BRITISH ATTITUDE FRIENDLY

Foreign Office Says Policy in Mexico is Misconstrued.

ACTION IS CALLED COINCIDENCE

New Ambassador Presented Credentials on Day Huerta Became Dictator in Order to Obtain Official Status.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Walter H. Page, the United States ambassador, this afternoon discussed the situation in Mexico with the British foreign office officials.

The view of the British government is that the policy of Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister to Mexico, is not antagonistic to the point of view of the United States and it is pointed out as merely a coincidence that Sir Lionel Carden presented his credentials simultaneously with Provisional President Huerta's declaration of a dictatorship.

The fact that Great Britain has recognized Provisional President Huerta, rendered it necessary, it is argued here, that the British minister should present his credentials without delay to obtain official standing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Ambassador Page's inquiries today at the British foreign office were made to ascertain the attitude of the British government in the Mexican situation. The United States had been led to believe moral support for its policy would be given by Great Britain, but disappointment was felt when the very day after General Huerta announced himself as dictator and nullified constitutional restrictions Sir Lionel Carden presented his credentials to Señor Huerta.

That was looked on with disfavor by the administration here and it has been reported that Sir Lionel Carden had been otherwise active to thwart the policy of the United States. It is thought that Ambassador Page will make clear to the British foreign office the displeasure of the United States at such activities.

Refugee Reach San Diego. SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 20.—There were sixty-two foreigners of many nationalities among the 90 refugees from Mexico aboard the United States army transport Buford, which arrived here last night from the west coast of Mexico and proceeded today to San Francisco. Over 150 refugees were landed here.

Among those aboard the Buford was Captain R. C. Works, an uncle of United States Senator John D. Works of California. Captain Works has been in Mexico since 1911. He is enroute to Washington.

Charles Perkins, special agent of the Red Cross, aboard the Buford, said today he would file charges against Captain Griffin, the army officer in charge of the transport as soon as the vessel reached San Francisco. He declined to state the nature of the charges, but it was believed by refugees that friction as to who was in charge of the passengers had arisen during the voyage.

Episcopal Church Elects Four Bishops

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Four missionary bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church were elected today by the house of bishops at the general convention. They are bishop of North Dakota, Hugh Burleson of New York City; bishop of Spokane, W. B. Capers of Columbia, Tenn.; bishop of Cuba, Marlow H. Gates of New York City; bishop of New Mexico, G. C. Howland of Georgetown, D. C.

The action of the house of bishops must be ratified by the house of deputies before the new bishops are appointed, but it is practically certain that the choice made by the former body will be allowed to stand.

Dr. Burleson, chosen for bishop of North Dakota, is secretary of the church in general convention with headquarters in this city. Dr. Capers is principal of the Columbia Institute for Girls at Columbia, Tenn. Dr. Marlow H. Gates is vicar of the chapel of the Intercession of New York. Dr. Howland is rector of St. John's church at Georgetown.

The Protestant Episcopal church in general convention was called on today to demand a "more equitable distribution of wealth and a just return for work." A resolution to this effect, introduced in the house of deputies by Ralph Gardner, a lay delegate from Providence, R. I., was one of the most radical the convention has had to deal with along this line. The deputies voted down a request to consider the resolution and it was referred to the committee on social service.

A movement for a "preaching mission of wide proportions"—what some other denominations would term evangelical work—was started by a resolution introduced by the Rev. James E. Freeman of Minneapolis.

Mr. Gardner's social service measure aroused comment by its unsparring denunciation of present social conditions. "The most disproportionate inequalities and glaring injustices," it said, "as well as misunderstandings, prejudice and hatred as between employer and employee are widespread in our social and industrial life." It declared that the church declare itself for the ideal of social justice and asked every communicant to study conditions and try to remedy them.

The house of deputies adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to make a general investigation of business methods of the church and recommend reforms at the next convention.

SAY RATES FAVOR NEBRASKA

Kansas Traffic Associations Allege Roads Discriminate.

