Leader of Volunteers Pledges Covenanters Never to Waver in War Against Home Rule.

ORANGEMEN HONOR CARSON

Enthusiastic Celebration in Belfast Without Disorder.

NEAR CLASH IN LONDONDERRY

Bombs Exploded Over Catholic Portion of City During Celebration Gives Rise to Report of Battle.

DRUMBEG, Ireland, July 13.—The Orangemen's demonstration here today culminated in a scene of immense dimensions around the city platform where Sir Edward Carson, Bible in hand, pledged the covenanters never to surrender to coercion, to remain loyal to the throne and never to waver in their support of their leaders in the fight against home rule.

Sir Edward Carson, in a speech which evoked tremendous enthusiasm, served notice on the British government that unless it was prepared to leave Ulster alone it would very shortly find the Ulstermen recognizing no government except the provisional government of Ulster. He said he had been given authority to act and that if necessary that meant he was to exercise his powers without regard to consequences to himself. The Ulster men he added, were not going to give way and were bound to win because God would defend the right.

Mr. Carson's speech was the government's alternative of giving Ulster a clean cut out of home rule or of coming to fight the Ulstermen. These, he said, were the only possible alternatives. Ulster, he concluded, was claiming only justice and if it did not get it from the government would take it for itself.

Honor Carson.
BELFAST, July 13.—The insistent demand of the Protestant portion of the province of Ulster for exclusion from the operations of the Irish home rule bill, lent added interest to today's celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne. The celebration was carried out here with great enthusiasm.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, rode at the head of 5,000 Orangemen accompanied by the usual rifle and drum bands and including a sprinkling of brethren from the United States and the British colonies. They marched through the city of Belfast, Drumming, where a great open air meeting was addressed by Sir Edward and other leaders.

The Nationalist quarter of Belfast was carefully avoided by the demonstrators, and on no occasion during the procession did the rival factions come into contact. So little did the authorities expect trouble that they depended entirely on the local police force to keep order. All the military were confined to barracks, as is usually the case during political demonstrations.

A great crowd of tourists, including many Americans, came to see the procession and to hear the speeches which were a prelude to resolutions calling on the Ulster leaders to take what steps they considered necessary to prevent Ulster coming under the authority of the Dublin Parliament.

Carson Hero of Day.
Sir Edward Carson was the hero of the day. Buttons bearing his portrait were worn by nearly every man in the procession, while great canvases spread across the streets in the Unionist section of the city bore his likeness.

It is regarded as significant that in recent interviews he has given Sir Edward is quoted as saying that the only condition of peace is the exclusion of Ulster "for the present" while the more remote action of the Unionists must, in his opinion, depend on the way the Dublin Parliament treats Protestants in the other provinces of Ireland.

Throughout the province of Ulster and notably in Londonderry, extensive processions were taken by the authorities against possible clashes between the organized forces of the Protestants and Catholics.

Near Clash in Londonderry.

LONDONDERRY, England, July 13.—The Orangemen here began the celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne with a cannonade, during which they projected their explosives so that they burst over the residences in the Catholic section of the city.

Entries close August 17 and many requests for blanks are being forwarded to Secretary W. R. Mellor at Lincoln. There is no limit to the number of entries, but the blanks are so arranged that an examination of these entries and a checking of the measurements will reduce the actual number to 300 entries.

The better babies exhibit has been provided with excellent quarters in the new agricultural-horticultural hall.

NAVY MEN AS DIPLOMATS

Daniels Advises Future Admirals Study International Law

MUCH DEPENDS ON TACT

Action of Admiral M. Daniels and Commodore Perry in Japan Are Cited as Two Examples.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 13.—How the nation's foreign policy often hangs on the action and discretion of a naval officer commanding a warship in a far-away port, was discussed by Secretary Daniels here today at the opening of the naval war college session. He pictured the duties of the naval officer in the role of diplomat, recalled incidents in which commanders of American warships in foreign ports had opened new chapters in American history, and urged officers at the college and marine officers to train themselves in international law and the languages in preparation for such emergencies.

"If he be uninformed as to the requirements of international law, what consequences of evil may flow from his ignorance? If he lack tact and a sense of courtesy, how he may block the path of his country to serve the people to whom he is sent and prevent the opening of doors through which his countrymen might enter to promote commerce and forge ties of friendship and amity?"

There had been no secretary of state, Mr. Daniels said, who had availed himself of the service of the naval officer as a diplomat "who has shown greater confidence in his ability, his judgment and his absolute trustworthiness" than has Secretary Bryan.

Mayo Forces Bryan's Hand.

The speaker recalled the demand made for a salute of the Stars and Stripes by Admiral Mayo at Tampico as an example of how the action of a naval officer in a foreign country precipitated an issue not contemplated in diplomatic channels, and irrevocably committed his government to a policy of action in support of his demand. Perry's achievement in the opening of Japan to commerce, Dewey's brilliant victory and his administration in Philippine waters, and finally Rear Admiral Fletcher's occupation of Vera Cruz were pointed to by the secretary as conspicuous instances of the double service required of the American naval officer abroad.

