Withnell Orders New Building Code to Be Enforced

City Commissioner C. H. Withnell of the department of fire protection and water supply has issued orders to his subordinates to strictly enforce the new building code, although contractors have declared that they must needs abandon jobs if the code is enforced. "These complaints are without any justification, except on the ground that speculators will lose some of their profits," said Commissioner Withnell. "The code provides that foundations shall be better laid; this will cost not more than $50 per house additional. Further the code provides that the houses shall be wind-braced by proper construction; and this will cost not a cent more." Contractors who have laid foundations for houses will not be required to tear them out if they do not come up to specifications, but future building operations must come strictly under the provisions of the code. Ure Starts Move to Collect Licenses on All Automobiles

The first move in what he declares will be a far-reaching campaign against automobile owners who fail to secure licenses was made by County Treasurer Ure when he requested the arrest by a motorcycle officer of J. W. Berger, owner of Car No. 214. According to the treasurer, Mr. Berger has paid no license fee since 1907. "We have been merely taking fees as they are paid," he said, "but now we have come to the point where we are going after them." The license fee is $2 a year. For failure to pay it, a fine not exceeding $50 may be inflicted for the first offense and a fine of from $50 to $100 or sixty days in jail for a second. Physicians have told Pinto that the only means of preserving his sight is to live constantly in the open. Alcox is a member of the Nebraska National Guard. The hikers will travel to San Francisco. Pinto will keep on walking around the world, his intention being to cover 27,500 miles within the next eight years. EDITORS OF NEBRASKA TO MEET IN OMAHA NEXT YEAR

FATHER VRANEK IS HONORED

Rector of St. Wenceslaus Parish Celebrates Silver Jubilee. MANY VISITORS ARE PRESENT

Bishop Koudelka of Wisconsin and Priests from Over State at Festivities—In Omaha for Twenty-Two Years. In honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, Very Rev. John Vranek, priest of the parish of St. Wenceslaus, Fourteenth and Pine streets, is being tendered a series of notable celebrations by hundreds of Bohemian Catholics of Omaha and the state. He has been in Omaha twenty-two years, and during that time has built up his parish, church and school from almost nothing to a large and flourishing one. Right Rev. Joseph N. Koudelka, Bohemian bishop, from Superior, Wis., came all the way to Omaha just for the occasion. Twelve other priests of Omaha, South Omaha and the towns of the state are also in attendance at the festivities in honor of the veteran divine. They are: Father Vleha of St. Louis, Father Sime of the church of St. Mary Magdalene, Nineteenth and Dodge streets; Fathers Chudelak, Oluba and Zaplotnik of South Omaha; Father Borz of Dodge; Father Nemecek of Afton, Father Drah of Heun, Father Bor of Wahoo, Father Tomasek of Schuyler, Father Miesnek of Platte, Father Gryc of Deweese. The celebration of the long and active service of Very Reverend Father Vranek began Tuesday morning at 8:30, when he celebrated high mass in his church. Although held during the hours of toll for nearly all of his parishioners, the services were attended by hundreds of men, women and children, the large church being crowded to the doors.

FLORENCE COUNCIL BLOCKED

United States Trust Company Joins Opening of Bids. BOND ISSUE IS NOW HELD UP

Courts to Be Called Upon to Decide Whether the Bonds Were Rightfully Sold to the Trust Company. Action of the Florence city council on new bids on the village's $55,000 bond issue was prevented Monday night by an injunction secured in district court by the United States Trust company, former bidders for the bonds. The trust company alleges that its offer accompanied by a $2,000 check was accepted. It asserts that on June 15 when new bids were authorized a quorum of the council was not present. Whether the bonds were sold to the trust company is to be threshed out in the courts. Almost the entire voting population of the city of Florence went to the city hall last night to see the councilmen open bids for the $55,000 bond issue, but went home disappointed because of the injunction stopping them from opening the bids. Neither Mayor Tucker or Councilman Kelly put in an appearance so the other councilmen, Behrman, Johnson and Thomas cleaned up the routine work, after which representatives of the trust companies were heard. Mr. Sleeper, representing Halsey & Co. of Chicago, said his firm would be pleased to get the bonds and would guarantee better than $1,500 premium and desired to be notified if the injunction was dissolved and bids opened. The injunction is returnable next Monday morning and the council will meet that evening.

DECISION FAVORS OMAHANS

Supreme Court Holding on Rates is Good Thing for Local Shippers. TARIFF REDUCTION IS A HELP

Lower Rates to Mountain Regions Give Local Jobbers Foothold in a Territory Where They Do Much Business. The decision of the supreme court of the United States giving the interstate commerce commission right to make rates in the intermountain territory under the long and short haul clause of the commerce commission act, is expected to effect Omaha shippers favorably. J. J. McVann, manager of the traffic bureau of the Commercial club, says the decision will result in a material reduction in rates from Omaha to the intermountain territory which includes Salt Lake, the Montana territory, Spokane, Boise and intervening territory. Many of the Omaha jobbers and manufacturers are heavy shippers of goods to that territory, and this gives them an additional hold on the business of that field. The Omaha shippers will have no part in the collection of reparation for past excessive charges which is to be attempted by some of the shippers to that territory. This is because most of the Omaha goods sold in that territory is sold on the car in Omaha and the freight has really been paid by the dealers at the other end, since that was figured in on the price made at Omaha. It will strengthen Omaha business in that territory, however, in that it will give us a reduction of freight rates. Creamery Men Interested. Martin S. Hartman, traffic manager of the Fairmont Creamery company, says those engaged in the creamery and poultry business in Omaha are very much interested in this decision, as it means much to them. "We have already been enjoying the reduced rates for the last three years since the commission ordered the reduction," he said, "but if the supreme court had decided against the commission we would have lost that advantage. It has meant about $3 a car in reduced freight rates to us in shipping to the intermountain territory, and we are very much pleased with the decision upholding this."
