

MEX GUNBOATS CANNOT CARRY HUERTA AWAY

Carbajal Won't Allow Them at This Time to Be Used for Purpose.

MOST OF PARTY DISAPPOINTED

Young Women in Hurry to Visit European Cities Show Their Dissatisfaction.

EX-PRESIDENT IS INTERVIEWED

Asks Questions and Then Answers Them Himself.

POSES FOR MOVING PICTURES

Tells the Reporters that When He Gets to New York Some Day They Must All Dine with Him.

PUERTO, Mexico, July 18.—Ex-President Huerta and his party may be delayed for several days in their departure from Mexico. A message received late tonight from President Carbajal refused the use of the Mexican gunboats for that purpose.

Most of the members of the party showed much disappointment, because they could not get out of here immediately. Especially did the young women display dissatisfaction.

Visits German Captain.

Huerta made a call late in the afternoon on the captain of the German cruiser, Dresden. A small crowd gathered to watch him alight from the train and go aboard the cruiser lying a short distance out, but when the stubby old man in plain clothes, accompanied by General Blanquet in full uniform and three members of his staff, walked to the landing, where the Dresden launch was waiting, there was no evidence of emotion other than curiosity.

Some one lifted up his voice in a thin "viva," but the answering call was thinner still. The spectators were the idle element and they were there to see and nothing more.

Huerta went over the side with the requisite number of sailors at the rail, but there was no salute. Anything resembling formality in connection with his visit was lacking.

General Hernandez, who has been governor of Puebla, arrived here late today on a special train. General Tamon Corona, an active supporter of Huerta, and several other officers are expected to reach here before the ex-president departs. It has virtually been decided that Huerta and Blanquet will go to Jamaica on the Dresden, but it is equally certain that the British cruiser Bristol will carry no passengers.

It is suggested here that the fact that the Bristol received the refugees aboard, and later landed them, may have been due to some diplomatic development of which all profess ignorance. The only thing apparently known aboard the Bristol is that there are no sailing orders.

Discusses Mexico. General Huerta chatted freely with Captain Kohler regarding Mexico. He said the time would come, he hoped, when Mexico would hold its place among the other nations and be entitled to the respect of all.

"It is civilization my country needs," he said, "that is a matter of schools. We are getting them and we must have more. Civilization and education are largely the same thing and Mexico is woefully lacking in education."

Captain Farnshaw of the Bristol paid his respects to the ex-president in the morning as did also the commander of the Dresden. Until late in the afternoon General Huerta had not called upon or seen his wife or the other women members of his family. Not had General Blanquet seen Senora Blanquet, notwithstanding the fact that only the customs warehouses separated the two special trains.

Senora Huerta and the other women who had been on the Bristol were transferred to the Mexican gunboat Zarazosa at noon. They then had come ashore and had lunch in one of the coaches in the train. In the evening they visited the Dresden.

Disagreeable for Women.

Housed in heated railway coaches and forced to listen to the continuous grinding of trains and the bumping of cars, the stay of the women here is becoming almost intolerable. In contrast, the soldiers accustomed to campaigning seem to be enjoying themselves. They and their "soldaderas" are idling in the shadow of the box cars and bathing beneath the hydrants with happy unconcern. Their

(Continued on Page Two.)

SLOAN ON WAYS AND MEANS

Fourth District Congressman Given Important Assignment.

SECOND TIME FOR NEBRASKAN

Only Other Time Place on This Committee Came to the State Was When It Was Given to Bryan.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, July 18.—(Special Telegram.)—A signal honor came to a member of the Nebraska delegation today when Congressman Charles H. Sloan of the Fourth district was made a member of the ways and means committee. Nebraska has not been honored with a place on that great committee of the house of representatives since William J. Bryan was made a member of it two decades ago in his first term in congress through an understanding that if the necessary votes for Crisp for speaker of the house were diverted from Springer of Illinois to the Georgian the brilliant young Nebraskan would be selected as a member of the ways and means committee.

The election of Mr. Sloan to this important committee assignment met with the approval of men on both sides of the chamber when it was announced in the house today. Leader Underwood himself proposing his name as the successor to Anderson of Minnesota. There was some regret, however, on the part of members of the committee on agriculture that the promotion of Mr. Sloan necessitated his retirement from that committee. He will, however, retain his position on the committee on expenditures in the Agricultural department thus holding his close affiliation with that department.

Has Eye on Tariff Law.

In speaking of his new connection with the tariff-making committee of the house Mr. Sloan said: "The present general dissatisfaction throughout the country with the Underwood tariff law forecasts no distant revision, and if this takes place I feel that I can do service in that committee in preventing the rank discrimination against agricultural products which now look so prominent in the Underwood law."

The advancement of Mr. Sloan is the second important committee assignment he has received in his three years' service.

Dundee Men Are Anxious.

President W. W. Clark of the Nebraska National Bank, has written Senator Hitchcock stating that he and others are interested in a national bank they propose to establish at Dundee, Neb., and asking that the charter they have applied for be given early consideration, otherwise they would apply for a charter as a state institution. Senator Hitchcock has laid the matter before the controller of the currency, with a request for prompt action.

Requests for Water.

Congressman Kinkaid, in response to telegrams from his district, has brought to the attention of the Interior department the great need of more water for the nourishment of growing corn in parts of his district by reason of the drought now prevailing, and has been advised by the department that the request should be applied to the reclamation service representatives of the government at Mitchell, Neb., for any remaining surplus water controlled by the government.

Government Will Agree upon Terms to be Specified for Release of any Surplus Water Remaining.

Letters have been received by Senator Hitchcock requesting him to urge the establishment of a postoffice about twenty-two miles south of Hyannis, in Grant county. They will be presented to the Postoffice department.

And for New Postoffice.

Letters have been received by Senator Hitchcock requesting him to urge the establishment of a postoffice about twenty-two miles south of Hyannis, in Grant county. They will be presented to the Postoffice department.

Discusses Mexico.

General Huerta chatted freely with Captain Kohler regarding Mexico. He said the time would come, he hoped, when Mexico would hold its place among the other nations and be entitled to the respect of all.

"It is civilization my country needs," he said, "that is a matter of schools. We are getting them and we must have more. Civilization and education are largely the same thing and Mexico is woefully lacking in education."

Captain Farnshaw of the Bristol paid his respects to the ex-president in the morning as did also the commander of the Dresden. Until late in the afternoon General Huerta had not called upon or seen his wife or the other women members of his family. Not had General Blanquet seen Senora Blanquet, notwithstanding the fact that only the customs warehouses separated the two special trains.

Senora Huerta and the other women who had been on the Bristol were transferred to the Mexican gunboat Zarazosa at noon. They then had come ashore and had lunch in one of the coaches in the train. In the evening they visited the Dresden.

Disagreeable for Women.

Housed in heated railway coaches and forced to listen to the continuous grinding of trains and the bumping of cars, the stay of the women here is becoming almost intolerable. In contrast, the soldiers accustomed to campaigning seem to be enjoying themselves. They and their "soldaderas" are idling in the shadow of the box cars and bathing beneath the hydrants with happy unconcern. Their

(Continued on Page Two.)

302 CANDIDATES ASK NOMINATION

Record Number of Politicians to Compete at Primary Election August 18.

THREE FOR EACH NOMINATION

Fourteen Men Want to Act as Sheriff of Douglas County.

OFFICE OPEN TILL 11 P. M.

Three Candidates Expected to Succeed in Getting Filings Through.

MANY FILINGS THROUGH FRIENDS

Wholesale Desire to Obtain Preference is Evidenced by Rush to Get Filings Through.

With 302 candidates for political nominations filed for the primary race, the campaign for the latter is now in full swing. The last chance for would-be officeholders to file passed with the official closing of filings at midnight Saturday. The number of candidates in the field for the primary election to be held August 18 is the largest ever known in Douglas county.

On the four party tickets, there are fourteen candidates filed for the nomination for sheriff alone. Eleven men seek the two party nominations for police judge in Omaha, while more than a dozen desire that office in South Omaha. The field of would-be coroners, justices of the peace, constables and other elective officers is similarly full to overflowing. The average proportion of candidates to available nominations in the republican and democratic parties is more than three to one.

Office Open Till Midnight.

Filings for nominations continued to pour into the office of the election commissioner right up to 5 o'clock Saturday. In fact, the office was kept open a short time after that hour, in order to accommodate late filers. Because of an opinion by Assistant County Attorney Charles H. Haffke, that the law required that filings be made before midnight, under the law, the offices at the court house were kept open five hours later than is usual on Saturdays.

Just Get Under Way.

After the filing offices in the court house had been regularly closed, and it was thought that no more candidates would file, three late ones appeared at different times between 7:30 and 10:30 o'clock, paid their fees and swore to their filing papers. They were: S. R. Spratt, democrat, for county commissioner, First district; Arthur C. Pancoast, republican, for state senator; Henry Monaky, republican, for state representative. Their filings were a surprise, and caused quite a stir among the politicians who had loitered around the court house after closing time.

Two late candidates to pay their filing fees to County Treasurer W. J. Tre were County Commissioners Henry C. McDonald and A. C. Harte. They appeared just as the clock was striking 5 o'clock. Mr. Harte swore to his filing papers, while Mr. McDonald tendered his receipt to Moorehead, but was refused permission to file.

The Commissionerships.

With the payment of filing fees by Commissioners McDonald and Harte, all the present county commissioners except Frank Best had filed or attempted to file, although it was generally understood that only the terms of Commissioner John C. Lynch and Thomas O'Connor had expired. The mix-up was due to the uncertainty of the existing laws governing the terms of office of county officials in Nebraska.

According to a recent supreme court decision, Commissioners Best and Harte still have a year to serve. However, it is supreme court's decision states that three commissioners in Douglas county must run for office this year. Commissioner McDonald filed.

The fact that McDonald's filing was accepted, however, indicates that the election commissioner believes his term will expire with the year. Commissioner Harte's tender of a filing fee is regarded merely as a precaution on his part, taken at the last minute after consulting a lawyer.

Filings Through Friends.

A number of candidates were filed by petitions of their friends. Among these candidates were two out of the city, Samuel G. Hoff, a republican member of the last legislature, is now in California, so his friends filed for him. The same action was taken for James Walsh, former republican member of the house, who is now in Minnesota.

When refused permission to file on both the republican and democratic tickets as a candidate for the nomination for justice of the peace, Justice H. C. Callahan withdrew his papers as a democrat, filed by his friends on petition, and entered his own sworn filing as a republican. The matter had been referred to the county attorney for an interpretation of the statutes involved, and he declared that the laws could not be stretched to allow candidates to run as both democratic and republican, although one might run as republican and progressive, or democrat and people's independent.

Haverly for Register.

Another late filing that was made by D. M. Haverly, now chief clerk in the county clerk's office. At the last minute he filed for the republican nomination for register of deeds.

Leonard Holmberg, who had previously filed for the republican nomination for state representative, changed his mind just before it was too late, and changed his filing to that for the republican county clerk nomination.

FIRE BREAKS OUT ON PASSENGER STEAMER

NEW YORK, July 19.—Fire, which broke out on the steamer Massachusetts of the Eastern Steamship company shortly after the vessel, with 200 passengers on board, had left its pier for Boston early tonight, was extinguished quickly and with little damage, by the help of municipal fireboats and of firemen, then sent on board the endangered vessel to ply its fire hose.

WOMEN WHO LEAD WOMEN—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont (at the right) and her daughter, the Duchess of Marlborough, photographed as they appeared on the platform during the recent "conference" held at Newport, where a number of women, including Maude Ballington Booth, Mrs. Belmont and the Duchess, spoke on suffrage from the portico of the Belmont "Marble House."

AND THIS IS EDITORS' DAY

Pencil Pushers from Over the State Guests of Commercial Club.

BIG LUNCHEON AT THE CLUB

Dinner This Evening at the Field Club, After Which All Will Go to the Den to Visit with the King.

"The Campbells are coming."

Not more cheer did this cry bring to the hearts of the besieged at Lucknow, than brings the cry "The editors are coming," to the hearts of King Ak-Sar-Ben. The editors are coming today. In fact some came Saturday. Others, a few of them, came yesterday. The rest are to pile out of the trains from various parts of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota today.

For this is Editors' day in Omaha. It is the day inaugurated a year ago by the publicity bureau, the day of fun and frolic for the editors.

They are to be entertained at luncheon at the Commercial club dining room and at dinner at the Field club in the evening. Both entertainments being by courtesy of the publicity bureau.

King Ak-Sar-Ben wants to see his scribbling subjects all together, at the Den. He wants to initiate them. He wants to shake their hands, and he wants to tell them once more how glad he is that they are citizens of his realm instead of some other monarch's realm.

The editors have one day in which the city is turned over to them. It is not a convention. They do not come for business. They come for fun. They are invited guests and they have one big day's outing in Omaha.

From the fact that nearly ninety had sent written word that they would come, even up to the last check on letters and cards up to Saturday noon, it is estimated that easily 100 will be here.

Louie Jensen Is Drowned in Missouri River at Florence

Louie Jensen, 12-year-old son of Eric Jensen, 208 Burdette street, Omaha, was drowned in the Missouri river at Florence yesterday afternoon. At a late hour last night the body had not been recovered.

Young Jensen with two companions of about his age were in a row boat on the Nebraska side of the river, about eighty rods above the waterworks intake. As the story goes, Jensen rocked the boat and fell overboard. He immediately sank and did not come to the surface.

TEN-THOUSAND-DOLLAR GIFT FOR KEARNEY Y. M. C. A.

KEARNEY, Neb., July 19.—The filing of the late Dr. W. L. Camp of this city leaves his estate, amounting to $10,000 to the Young Men's Christian association of Kearney, for the purpose of building a permanent building for the association in this city. Mr. Camp gave his widow life equity in the estate, but upon her death the entire amount goes to the Young Men's Christian association. By the leasing of this estate for the building of the building in Kearney, it will be made possible for the men behind the movement here to erect a building within a few years, there having already been a large sum subscribed, but not enough to build the building.

Case Deems May Forget Hitchcock

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., July 19.—(Special.)—The Cass county democratic county convention has been called to meet in Elmwood on Saturday, July 25, for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the state convention in Columbus. It is rumored that resolutions may be adopted giving strong endorsement to the administration of President Wilson and Secretary of State W. J. Bryan, but entirely forgetting Senator Hitchcock.

Commission Named to Revise the School Code Has Meeting

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., July 18.—(Special.)—The commission appointed by the governor to present a revision of the school code at the next legislature has been in continuous session for the last three days in Lincoln. All members of the commission have been present. William Ritchie, Jr., represented the First district, Superintendent N. M. Graham of South Omaha the Second district, Superintendent Charles Arnot of Schuyler the Third district, Superintendent Earl Cline of Geneva the Fourth district, Miss Edith A. Lathrop the Fifth district and Superintendent P. M. Whitehead of Gothenburg the Sixth district. State Superintendent Deibel is a member ex-officio and Addison Sheldon of the legislative reference bureau sat with the commission as an advisory member.

The commission prepared a revision of the present law, which eliminates red tape in the administration of school affairs. It contemplates a more equal distribution of state appropriation of school funds. It goes on record for a non-partisan selection of county superintendents, more comprehensive consolidated school measures, less difficulty in maintaining rural high schools, eliminates third-grade certificates and makes it feasible to deposit funds in hands of district treasurers in banks where the interest thereon will be paid to the district.

Two constitutional amendments were proposed. The first removes the state superintendency from politics. The commission invited a committee consisting of Doctors Luckey, Howard, Wolfe and Caldwell of the state university, to present desirable plans for Nebraska in the matter of the selection of the state superintendent. The second constitutional amendment would make it impossible for any further sale of state school land.

The commission proposed that any water power franchise granted hereafter shall be subject to a charge of 5 per cent of the gross receipts of water plants, said funds to be paid into the state school fund. It has been shown that when the water power of the state is developed a sum of not less than $2,000,000 a year will accrue for the benefit of the state school fund.

The county unit bill will be presented supplemental to the revised code and will in no way effect the present statutes, but will be optional with the county.

The commission adjourned to meet in September, when the entire re-codification will be submitted in legal form and the final report to the governor will be prepared.

STEVENS' PLATFORM PAMPHLET DISTRIBUTED

BEAVER CITY, Neb., July 19.—(Special.)—The republican central committee of Purman county is printing for distribution a small pamphlet embodying the Stevens platform, being the statement recently issued by John Stevens in connection with his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor. It is very short, but Mr. Stevens insists that it covers every issue properly before the voters of Nebraska and therefore ought to be adopted by the state convention.

The platform closes with a prediction that the people will "extend an eager welcome to the republican party in its return to the head of the government, both state and national."

HAS NARROW ESCAPE WHEN AUTOMOBILE TURNS TURTLE

WEBSTER CITY, Ia., July 19.—(Special.)—W. J. Zitterell of this city, widely known over Iowa as a contractor and builder of many huge structures, narrowly escaped death in an automobile this morning, sustaining a broken arm and shoulder.

He was driving a new six-cylinder roadster home from Des Moines. Three miles north of Randall, in turning out for a team at a crossing, his car struck a culvert and turned turtle.

NO CAUCUS IN JONES CASE

Opposition So Strong, Idea of Conference Virtually Abandoned.

CHICAGOAN MAY WITHDRAW

No Vote is Expected to be Taken in Chamber on Nomination Until Late in the Week.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—With President Wilson still standing solidly behind his candidate, suggestions by several democratic senate leaders today for a party conference on the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago to the Federal Reserve board met with such vigorous opposition that the idea virtually was abandoned. Some of the staunchest administration supporters discouraged the plan. Reports that the fight might be ended by withdrawal at the request of Mr. Jones himself were persistent, but administration senators denied any knowledge of their origin. The White House has disclaimed any such intention.

Democrats of the banking committee who voted for confirmation plan to file their report early this week and expect a supplemental statement from Mr. Jones in answer to the majority report which urged his rejection because of his connection with the International Harvester company. No vote in the senate is expected until late next week.

Announcement today by Secretary McAdoo that the three board members already confirmed would not be sworn in Monday as planned was taken to indicate the administration hoped for confirmation of Jones and Warburg in time to organize the board at one time.

WEBSTER REPUBLICANS NAME DELEGATES

RED CLOUD, Neb., July 20.—(Special.)—The republican convention of Webster county was held at the court house here yesterday. Colonel C. W. Kaley presided. The following were chosen delegates to the state convention and authorized to fill any vacancies in the representation from Webster county republicans who might be at the state convention: D. M. Garber, J. S. Gilman, G. Ohmsted, W. C. Frahm, W. D. Edson, Will Norris, E. S. Garber, J. H. Ellinger, W. G. Hamilton, C. W. Kaley, G. W. Hummel, John Cray.

F. R. Florence was elected chairman of the central committee and George H. Overing was elected secretary.

The delegation was instructed to use all legitimate means for the co-operation and reorganization of the various elements of the republican party in Nebraska for the coming contest with an ancient and a common enemy.

HARMONY PREVAILS AT NELIGH G. O. P. CONVENTION

NELIGH, Neb., July 19.—(Special.)—The republican county convention met here yesterday with a large attendance and the best of feeling prevailed. All factions united and there is no sign of division now in the party ranks. Delegates were elected to the state convention and resolutions were passed endorsing the candidacy of George Coupland for regent of the university and W. H. Avery for congress.

BULLA IS RE-ELECTED HEAD OF STOCK BOARD

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 19.—(Special Telegram.)—The Live Stock Sanitary board of the state met yesterday and transacted business of minor importance and then re-elected J. A. Bulla of South Omaha president of the board.

RAIN IN THE SOUTHWEST PUTS CORN IN FINE SHAPE

CAMBRIDGE, Neb., July 19.—(Special Telegram.)—Half an inch of rain fell today, breaking the hot wave. Corn is in the best shape ever known here.

TRIPLE MURDER IS REENACTED AT PLACE OF CRIME

Police, Detectives and Witnesses View Fantasmic in Hope of Solving Mystery.

THINK ONLY THREE INVOLVED

Possible to Explain Shooting on Theory They Were Quarreling Among Selves.

P. SCHROEDER HAD REVOLVER

May Have Been Snatched from Pocket by Rapp, Who Fired First.

WEAPON WRESTED FROM HIM

This is Substance of Chief of Police Dunn's Explanation of Tragedy in Light of What is Known by Those Who Saw Shooting.

With police reporters for the three daily newspapers portraying the characters of the victims, and Chief of Police Dunn, Chief of Detectives Maloney, Captain Dempsey and Detective Fleming for an audience, the triple murder of last Wednesday night was re-enacted at 10 o'clock last night under the direction of the men and women who were eye-witnesses to the shooting, re-enacted just as the witnesses saw it, except for the shooting.

The stars in the sky overhead represented the "houselights" and proscenium of the outdoor theater, where the dramatic playlet was given last night. Twenty-third street and Pierce was the "theater" and the "stage" was the exact spot where Pete Schroeder, Fred Schroeder and William Rapp fell mortally wounded. Hushed and staring women round eyed youngsters clinging to their mother's skirts stolid and reticent men puffing stolidly at pipes filled out the audience.

Changes View of Police. The "playacting" was done to give the police a coherent idea of the tragedy—something that has been almost impossible heretofore because of the jumble of detail and revised and revised again stories of witnesses and relatives. The outcome was that the police now believe that there are no other persons connected in the tragedy except those now in the coroner's morgue.

George Selix, 2251 Pierce, whose home is nearest the scene of the shooting, has always maintained that the three men shot each other to death. His words were corroborated by Mrs. Connolly, next door neighbor, who was also a witness. Mrs. Quade, who was also a witness, Mrs. Quade says she heard seven shots fired; the other two say there were only six. Upon this point alone rests the only difference in stories.

George Selix, at the request of Chief Dunn placed the three newspaper men in attitudes exactly the same as those of the three men now dead. The officials retired to the front porch of the Selix home, where they could see under the same difficulties that met Selix, when the pistol battle was in progress.

Hears First Shot.

"They had a jug of beer, the three of them, and they were sitting there on the sidewalk drinking and squabbling with each other. I could not hear their conversation, except at intervals, and then it was without meaning to me. Just before the shooting commenced, I heard the exclamation: 'You lie, damn you.' Then I heard a shot and then another. Then two more. An interval of perhaps a minute elapsed and then two more shots were fired. I saw the man who fired the last shot. He was wearing a stiff straw hat and a light shirt. The man he was shooting at was on his feet in the road, which is about five feet away from the sidewalk and three feet below it. He was wearing a light shirt too.

Who Did Shooting?

"A man wearing dark clothing was at the side of the man doing the shooting. When the shooting stopped, the man in the road crawled away towards the south and the man in the straw hat, and the one with the dark clothes went west together, halting every few paces. Soon after I went outside, I found no revolver, but only a torn shirt sleeve, which the

(Continued on Page Two.)

Answer To Manufacturers

What is good advertising? Good advertising is the kind that makes customers want what you have to sell. What is the best advertising? The best advertising is the kind that makes people want and then demand your product.

Does any advertising medium offer an opportunity to create both desire and demand for a product?

Yes, the daily newspaper does this, first by interesting the consumer in the home and then by sending her direct to the dealer's counter.

Write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, if you are interested in national newspaper advertising.

The Weather

Table with 3 columns: Temperature at Omaha Yesterday, Hours, and Dew. It lists temperatures for various hours and compares local records for 1914, 1913, 1912, 1911, and 1910. It also includes data for highest and lowest temperatures, mean temperature, precipitation, and wind velocity.

Zapata's Banditti Pillaging Villages Near Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, July 19.—Fugitives who arrived yesterday from Contreras and Tizapan, villages few miles from Mexico City, report a serious movement by the forces under Zapata. Contreras was attacked by the Zapatistas early this morning. The garrison, consisting only of seventeen federal soldiers, was driven off, and the Zapatistas to the number of several thousand started pillaging and burning the houses. Tizapan is only twelve miles from here and connects directly with the capital by an electric railway. Many of the inhabitants of villages in the federal district are fleeing to the capital for protection. They fear outrages and an attack by the Zapata adherents on the suburbs. Federal troops were dispatched from the capital tonight to check the advance of the marauders.