BANANA TARIFFS THE TROUBLE

Complaint Made to Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner by Topeka Body at Hearing.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 20.—Evidence to support the complaints of various traffic associations and commercial organizations in Kansas that the freight tariffs on bananas shipped from New Orleans and Galveston to Topeka, Wichita and Hutchinson are unjustly discriminatory as compared with the rates to Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota points was submitted here today at a hearing before C. R. Marshall, special examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The specific complaints under consideration were one filed by the traffic association of Topeka to the effect that the railroads in fixing the rates had discriminated against Topeka in favor of Lincoln and Beatrice, Neb., and another in which commercial organizations of Wichita and Hutchinson charged that the rates on bananas from the Gulf of Mexico to those points were both discriminatory and unreasonable.

Among those aboard the Buford was Captain R. C. Works, an uncle of United States Senator John D. Works of California. Captain Works has been in Mexico since 1911. He is enroute to Washington.

Charles Perkins, special agent of the Red Cross, aboard the Buford, said today he would file charges against Captain Griffin, the army officer in charge of the transport as soon as the vessel reached San Francisco. He declined to state the nature of the charges, but it was believed by refugees that friction as to who was in charge of the passengers had arisen during the voyage.

ORDER EXCLUDING MRS. PANKHURST IS REVERSED BY WILSON

for the crimes of which she has been convicted for "the cause" in England.

Attorneys for Mrs. Pankhurst resumed their argument before Commissioner Caminetti where they left off yesterday.

Today's hearing was more colorful than yesterday's, which was informal. Acting Secretary Post and Chief Parker of the law division sat with Commissioner Caminetti and the array of attorneys was drawn up in a battery at a line of tables. There was a crush for admission to the small chamber and it quickly was filled with women, who did not reveal their sympathies.

Herbert Reeves, attorney for the British leader, first presented a long brief reviewing first the facts and then contended that the acts of which Mrs. Pankhurst had been convicted in England were purely political offenses and did not involve moral turpitude, the real question at issue.

His argument was long and technical and cited portions of sections in many immigration cases and some of the works of John Bassett Moore, now acting secretary of state, an authority on international law. He quoted Mrs. Pankhurst's testimony before the immigration inspectors at Ellis Island and concluded:

"From that testimony it is respectfully submitted that at the time of the commission of the acts complained of there was an uprising or revolt on the part of the women in England; that this uprising or revolt was of a political nature and that any crimes committed by Mrs. Pankhurst, if any were committed by her, were crimes purely of a political nature and not such as to involve moral turpitude."

"The mere detail of lectures or speeches urging women to strive for what she believed to be their legal and political rights is certainly an act intended to forward and help a political cause, and such act therefore must be deemed, if an offense at all, a political offense. Nor can it be claimed or successfully asserted that mere urging of her hearers to destroy property, if necessary to bring about the desired result, is an act involving moral turpitude."

Promises to Be Good. Attorney O'Neil referred to Mrs. Pankhurst's pledge that she would conduct herself in a lawful manner while in this country. "She has made that pledge to the American people and she will keep it," declared the lawyer with eloquence.

"In every shop and factory in this land today women's heads are bowed in mute appeal to this department for the liberty of this distinguished woman."

Commissioner Caminetti asked if Mrs. Pankhurst intended to preach immorality here.

"Emphatically no," responded O'Neil. "We have her assurances on that point and we state them to you as strongly as possible."

Mr. Caminetti announced that he would not take into consideration the suffragist's lecture contracts, nor would he consider argument pertaining to the recent case of Marie Lloyd, the English music hall singer.

Copies of clippings from London newspapers on the activities and arrests of Mrs. Pankhurst were excluded from the record and the hearing was closed with Commissioner Caminetti's announcement that he would give an opinion later today.

Wants Great Britain and France to Get Busy in Mexico

PARIS, Oct. 20.—The Figaro has received information that a group of Mexican statesmen, whose names are not disclosed, have approached the French and British governments calling attention to the resulting advantages of the United States were not the sole power directly interested in Mexican affairs. The Figaro says: "The group suggested particularly that prudently directed action would increase French and English prestige in Mexico and establish a precedent in conformity with justice and international law."

