CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.
CHICAGO, June 23.—Wheat pit conditions today were the most bearish since sharply under way. Active options broke sharply under 80 cents a bushel, and there was a heavy close with the market showing a net decline of 1/16 to 1/8 cent. Corn would up 1/16 to 1/8 cent, and provisions unchanged to 1/16 cent lower, and provisions the same as last night.
Prices for wheat seemed to have no power to rally, but export sales and a decrease of more than 10,000 bushels in world stocks being virtually ignored. Wet weather southwest was also discussed, but it was not expected to show up to date. On the other hand, the bulls were further discouraged by the outlook for the spring crop being regarded as almost perfect, except in southern Minnesota, where there were reports of two inch rain.
Improved shipping demand as well as the addition of Oklahoma to the drought is tending to make prices climb. There were no rural offerings for wheat, and bears got little comfort from reports of the effect of the wheat weather was favorably sustained by the influence of the corn bulge.

Foreign Markets Report Decline in Prices on Account of Heavy Russian Shipments—Corn Somewhat Weaker.
The southwestern markets were given a real taste of the new wheat movement yesterday. Kansas City receiving twenty-six cars and there was a goodly number at St. Louis as well. The average appearance of the new wheat was proceeded to throw it into the pit and some of those who disposed of their grain put out short lines, which with the heavy movement from this time forward will likely be held under suffering losses, as the entire world is inclined to back away from the big crop that is now commencing to move.
This fact was shown yesterday by the drop in prices at Liverpool, the decline in Budapest and the similar decline in all of the other markets with the possible exception of Paris. Russian shipments were larger than expected, there were favorable private reports as to Canadian prospects and the selling by July holders in the big English market. A cable from the market at Chicago reported that the Chicago market was being held out of Chicago have caused a bearish feeling to exist there quarters the opinion was offered that farmers will not accept the bids sent out at lower levels for their wheat, but that they will stick it and hold it for a later period and there and market it whenever more satisfactory prices are paid. The average farmer is believed to be in a position to hold a considerable of his wheat for future marketing and this may possibly curtail shipping.
