Tournaments in the East.

WILL PLAY AT CINCINNATI

Enters National Clay Court Tournament and Will Also Play at Longwood in Boston and at the Western in Chicago.

Harry Koch, who defended his title of city tennis championship in the final round of the city tournament at the Field club yesterday afternoon, left Omaha last night for Cincinnati, where he will enter the National Clay Court tourney, starting Monday. Koch will go from Cincinnati to Boston, where he will enter in the invitation tourney at Longwood, the second biggest lawn tennis tournament and probably the most exclusive. From Boston he will return to Chicago, where he will play in the western tourney.

Koch haos improved considerably in his game during the last two years and there is hardly a player in Omaha who can test his mettle. Cub Potter and Russell Larmon alone can give the champion a battle and he is desirous of playing some of the country's cracks with a view toward making a better player of himself. While hehas no hopes of defeating McLaughling and Williams or some of the other cracks he does intend to prove to the easterners that some westerns up a nifty article before the nets. When he returns from the eastern invasion Koch will go to Wayne to participate in the state tourney. With the additional experience and practice received in the east he should have no difficulty in easily demonstrating his superiority on
