

HOAGLAND HITS AT BERGE

Candidate for Office of Lieutenant Governor Issues a Statement.

CRITICIZES METHOD OF ATTACK

Enactment Must Necessarily Include Some of Features Against Which Mr. Berge is Most Caricaturing.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, July 16.—(Special.)—Senator Walter V. Hoagland of North Platte, candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor, takes a back-handed thrust at George W. Berge, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, and while not mentioning that gentleman by name, criticizes the kind of a campaign Berge is making and shows reason why that gentleman is unfair, Mr. Hoagland says:

Much is now being said with reference to the increase of the number of candidates for state government during the last few years in Nebraska and I understand that taxation clubs are being organized to further the interests of candidates for office. Let me forget, it should be remembered that the organizations which have been in evidence in our farming communities for many years, perhaps not under that name, the holding of the daily papers to our farms and the educational influence of the school house district is responsible for the present state taken by our farmers in our state and county governments, and accounts for our present progress.

The rapid growth and development of our great agricultural state during the ten years past has brought about a largely increased cost of operating the state machinery. As our population increases the number of the dependents in the state institutions and the expense must necessarily increase.

Some of the difficulties. During the session of a legislature once in two years, the finance and revenue committee of the house and senate are in almost continuous session and then it is impossible for these committees to more than hear the heads of the state institutions and accept their recommendations; and in order to reduce the expenditures to the revenue, cut out amounts for salaries and improve the appropriations in the past have succeeded where otherwise they would have failed. The governor has the power to destroy these. However, the governor is as human as the legislator and he is placed in a peculiar position as to his judgment against the collective judgment and vote of 123 representative citizens.

Until the present legislation of our state institutions except the state university has been in the control of partisan politics. The last legislative session placed in operation the nonpartisan Board of Control of our state institutions. While the bill for civil service in the institutions was vetoed, I understood it was done after consulting with the members of the board, with the idea that such a law would hamper the board at the start in making the institutions on a firm basis and that the board itself would establish civil service rules.

The per capita cost of operating our asylums, penitentiary and industrial school have been entirely too high. Now that the institutions are starting on their way out of the control of the political machinery, and are all in the hands of one board, we can look hopefully to the future that they will be operated at the lowest possible expense consistent with efficient management.

The long-rolling in the legislature on appropriations is done for. The position of the nonpartisan Board of Control is secure and I do not believe that any appropriation can be secured in the future against the recommendations of this board.

I think nothing is to be gained at this time by agitating the troubles that existed before the reforms in the management of our state institutions were started. Let us give a hearty welcome to the new board, and let us give it the highest efficiency at the smallest cost, that is, the most we can expect.

It is not a mark of statecraft for candidates to go about the state generally charging corruption in the past, based on the sole basis of increased appropriations in a growing state. These people ought to point out specifically where some of these funds have been wrongfully spent. I have seen no claim of this kind in the general charges that are being sent out.

Our legislators in the past have measured up in point of honesty and capacity with those of other states. True, on account of the tendency of our people to follow the beaten path, the method of procedure in our legislature has become so antiquated and cumbersome that present progress demands that legislative procedure be modernized. This is one of the real questions which should be solved by the coming legislature.

HAIR FELL OUT BY HANDFULS

Also Had Itching Burning Scalp, Hair Thin, Dry and Lifeless. Could Not Sleep on Account of Itching. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

Kalkaska, Mich.—"My hair began falling out about five years ago and I also had itching and burning of the scalp. My hair fell out by handfuls and it was thin, dry and lifeless. I could not sleep well on account of the itching. My hair became so thin I commenced using 'Cuticura' and switches until I had lost so much hair there was not enough remaining to cover the scalp."

"I used also quantities of and which did not relieve the torture which at times was almost unbearable, especially at night. I was obliged to bathe my head in soda water in order to get any rest. I then tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, rubbing the Cuticura Ointment into the scalp at night and washing it out in the morning with Cuticura Soap. It was about four weeks when I was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Henry Frick, March 21, 1914.

Decide on Advance

After three days of deliberation it was decided to be practicable to secure substantial advances in the class rates in Western Trunk Line territory by a readjustment of the relationship as between the classes to more nearly conform to the grouping of articles in western classification. It was decided that advances should be made in the general list of commodity rates in the three territories where the present rates do not bear a proper relationship to the class rates which would govern in the absence of commodity rates. It was decided that on all other interstate traffic a horizontal advance of 10 per cent be made, to be so applied as not to disturb established differential relationships, such advances on interstate traffic to be made without regard to interstate rates, which it might be impossible to change.

Change for Special Services

After setting forth the specific increase on lumber, grain, coal and coke, the assemblage of officials decided that reasonable charges must be made for all special services rendered. The following are some of the special services which it was decided should properly be enumerated under this recommendation: A—A charge for milling and malting of grain in transit. B—A charge for transit privileges on grain. C—A charge for stopping cars in transit to finish loading or to partially unload. D—A charge for reconsigning carload shipments of freight. E—A charge for handling trap cars. F—A charge for spotting cars. G—A charge for storage of all classes of freight, whether stored in transit or at destination. H—Discontinue the payment of elevation charges on grain. I—Discontinue allowances for loading and unloading of live stock. J—Discontinue the concentration of dairy products. K—Discontinue the allowances, account of dunnage. L—Consideration to be given to the question of per diem versus mileage on private cars. M—Discontinue the practice of allowing free time at ports on export traffic. N—Discontinue charge to be made therefor. O—Discontinue the payment of handling charges at ports in connection with import and export traffic. P—A charge for all out-of-town line hauls. Q—That switching and other absorptions be restricted within reasonable limits. Under this section the view was expressed that the absorption of switching charges should be continued strictly to competitive traffic.

Notes from Broken Bow

BROKEN BOW, Neb., July 16.—(Special.)—The Broken Bow flour mill which has been idle for several years past, commenced operations this week under the management of C. W. Jones and T. D. Taylor, of this city, they having secured a five-year lease of the property. The late A. G. Hahn, of Sioux Falls, who accidentally shot and killed himself several days ago, was the owner of the mill and granted the lease a short time before his death.

Six arrests in one afternoon is the record made by Sheriff Wilson when he broke up a poker game and took the players into custody, gathered in an alleged wife beater and arrested another party charged with taking a watch. The poker players each contributed $5 dollars and costs to the city's coffers, while the wife-beating case took a continuance of thirty days. The other case was dismissed.
