

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Thomas Parker Given Promotion by Swift & Company.

WILL ENTER SOUTHERN FIELD

Young Oscar Lind Will Recover from Injuries Received in Gang Battle—Pancoast to File for State Senator.

Thomas Parker, for many years purchasing agent for Swift & Company, has been promoted to an important post with the packing company at Buenos Aires, in Argentina. He will leave next week for his new home.

The removal of Parker to the new South American home is a compliment, in that it is a reward for faithful service, but his friends say that his going marks the departure of one of the best and most highly respected men in the service of the packing companies in South Omaha.

McDonald's Campaigns.
Of all the republican candidates for sheriff, Jim McDonald is about the only one who has the hardihood to campaign in South Omaha. He has campaigned in Brown Park at that. During the last few days McDonald began an active campaign in South Omaha. He is alleged to have told some prominent supporters of Briggs that the latter had no chance. Then he went to Brown Park, where many Bohemians live, and began operations there.

McDonald is said to have been permitted to buy the soda while a number of new friends told him that they were for him and against Briggs. Said a friend of Briggs to some of the supporters: "How comes it that you are for McDonald?" "We're for Briggs," the man insisted. "Well, you told McDonald you were for him," insisted the friend. "Oh, well," cynically remarked one of the supporters, "he was buying the beer."

But Briggs and McDonald met, and the latter assured the big chief that everything was looking fine in South Omaha for McDonald, and both men separated with a grin.

Young Lind Will Recover.
Oscar Lind, the young boy who was shot some nights ago in a street fight that began at the South Omaha swimming pool, will get well, according to statements emanating from the hospital. John Rahn, who was held in connection with the affair, has been released on $25 bonds. There is a growing sentiment that the boys arrested are not the boys connected with the shooting at all. Chief of Police John Briggs has notified about half a dozen lads to be within call if the court should order their appearance.

Pancoast to File for Senate.
Arthur Pancoast, well known attorney of South Omaha and Omaha, will make the race for the state senate again, according to close friends. Pancoast is well liked by the South Omaha voters, who have always given him a flattering vote. He is opposed by gangsters and those who felt that he might serve the people rather than the special interests. John Larsen, another well known South Omahan, has also filed for the house of representatives. Larsen served in the city council at one time and has the reputation of having made a splendid record. The republicans in South Omaha will concentrate on their legislative candidates.

Police Board Doesn't Meet.
The South Omaha police board did not meet yesterday as per schedule. Commissioner Donahue was reported ill and the other two commissioners did not meet. "What could we do?" asked the mayor. "There is just about $500 left in the police fund for the remainder of the month. About two-thirds of the police force is off duty just now and in all probability will continue off duty until the end of the month."

Magic City Guest.
Karl Lee has returned from a month's stay at Beatrice.
A daughter was born at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sharda, 284 North Twenty-ninth street.
Martin Soromson, aged 54, died Thursday at the county hospital. He will be buried from Brewer's chapel.
The birth of a son is reported at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas Clark, an officer at Fort Crook.
The funeral of Richard O. Koels, jr., will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from St. Bridget's church to St. Mary's cemetery.

Picnic of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company employees has been indefinitely postponed because of the death of a competitor.
About six more democrats say they will file today for the democratic nomination for police judge for the remainder of the month, according to the laboring men and packing house employees, who have put several candidates in the field against Callanan. Foreign-born voters are also opposed to Callanan because of the treatment received at a police station.

Anxious Relatives Search for Two Men
Two men are sought in Omaha by anxious relatives, who have asked the Omaha police department to assist them in the search.
Louis Mertens is wanted by his aged mother, Mrs. Caroline Mertens of Detroit, Mich.
I. T. Patterson, who is supposed to have owned valuable property here, is being sought by his daughter, Mrs. Mamie Hunter of Madisonville, Ky. Patterson was last heard from in 1912, when he wrote his daughter that he was going to Kansas City, and would meet her a few days later in Kentucky.

SALOONMAN IS SUED FOR LIQUOR SALE TO SIMS
That her husband, William H. Sims, 47 years old and married forty years, has been made a habitual drunkard for some time, is alleged in a district court petition filed by Mrs. Elizabeth Sims and her three minor children. Defendants to the action are John Chadek, 494 South Thirtieth street; Daniel Hedgren, 425 South Thirtieth street, and their bondsmen. Mrs. Sims asks $10,000 damages. The couple have ten children, seven of whom are now grown.

MOTORIST OWNER BUYS OUT ANOTHER PAPER.

H. DEARMONT.

Dearmont to Take Charge of Omaha Traders' Journal

H. Dearmont, well-known Omaha newspaper man and principal owner of the Motorist, one of the biggest automobile journals in the country, has, with Z. D. Reapes and J. A. Moran, acquired the Western Trader, a trade journal established in Omaha in 1909. The name has been changed to the Tradersman and will be devoted exclusively to retail merchants. Mr. Dearmont and his associates are expected to make improvements in the trade journal until it enjoys the influence in the retail world that the Motorist does in the automobile world.

Mr. Dearmont is an Omaha made man. Starting here as a street car conductor he entered the newspaper business in the advertising department at the small compensation of a beginner and worked his way up until he became manager of foreign advertising for a local paper. Later he was placed at the head of the Motorist and he successfully carried that organ from a rather doubtful inauguration to its present position. Now he is entering a new field and his many friends confidently expect him to realize the same success in this enterprise as he did in the other.

CUPID'S WORK A FAILURE

Parties in Court Seeking to Untie Knots Formerly Tied.

FIVE DIVORCES ARE ASKED

Four Women and One Man Sued of Their Matrimonial Bargains Are Asking for Legal Separation.

Yesterday was a busy day for the divorce lawyers. Five petitions were filed, four women and one man seeking separation from their life mates.

That her husband, John Sudyka, a saloon keeper on West Q street, South Omaha, ordered the groceryman not to furnish any more provisions to her and three minor children, and that he drew a revolver, threatened to kill her and had often abused and beaten her, is alleged in the petition of Mrs. Antonia Sudyka. She also asserts that Sudyka took a trip and wastefully spent $30, while she and the children needed the money for the necessities of life. He also mortgaged their home, held in the wife's name, and she is in danger of losing the place through foreclosure, she alleges.

Compelled to support her, Mrs. Susie Coston sues for divorce from Edward, whose desertion, cruelty and failure to support her and her baby made it necessary for her to work as a domestic, she alleges.

William W. Boyd beat and choked his wife, Lulu J., according to the latter's petition for divorce. She says he also called her vile names and otherwise abused her, before deserting her. She asks for that her maiden name Lulu Healey be restored.

COURT OFFICIALS SUED OVER ALLEGED CONSPIRACY

A novel petition in equity has been filed in district court against Henry H. Claiborne, justice of the peace; David R. Ringer, constable; J. E. VonDorn, lawyer; Irvin E. Jones, the latter's clerk; and Allice Shapiro, grocer.
Anson W. Evans, a clerk employed by the Standard Oil company, and his wife are plaintiffs. They allege that the defendants have entered into a "gentlemen's agreement or conspiracy to file successive suits against the plaintiffs, obtaining court costs, and to harass, annoy, embarrass, intimidate, detain and coerce the plaintiffs, so as to extort money as the price of peace."

They ask a perpetual injunction restraining defendants from prosecuting a certain suit, and also for damages of $300.

BROKEN ARM IN GYMNASIUM IS FOUNDATION FOR LAWSUIT

The Young Men's Christian association has been made defendant in district court suit for $300 damages, alleged to have been sustained from a fall which broke the arm of Frank K. Robling, aged 12 years. The boy was playing on a set of hanging bars or pipes in the boys' locker room of the association, the latter being charged with negligence in allowing the boy to play thereon. Frank M. Robling, father of the boy, has brought the suit in the latter's name.

Healthy marriages and instruction in new hygiene in high schools were advocated in resolutions adopted at the closing session of the conference of alienists and neurologists in Chicago.

The coroner's jury which investigated the shooting affray in the former segregated district of Chicago, in which one policeman was killed and three wounded, adjourned without having determined on the facts which led up to the revolver battle. It adjourned to await the results of the wounds of the three detectives now in hospital. The jury, comprised of six public school principals, recommended that Fred Amor, morally defective arrested on suspicion of the shooting, be released on his own recognizance pending the result of the inquest.