Today is Birthday of Incandescent Lamp

Today is the thirty-fourth anniversary of the invention of the incandescent lamp by Thomas A. Edison. It has been perfected since its invention, until at present the Edison-Maxda lamp gives ten times as much light as the original Edison lamp and three times as much light as the best carbon lamp now made.

Edison's first incandescent lamp made at Menlo Park, N. J., consisted of a carbonized piece of cotton sewing thread bent into a loop of horseshoe form and was sealed in a glass globe, from which the air was afterwards exhausted. This lamp, when put on the circuit, lighted up brightly to incandescence, and lasted for forty hours. This was considered to be the first practical incandescent lamp.

Shortly afterwards Edison's famous "Paper Horseshoe" lamp appeared, which was considered by many to have been the first thoroughly commercial lamp. The filament of this lamp was cut out of a piece of Bristol board, which in carbonizing, shrank about one-third in size. Incandescent lamps have been improved from that time, until today they are so efficient that Mr. Edison states: "Electric light is the only thing I know of that has grown cheaper within the last twenty years."

SPRING BLUFF IN BELLS CASE

Police Records Used to Show Israel Landau is Alive.

DEFENSE TAKES UP GAUNTLET

Prosecution Told to Produce Him in Court So People Can See the Man Who Utilized Christian Blood.

KIEV, Russia, Oct. 20.—A surprise was sprung by the prosecution today during the trial of Mendel Bellis for the murder of a Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March, 1911.

Documents were produced to counter the evidence of the defense that the men Landau and Ettlinger, who had been said to be implicated in the crime, were merely harmless visitors to Kiev and quite unconnected with the murder.

The books of the police department showed that Israel Landau, who crossed the frontier in October, 1910, recrossed on March 23, 1911, a few days after the discovery of the murder.

According to the police, Israel Landau was in Kiev on March 23. Landau testified that his father, Israel Landau, died in 1912, at Kiev and was buried in the Jewish cemetery. He also swore that he did not know any Israel Landau or any other Landau outside his family.

The court admitted the documents, but on the demand of the defense ordered the prosecution to produce details regarding Israel Landau by Wednesday, otherwise the defense would be authorized to obtain the particulars from the police.

Counsel for the defense remarked satirically that the appearance of Israel Landau was desirable, "as it would be interesting to see at least one member of the sect which utilized Christian blood."

Gaevsky, who was janitor at the house where the Tcheberlak family, neighbors of the Yushinsky, lived in 1911, described some mysterious happenings he had observed. One day, Gaevsky swore, he overheard Vera Tcheberlak say two of the visitors were "in the way and must be got rid of."

Vera Tcheberlak declared that Gaevsky was an employe who had been dismissed for maltreating the children.

Gaevsky, an artisan, who lived in the Tcheberlak house, in 1911, testified that Vignaroff, the former detective, and Bruskovsky, the newspaper man connected with the case, had told him Mendel Bellis was innocent of the crime and something must be done to obtain his release. They vainly tried to persuade him to place Andrew Yushinsky's school books in Vera Tcheberlak's room, so that the police could find them there.

MAN WITH STOLEN TEAM TAKEN BACK TO OSCEOLA

LOGAN, Ia., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Wilber Moore, apprehended by Sheriff Rock and others four miles west of Dunlap Saturday with a stolen team and covered conveyance, also stolen property from Persis and other places, well supplied with camping outfit, rifle and a large supply of cartridges, was taken back to Clark county Sunday by Sheriff Eggleston, who came for him. The team belonged to a man named Howe near Osceola, the home of Wilber Moore.

The young man gave Sheriff Rock an order to take the goods back to the Dunlap merchants from whom he purchased them with a worthless check.

When the Clark county sheriff reached here the recognition between him and Moore was mutual.
