Pupils at Mason School Get Distinction Badge

Pupils of the Mason school who were neither absent nor tardy during the last school year received recognition from the faculty at the close of the term. Each pupil who made this good record was awarded a yellow silk ribbon badge, indicating that he or she had been neither absent nor tardy during the entire year. Then these pupils were marched through the different rooms of the school, so that other children might see the badge of honor which had been conferred on those having the perfect record in attendance. Those who received the badges are: Edna Anderson, Lennea Olson, Arthur Backus, Margaret Hostetter, Hazel Larson, Arthur Backus, Leonard McCoun, Jack Beacon, George Mitterer, Myrtle Moody, Herbert Peterson, John Schiele, Elizabeth Hill, Alice Longenecker, Eva Antrim, Arthur Beads, Charles McCauley, Frank Faulkner, Ralph Rose, Josephine Minardi, Vera Jacl, Fred Mancus, Frank Bausenick, Beale McMullen, Edith Lennon, Pearl Smith, Norman Bilton, Carmelea Bursd, Ruth Johnston.

Commerce School to Have Graduating Exercises Friday

Graduates of the Omaha High School of Commerce will be their own commencement orators at the graduating exercises at the Brandeis theater Friday night. Principal L. C. Ruzmisl will take charge of the graduating exercises. The officers of the graduating class are: Marion Rodgers, president; Lorena Douglas, vice president; Leslie Noel, secretary; Louis Swanson, reporter and sergeant-at-arms. The graduating exercises will begin at 8 o'clock. Get anything you'd like to swap? Use the "Swappers' Column."

LOUISVILLE BRIDGE TO OPEN BY THURSDAY NIGHT

Tom Farnelle of Louisville, one of the owners of the Louisville bridge across the Platte river, was in Omaha and reported that the two spans of the bridge which were washed away by the high waters of the Platte will be replaced by Thursday evening. This will be welcome news for motorists, as the route via Ashland to the south is also blocked. The high waters have cut a channel this side of the bridge and washed out the road bed for about forty feet, so that it may take a month to repair the damage.

Grinds His Own Flour

An old gentleman, Francis Harrison, of the town of Wight, wrote a letter to the newspaper which for thirty years has had a steady mill of his own and that his wife had explained why my wife and I see so hard. "Where did you see that mill?" all our reporters, "Good Lord!" he told me, "I bought it some time ago, but it cost me only two pounds, but it has been worth a fair fortune. I had no idea, my whole wheat flour soon put me to rights." The bread Reform League has taken the subject in hand, and the cry in England is not for meat, but for whole wheat bread."—Daily Record.

But you don't have to buy a mill and go to all the trouble of grinding your flour.

In Grape-Nuts

—ready to eat from the package, and delicious—you have a far more perfect food than bread. In Grape-Nuts one has all the nutriment of whole wheat plus entire barley, including all the vital mineral phosphates of these grains, so essential for proper balance of body, brain and nerves. Grape-Nuts, because of long skillful baking, digests easily and quickly—generally in about one hour; white bread requires about 8 1/2 hours. A ration of Grape-Nuts with regular meals goes a long way toward putting one "to rights."... "There's a Reason" —sold by Grocers everywhere
