COUNCIL BLUFFS MASSACRE

High School Boys Have an Easy Time with the Visitors.

OMAHA'S GAME FROM START

Localy Lads Natled Their Victor Down in the Early Part of the Contest and Held It There Throughout Contest.

Omaha High school massacred Council Bluffs High school eleven with the score of 54 to 0, to a walksway gridiron contest at Rourke park Friday afternoon. The game from start to finish was Omaha's property and the local lads experienced no difficulty whatever in toppling over the Council Bluffs line when ever they so desired. At no point in the game was the Omaha goal in danger and the visitors were unable at any time during the contest to advance the ball nearer than twenty yards to the home goal posts.

A slight superiority in weight enabled the high school lads to gain the victory although the local team consists practically of second team men. The high school team has met with more adverse conditions in the way of withdrawals and removals this season than for years, seven of the team's ablest players having been dropped from the lineup since the beginning of the season.

As a result Coach Mills sent his men onto the field with few hopes of anything more than a tied score. The Council Bluffs line was fairly strong during the first half, but crumpled to pieces in the second period and Omaha sent its men through for six touchdowns in rapid suc-

credit for the victory and especially the large score was due entirely to the lightning work of Platz, Omaha's the star of every gridiron contest of the season, but surpassed himself in Fri-

Platz started the ball rolling by carrying the pigskin under Council Bluffs' goal posts twice in immediate succession in the first quarter and followed this shortly after by a third touchdown. He was in complete control of the backfield from the first blowing of the whistle until the end of the game and allowed nothing to get by him. It was on line plunges for advances of twenty yards and more, however, that Platz showed himself to his best advantage. The crowd of enthusiastic rooters went wild and yelled itself hourse when in the third period Platz obtained the ball in Omaha's territory and carried it in a flying fifty-yard sprint toward Council Bluffs' goal and planted it safely behind the posts for another touchdown. All in all Platz piled up twenty-five of the fifty-four points himself, in addition to aidthe remaining points

The contest was characterized by frequent penalizations for holding and offside, but was too one-sided an affair to permit of rough work of any nature. The scrimmage work of the game was farcical throughout, the local lads forcpaper. McIntonh Was Active.

The fast work on Council Bluffs' part was executed by McIntonh, quarterback, and Landon, right half. Lack of concerted effort and numerous fumbles also aided in the Council Bluffs' defeat. in addition to the team's inferiority in The lineup in the game was:

GIANT BACKERS PAY FOR FEED FOR ASSOCIATES

Payment in full for another base ball bet was made Thursday night when the office force of the Omaha Light and Power company banqueted at the Rome hotel. A small but select crowd of Giant followers had a hunch that McGraw's team would cop the rag, and the other fellows were just as obstinate in their choice of the Athletics. The result was they all ate and the Athletic backers didn't pay. The following base ball bugs were therewith bells on: W. J. Bartlett, Joe Carnaby, Tom Hanley, Pete Bristow, Nels Murtagh, George Gavin, Jack Barry, Tom Crosby, Harry Mooney, Vernon Ragon, Elmer Forsberg, Carl Sandstedt, Bob Brinzer, C. J.
