DOUGLAS COUNTY AT LINCOLN

Delegation Shows Utmost of Harmony in Its Caucus Action.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS

Searle Recommended for Permanent Chairman of the Convention—Central Committee Members Also Chosen.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., July 28.—Without a hitch the Douglas county delegation went into caucus in the ball room of the Lindell hotel immediately on arrival in Lincoln. Harmony and unanimity of action characterized the meeting. Judge Searle was elected chairman and Ray Crossman of Dundee, secretary of the delegation.

On motion of Harry Byrnes of Omaha, A. W. Jefferis was nominated to the resolution committee by Douglas county and J. A. Palmer to the credentials committee, not subject to the confirmation of the state convention.

Amos Thomas was recommended by the same motion for the secretaryship of the state convention.

On motion of H. C. Murphy of South Omaha the following names were recommended as Douglas county's choice for the state committee: M. L. Learned, E. F. Bratley, A. W. Jefferis, L. S. Byrne and P. J. Martin.

On Intimate Measures.

Judge W. W. Slabaugh introduced the following resolution:

"That the republican state convention do not attempt to influence the action of the voters of Nebraska on measures coming before the people on the initiative and referendum or on the constitutional amendments. We assert that these questions are non-partisan and have no place in the party platform."

Douglas county will support S. A. Searle for permanent chairman of the convention.

Everything bespeaks harmony of action at the convention. About ninety of the Douglas county delegation are in attendance at the convention. South Omaha's delegation shows but one absentee. The South Omaha delegates held a caucus of their own before the meeting of the Douglas county delegation as a whole. T. J. McGuire of South Omaha was chosen chairman of the South Omaha delegation.

REPUBLICANS OF NEBRASKA LINE UP SOLID FRONT

son of the state committee called the convention to order. Mr. Epperson addressed the convention, saying that never in the history of the party had the prospects been so great for republican victory. "For two years the republican party has had two chairmen who have been trying to bring about harmony," he said, "and it is with great pleasure that I now turn over the convention to the other chairman, Mr. Currie."

Loud applause greeted the announcement and, in taking the gavel, Mr. Currie said that for two years he had been hoping to see a convention united as this one. Mr. Currie then explained that the two committees had agreed on Senator E. L. King for temporary chairman and Amos Thomas and I. H. Rensan as secretaries. Prayer was offered by Rev. Luther P. Ludden and Senator King took the chair after a motion had been carried to ratify the selections by the two committees.

Address of Mr. King. Chairman King briefly addressed the convention, calling attention to the honorable achievements of the republican party and predicted, that again reunited, it would continue to bring great things in a truly progressive manner to the whole country. He compared the work of the republican party since its birth with that of the democratic party whenever it has been in power and said that at no time has the latter been able to successfully cope with the problems which confronted the country.

He called attention to the efforts of the democratic party to bring about something to counteract the bad effects which had been brought about by the nullification of the republican tariff bill and added that the country was beginning to understand the demoralizing effect of a free trade tariff bill.

Mr. King touched briefly on the factional strife of two years ago, brought about by loyalty to party leaders, but he said that the demoralizing effect of democratic rule upon the country had had the effect of bringing the party solidly together and in 1912 it would again take charge of the affairs of the country.

He ridiculed the foreign policy of the present administration in the Colombia matter and its policy in the handling of the Panama canal controversy and said it was an insult to every American citizen because it was a surrendering of American rights to foreign demands.

Committee on Platform.

Touching on state matters Mr. King said that all the important progressive legislation made in this state was made by republican legislatures. The republican party of Nebraska has been a progressive party and republican governors have enforced the laws.

On motion of S. A. Searle of Omaha the temporary organization was made permanent. The list of delegates, as reported to the state committee, was adopted. On another motion by Mr. Searle the chair was given authority to appoint the committee on resolutions.

The committee was appointed as follows: First district, Paul Jensen, Nebraska City; Second district, A. W. Jefferis, Omaha; Third district, H. P. Shumway, Wakefield; Fourth district, C. E. Randall, York; Fifth district, J. F. Corcoran, McCook; Sixth district, H. H. Andrews, Callaway; at large, H. M. Bushnell, Lincoln.

