

MORE AND BETTER BUTTER

Movement to Start Co-Operative Creameries in Southern Iowa.

FEW IN THIS PART OF STATE

Commissioner Making Effort to Aid Farmers in Organization and is Encouraging Support of Creameries Now Established.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 5.—(Special.)—The movement for better butter and more of it is now engaged in making an invasion of southern Iowa. The activities of the dairy and pure food department are being directed toward that part of the state which has been backward in its development of dairying among the farmers.

When Law is a Check. It is found that the state laws against unfair discrimination do not wholly protect the farmers and independents. Where the state is able to show discrimination in the prices for products the law operates as a check. But discrimination cannot always be shown in connection with the effort to destroy competition.

It has been found that this condition prevailed in Ringgold county, where a co-operative creamery was recently located, but it was being hedged about by unfair competition and its life threatened. Accordingly a big booster meeting was held a few days ago under the auspices of the food and dairy department to bolster up the cause of the co-operatives.

The state dairy department is also preparing itself to furnish to persons who are interested in the co-operative creamery work complete plans and specifications for model creameries.

Information as to Libraries. A. J. Small, state law librarian, is sending out blanks to the heads of various law libraries throughout the country to secure information as to how these libraries are housed.

College to Make Fine Exhibit. The state college at Ames is getting ready to make an unusually fine exhibit at the state fair in Des Moines next fall. The college has for its use one of the old buildings of the state and each year has made an exhibit of the college work.

Two Colleges at Dubuque Have Gone into Court to settle a difference as to the use of the word "Dubuque" in the college name. The old St. Joseph's college has recently taken the name of Dubuque college and is to be operated under that name.

Will Not Fight Serum Much. It is learned that the movement which was started at Ottumwa by a veterinarian located there for a fight all along the line on the use of the serum treatment in hog cholera does not have the support of any very large number of farmers or veterinarians in the state.

Inspection of Iowa Hotels. State hotel inspectors are engaged now in making inspection of some of the summer resort hotels in the northern part of the state which will virtually complete the work of the year in this department.

(Continued from Page One.) men reached home at one o'clock this morning. At seven o'clock when she left her home, she said Berg and Caron were asleep and Hansen was washing dishes, and Auspenti was lying on a couch.

All Are Dressed. All were dressed. There were no traces of an explosion or of the material for making a bomb anywhere in the apartment she said. The explosion occurred at 9:35 a. m., and she was notified of it she declared while at the Mother Earth office.

Alexander Berkman explained how the group allied with him happened to be at the Mother Earth office when the police arrived. He said they had gathered to go on a Fourth of July picnic in a New Jersey town.

Berkman smoked cigarettes and answered sharp questions. He denied he had counseled violence at the coming Tarrytown trial. He and others planned to go to Tarrytown, he said, and listen to the proceedings.

To Hold Back Nationalists. The headquarters staff has worked out a plan of campaign for hostilities. It is not likely that they will attempt to stir this citizen force against trained regiments with heavy guns, for one officer remarked, the most they could expect would be to put up one good fight and be cut to pieces.

Novelty Pipe Race. A "pipe" race furnished plenty of amusement. The stunt was for the men to run thirty-three yards, pick up a pipe, run that distance farther and pick up a sack of "smokin'" and while running the last thirty-three yards fill the pipe and light it with matches picked up at the finish.

Contests for Women. In the women's contests, Miss Mackenzie and Miss Lydia Murtagh finished first and second in the egg race. Anna Verdigris and Helen Borsheim won the fifty-yard dash and Mrs. G. F. Zimmerman and Mrs. J. F. Burr took the honors in the married women's races.

IRELAND DIVIDED INTO TWO HOSTILE ARMED FACTIONS

This has produced a strong protest from Prof. Kerr who says the meeting was not properly convened and asks for a full meeting when the members would accept Mr. Redmond's offer. Mr. Redmond cannot allow a movement mainly composed of his supporters to be commanded by a self-qualified body, of which the most active members are opponents of his.

Covenanters Not Alarmed. BELFAST, July 6.—The leaders of the Covenanters in Ulster profess to consider the Nationalist volunteer movement as something not to be taken seriously. These Nationalist bands in the Ulster counties drill spasmodically and are not connected with any central organization.

Two Distinct Factions. In the Covenanter movement there are two distinct factions at present. One is a militant section which advocates immediate provocative action, with the belief that bloodshed would shock the English non-conformists and force Asquith to grant Ulster's demand for permanent exclusion from an Irish government.

Foreign Notes Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster unionist leader, addressing a gathering of unionists in South London last night, declared that the Irish proposal of a time limit by the government placing a time limit of any sort on its exclusion from home rule.

Off the wild coast of Borneo one Sunday morning Mohammed Singh, an Arab sailor, fell overboard from one of the boats he was cleaning. The parrot was on deck with his weather eye cocked, and his continuous calls of "eight bells" attracted the attention of the officer on the bridge, who stopped the ship and had a boat lowered to rescue the sailor.

Police Judge Foster came to work Saturday morning in a white duck suit, ordered all "drunks" and "vams" brought before him and dismissed all from custody. The serious cases he put over until Monday.