"There is very recent proof that Perry was a true prophet when he foresaw friendship between the United States and Japan. In the present Mexican trouble the Japanese have been scrupulous to prevent the shipment of arms by Japanese manufacturers."

Cuba and Philippines.

If all American diplomacy in the Spanish-American war had been modeled after that of Perry's, the secretary declared, "the United States might not have yielded to the temptation of imperialism. If our government had followed closely the diplomatic path set by another great commander of the United States navy, who, himself, followed the diplomacy of Perry and squared his every action with the basic doctrines of our republic, we would not have strayed so far afield. We would at least have been consistent in our diplomacy; we would not have laid down one rule for Cuba and another for the Philippines.

Superior Again Wet by Vote of the People

SUPERIOR, Neb., July 13.—(Special Telegram.)—Superior's third election in four months for referendum on the wet and dry question today went wet by forty-seven votes. At the spring election the town went dry by one vote for the first time in twenty-five years. The next election in May went wet by eight. The drys carried this up to the district court, which sustained the action of the city council that granted licenses. Elections were closed for sixty days until after the district judge decided the case, July 8, enforcing the longest dry spell seen here.

Both sides worked hard today and a large vote was polled. Many surrounding towns had bankers and other business men here.

VERA CRUZ, July 13.—Four hundred laborers, acting under orders from Mexico City, started work today repairing the two-mile gap in the Mexican railway connecting Vera Cruz with the capital and the rushing of the work is believed here to indicate a possibility that the first train to pass over the repaired road may be a special conveying General Huerta and his family to the coast. The gap, which has been without rails since April 21, will be restored to working order within two days at the most.

Carrajal May Resign.

MEXICO CITY, July 13.—Authoritative quarters here today declare that unless a quick agreement is reached between the contending factions in Mexico, Francisco Carrajal, minister for foreign affairs, will sever his connection with the administration.

Lewis S. Sanborn Drowned While in Lake at Valley

Lewis S. Sanborn, of the Campbell & West Brokerage company, who lived at 2911 Dewey avenue, was drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming in a sand-pit lake at Valley. When the body was recovered, life was found to be extinct and all efforts to resuscitate the man were in vain.

Allan Farmer, a friend with whom Sanborn lived, will accompany the body to Xenia, O., where it will be interred, as that city is the home of the victim's parents.

He was unmarried and about 35 years of age, and had been in Omaha only since last October.

In company with Allan Farmer and some other Omaha persons, Mr. Sanborn went to Fremont in an automobile Sunday. Returning the party stopped at Valley and went bathing in the lake. Sanborn was able to swim but little and got beyond his depth. He called to the others who were in the water and they hurried to his assistance, but he sank before they reached him.

The coroner went to Valley last night to take charge of the body and bring it to this city.

Little Girl Bitten by Rattlesnake

TECUMSEH, Neb., July 13.—(Special.)—Little Loretta Burch, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Burch, who lives six miles southeast of this city, was at play with other children in the yard yesterday. A peculiar looking, moving object on the ground attracted the attention of the child and she picked it up. It was a rattlesnake, and the reptile wrapped itself around the child's bare arm and embedded its fangs into the arm three times before it fell to the ground. The children hustled the little girl into the house and a physician called. By the time he got there the arm was considerably swollen. Hasty treatment was administered and it is thought there will be no bad results.

Ten Persons Drown in New York Sunday

NEW YORK, July 13.—The first hot Sunday of the summer drew thousands to the waterfront for relief with the result that ten drownings were reported to the police during the day and night. Two young boys died in sight of thousands in prospect park lake, Brooklyn, through the capsizing of a boat.

More than 150,000 persons, many of them mothers with babies, were held at Coney Island until early morning because of a blowout of a transformer, which supplies power to the trolley cars and elevated roads running to the beach resort. Thousands of persons sat or slept on the beach front until daylight.

Mystic Monk, Who is Friend of the Czar, Stabbed by Woman

ST. PETERSBURG, July 13.—Details reached here today in a dispatch to the Courier of a probably fatal attack on the mystic lay monk, Gregory Rasputin, whose influence over the emperor is said to be very great.

Rasputin, who has been one of the most prominent figures in Russia in recent years, was visiting his native village, Pokrovsky, in the province of Tobolsk, Siberia, when a woman, a stranger to the locality, approached him, pretending to be a beggar. After accosting him, she stabbed him in the abdomen with a long military dirk.

The assailant was arrested and confessed she had waited two weeks for the opportunity. She said she had decided to kill the monk because he was a false prophet and was leading everybody in Russia astray.

Mrs. Nelms Asks Shriners to Help Her Locate Daughters

ATLANTA, Ga., July 13.—An appeal to Nobles of the Mystic Shrine throughout North America to aid in the search for her missing daughters, Mrs. Elois Dennis and Miss Beatrice Nelms, was issued here today by Mrs. John W. Nelms. Mrs. Nelms also invoked the assistance of club women of the country to the same end.

Explaining her action in calling on the Shriners to help Mrs. Nelms said that her husband on his deathbed had given Mrs. Dennis his Shiner pin and that Mrs. Dennis afterward gave this pin to Victor Innes, who she said, told her that he was a member of the order.

There were no additional developments here today in connection with the disappearance of the two women. Detectives made careful examination of all papers and correspondence in the Nelms' home in an effort to discover something which might throw light on the mystery, but were unsuccessful.

Maher Comes from Race of Fighters

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, July 13.—(Special.)—If any one questions the fighting ability of Colonel John G. Maher, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, in his position as a political boss, he is trying to convey the impression that the colonel is a joke, they are respectfully referred to his ancestors and relatives, which shows that the colonel comes from some stock.

An uncle of Mr. Maher is Judge John J. Maher of South Carolina, who was one of the leading lawyers of that state, and codified and compiled the laws of the state and was a circuit judge. He served with distinction in the southern army and was the orator who received the colors when the troops marched out.

He is related to Oscar Underwood, Senator Lee and Joseph Daniels. That he gets his political courage honestly is shown by the fact that all through the south his relatives are in the thick of the fight. In Georgia, a relative, Thomas B. Felder, is attorney general of the state and a candidate for United States senator. In South Carolina another relative, Carl Simms, is a candidate for governor. A cousin in Elizabethtown, writes to him that he heartily agrees with him on prohibition and woman's rights and urges him to fight for the things he favors.

Maladministration of Affairs of Railroad System Denounced in Most Drastic Terms.

Report Says They Should Be Held Individually Liable for Diverted Funds.

PROSECUTION IS RECOMMENDED

Copies of Report Sent to Attorney Generals of Five States.

Millions of Dollars Paid to Attorneys and Promoters Without Apparent Service—Big Floating Debt Created.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—"Criminal negligence" and "one of the most glaring instances of maladministration revealed in all the history of American railroads" were the terms the Interstate Commerce commission employed today in reporting to the senate on its investigation of New Haven railroad financial affairs.

The commission's conclusion may be summed up this way: Losses to New Haven stockholders for the acts of their directors will range from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000. Suits to recover the money should lie in some cases.

Many of the transactions characterized violations of the laws of New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, and the federal anti-trust laws, have been reported to the authorities of the state and the federal Department of Justice.

The deprecation of the Boston & Maine began with the "Mellen-Morgan-Rockefeller management" came into control.

John L. Billard of the Billard company were merely agencies of the New Haven; Billard never used a dollar of his own money and burned his books and papers. It was not the understanding of the New Haven board that he should take profits of more than $2,000,000.

"All the assets of the Billard company belong to New Haven stockholders, and a suit by the railroad against Billard and those who participated in the transactions should be maintained."

Dummy corporations and their use, which the report says in the New Haven was frequent, are condemned in unmeasured terms.

The system of interlocking directors is condemned as it existed on the New Haven and in general. The commission says it found most every other interest was better represented on the New Haven board than the average stockholders.

President Mellen's dealings with former Police Inspector Byrnes of New York in the West Chester railroad transactions were branded as "corrupt and unlawful." The amount illegally expended should be recoverable.

The purchase of Rhode Island trolley lines and coastwise steamships were described as extravagant and wasteful.

All the transactions, the commission holds, were consummated with the object of setting up a complete transportation monopoly in New England in violation of the federal statutes.

All the commission's strictures were on the management of the New Haven system under former President Mellen. In justice to the present management the commission says it is but fair to say that Chairman Howard Elliott and Walter D. Hines, special counsel, "have co-operated with the commission and rendered it substantial assistance throughout this investigation."

Many Significant Instances.
The report cites these "significant incidents":

"Marked features and significant incidents in the loose, extravagant and imprudent administration of the finances of the New Haven, as shown in this investigation, are the Boston & Maine despotism, the inequity of the Westchester acquisition, the double price paid for the Rhode Island trolleys, the recklessness in the purchase of Connecticut and Massachusetts trolleys at prices exorbitantly in excess of their market value, the unwarranted expenditure of large amounts in 'contingent expenses' and the disposition, without knowledge of the directors, of hundreds of thousands of dollars for influencing public sentiment; the habitual payment of unitemized vouchers without any clear specification of details, the confusing inter-relationship of the principal company and its subsidiaries and consequent complication of accounts, the practice of financial ledgerism in issuing large blocks of New Haven stocks for notes of the New England and Navigation company and manipulating these securities back and forth, fictitious sales of New Haven stock to friendly parties with the design of boosting the stock and unloading on the public at the higher 'market price,' the unlawful diversion of corporate funds to political operations, the scattering of retainers to attorneys of five states, who rendered no itemized bills."