State Central Committee. The convention took a recess until 2 o'clock in order to give the committee on resolutions an opportunity to prepare a report, but on reconvening the committee was not ready and the following were elected as members of the state central committee:

State Central Committee.

The resolutions were read by H. M. Bushnell, chairman of the resolutions committee and the report was adopted.

While waiting for the committee on resolutions to report, candidates for the republican nomination were invited to address the convention. Ross L. Hammond of Fremont, J. H. Kemp of Pullerton, John Stevens of Beaver City, R. B. Howell of Omaha and J. O. Yeiser of Omaha each spoke for ten minutes.

Debating Primary Plank.

When the resolutions prepared by the committee were read no objection was made to any plank until the close of the reading when I. D. Evans of Kearney moved to strike out the plank relative to the primary.

This brought on a fusillade of speeches and a final agreement by Evans to accept an amendment by Searle of Douglas that the legislature be instructed to amend the primary law by the way side when Evans said he did not understand Searle's amendment, withdrew his agreement and stated that his first motion be put. Senator Hodgland of North Platte offered a motion to strike out the irrigation plank. With a heavy rain falling on the roofs speakers could not be heard twenty feet away, adding to the confusion.

To settle the matter Chairman King declared the whole motion out of order and Evans made his motion over again to strike out the primary plank and it was carried.

Hodgland then moved to amend the irrigation plank by urging members in congress to ask the government to release water from its reservoirs. Instead of the convention taking action only in the form of a resolution.

Art Weaver of Richardson offered a resolution asking the legislature to remedy the defects in the primary law, which brought on a heated argument. The amendment was lost.

At the close of the adoption of the report of the committee on resolutions, S. A. Searle of Omaha, secured the floor and said: "Just after this convention was called to order, today, word was received of the death of Mrs. Edward Rosewater of Omaha, and I would like to offer the following resolution and move its adoption by the convention:

"Whereas, soon after the convening of the convention today, word was received of the death of Mrs. Edward Rosewater, wife of a former well known editor of the state and a republican who has done much for the party and who has been identified in the past with the upbuilding of the state, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that this convention express its sorrow and convey to the bereaved family its sincere sympathy and condolence."

Platform Republican Party for 1914

Republican Platform, 1914. The republican party, in convention assembled, reaffirms its faith in the principles of republicanism as expounded by the great men who led the party to triumph and victory during the last half century. Now as ever the party stands for those ideals of government which most for the benefit of the people among men. We reassert our faith in the republican policy of protection, which aims not to restrict or to burden the excessive duties that security against foreign competition to which American manufacturers, farmers and shopkeepers are entitled, but also to maintain the high standard of living of the wage-earners of this country and the most direct beneficiaries of the protective system.

We condemn the present democratic national administration, its repeated violation of public faith with the people. It promised a revision of the tariff which would not disturb business. It has enacted a tariff of measure which has depressed and prostrated business to an extent unknown since the last democratic administration. It has discriminated against every product from the fertile lands of Nebraska and from the factories and shops of the different towns of this state and has opened our markets to the manufacture of India, China and other foreign countries and the wheat, oats, corn and cattle of Canada and Argentina, thereby bringing our own farmers and stockmen, and our workers to a state of want and destitution to which we and our children are unwilling to submit.

Our tariff should be so adjusted that all duties shall be adjusted to the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad.

Treaty with Colombia.

We believe Colombia has no shadow of claim on this nation for the acquisition of the Panama canal zone, and we condemn this administration for its proposal to yield to Colombia's unwarranted demand for the payment of $25,000,000 as set forth in the CANADIAN THRILLS THE FANS Wins Three Matches in Western Tennis Title Tourney.

CELEBRITIES MOSTLY WIN. John C. Neeley, Veteran, However, Falls Before Roder—Burdick Has Trouble Beating Horrell.

LAKE FOREST, Ill., July 28.—R. B. Powell, Canada's Davis cup captain, thrilled tennis fans at Lake Forest today by winning three matches in the western championship tournament. In the preliminary round he downed L. P. Brintwell of Chicago and Kansas City by the one-sided score of 6-0, 6-1, and with the same figures won from James Weber, a local schoolboy crack. It remained for Al Lindauer, a Chicago boy, to give the alien a battle, and he did so, winning the first three games. Then Powell showed a flash of Davis cup form and won the match, 6-4, 6-0.

