Southeast Improvers Plan to Put Officials On the Grill Publicly

All of the city commissioners will be invited to attend a special meeting of the Southeast Improvement club at the of bitter contention for years in South Bancroft school two weeks from last night to answer to inquiries by the club members why certain improvements have not been made in the southeast portion of the city. This was unanimously decided at the regular meeting held last night, as several of the members strenuously objected to the negligence of the present city administrators.

It was asserted that the commissioners. especially the park commissioner, were spending the majority of their funds in other parts of the city. The club will ask for repairs to the lake in Riverview park, improvements on the boulevards and improvements in the sanitation parts of the southeast.

First Copy of Gilder Catalogue to Dietz

Because C. N. Dietz, president of the Public Library board, paid the expenses of publishing a catalogue of the Robert F. Gilder anthropological collection in the library museum, the first copy of the catalogue taken from the press has been sent to Mr. Diets, who is now in Paris with his wife. 'The second copy was sent' to Lewis Reed, a former president of the board, also in Paris, and the third copy went to Mr. Gilder. Other copies of the work will be sent to museums throughout the country. The collection, which is merely loaned to the library by Mr. Gilder, is valued at $20,000, contains 430 specimens and is the cream of his assembly of $7,000 articles gathered in his archaeological surveys

Lobeck and Monaghan Both Appear Before the Stockmen.

FORMER INTRODUCED BY LATTER

Nothing Said at the Meeting About Some of the Activities of the Second District Seeker After Office.

Not since they held an entertainment for the visiting sheep convention at the Union Stock Yards two years ago has anything so funny been pulled off at the yards as was staged yesterday noon when colonel Jim Bulla introduced Anthony Monaghan, one of his office men and democratic candidate against Lobeck. and Monaghan introduced Lobeck. Lobeck had on his suavest manner, but there was nothing doing in the line of wild enthusiasm on the part of the stock-

Speaking of his opponent for the nomnation, Monaghan wittingly or unwittingly handed the congressman a jolt when he remarked that Lobeck had been near enough to the "curtain of events in the state to hear what was going on behind the curtain and near enough to the curtain of the statesmen in Washington to be able to tell what they were doing behind their curtains."

With that doubtful flourish Monaghan gave way and the hero of the "classificaon bill" for the relief of government veterinarians took the stand.

He was charmed to be among the stock ards men it seemed-cuite in the style of Pennsylvania avenue, don't you know. He termed Monaghan a curly headed Irishman and then remarked how he loved the Irish. Back Tax Question Up.

In the district court of Judge Willis Sears today will be tried the back tax question, a matter that has been the bone Omaha politics. On the one side is ranged Mayor Tom Hoctor and his council, with a specially hired Omaha attorney, and on the other is City Treasurer Martin and City Attorney Henry C. Murphy.

Two points are involved. One whether the mayor and council can defeat the public will by hiring a new attorney to do their bidding every time the regularly elected city attorney refuses to go against the law as he sees it.

The second point to be determined is whether a mayor and council can appropriate money to operate the departments of the city at the beginning of the year and then having run through the sum use back tax money to fill up the de-

One Burning Steak Cause of Fire Call

Volumes of smoke pouring from the kitchen window of the rooming house at 1713 Chicago street owned by Mrs. W. Bronke, caused neighbors to send in a fire call. When the department arrived there was nothing left of the conflagration but a large steak, sizzling in the yard at the rear of the building. Someone had forgotten to watch the steak and the latter took advantage of the mistake to go up in smoke.