There were a lot of hard fought matches in the singles. R. E. Foster, an Evanston star, had a stiff struggle before he triumphed over H. A. Hess of St. Louis, 6-3, 7-9, 7-7, and Peter Ball overcame W. U. Knight of Minneapolis by a score of 6-2, 6-4 in the first round. He viciously had a tough contest with W. E. Blatherwick of Iowa, holder of the North Dakota championship, but won, 6-4, 6-6, 6-3.

Celebrities were mostly successful, but John C. Neeley, a veteran, fell before Henry Roder, Ralph Burdick had some trouble beating W. A. Horrell, another Californian, but won 6-4, 6-2 and then easily disposed of E. H. Smith of Texas.

In the women's singles, Miss Carrie B. Neeley was the favorite who won Miss Mary K. Anderson in the first round, the national champion, is to arrive tomorrow, and Miss Gwendolyn Rees of Dallas, Tex., the western title holder is expected then. An interesting challenge round is expected if Miss Browne goes through the tournament.

Washington Affairs

The conference report of the Lever cotton bill was agreed to by the house by a vote of 148 to 79. It goes to the senate today. The bill would put a prohibitive tax on all contracts for cotton not based on government standard.

Platform Republican Party for 1914. We believe the state to be the greatest business enterprise within its borders and that the efforts should be regulated with the same efficiency and economy that characterizes the management of private industry.

We hereby commend the last republican state administration for its efficiency, economy and attention to the people's interests, calling the attention of the people to the fact that the last republican administration cost the state of Nebraska nearly $2,000,000 less than the present democratic administration.

We believe good roads are one of the most potent civilizing influences of this age, and we advocate the enactment of legislation that will foster the construction and maintenance of better highways, and that will insure the more economical expenditure of funds raised for the purpose.

Agriculture is the dominant business interest of Nebraska and the soul of the state the potential factor supporting the same. We heartily favor a more generous financial support to our central experimental station at the university and substations that adequate means will be provided to carry on properly agricultural research which will be of advantage to the farmers of the state.

Favor New National Rule.

Approval is hereby given to the proposed change in rules of the national committee relating to representation in national conventions.

Looking with pride upon the achievements of the republican party in the past and with equal confidence for work yet to be done by it, we hereby invite the support of the citizens of the state of Nebraska to the principles set forth in this platform. In the end that the republican candidates may be elected and these principles be carried into effect.

Populists Endorse Equal Suffrage at State Convention

HASTINGS, Neb., July 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Approximately one hundred delegates attended the state convention of the people's independent party today, and decided to continue the old organization. Judge Stark of Aurora, was the permanent chairman. Aurora was laid to celebrate the silver jubilee of the party in 1917. For this year's campaign headquarters will be established in Lincoln, with Frank D. Esker in charge, as chairman, and E. A. Walrath of Oconto as secretary.

A. G. Bloomfield of Minn.-Iowa was elected treasurer. The resolutions reported by a committee of which T. H. Tibbles of Omaha was chairman, and Charles DeFrance of Lincoln was secretary, provide as follows: Endorses woman's suffrage.

Favors income, corporation and other progressive tax reforms. Approves the federal reclamation act as an equipment for verdict of justice. Favors senate of fifteen members and house of forty-five members, both houses to meet jointly for consideration of important measures.

Favors non-voting poll tax. Endorses Wilson administration, also Bryan and Hittcock and the Molehead state administration. Proposes public warehouse system.

Granary Burned at Table Rock.

TABLE ROCK, Neb., July 28.—(Special.)—At the farm house of Clyde Wilson, three miles west of here, a fire occurred which the family was away from home, consuming a chicken house and a granary and the neighborhood who gathered had hard work to save the barn and other outbuildings. The building was covered with a metal roof and no other solution to the problem than spontaneous combustion is thought to be possible, unless it was the work of an incendiary.

Broken Bow Chautauqua a Success.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., July 28.—(Special.)—The chautauqua this year has exceeded all expectations in point of attendance, the tent being filled at every session, crowds coming from all parts of the county. The Public Service club of the city is mainly responsible for the big business, it having taken over the whole affair and practically making a home enterprise of it.
