Manifestos Call People to Avenge Yushinsky's Death

KIEV, Oct. 20.—Telegrams from Minak and other towns report anti-Semitic activity and the distribution of manifestos calling upon the populace to avenge on the Jews the murder of Yushinsky. The trial of Mendel Belia, who is charged with having murdered the boy, was continued today, but little important testimony was forthcoming. An old neighbor of the Tcheberlaks, named Vishnirsky, testified that about two months after the murder, the wife of his friend Ravitch told him that she had seen Yushinsky's body in a bath tub in the Tcheberlak house. Ravitch and his wife have since emigrated to the United States, their passage, Ravitch told Vishnirsky, having been paid by Vera Tcheberlak, the reputed head of a band of thieves. This was the only interesting testimony at the sitting, but it made little impression because Vishnirsky had not mentioned it when previously examined by a magistrate.

VICTIMS OF ASSAULT STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Meat Injurious to the Kidneys

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who wants us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Advertisement

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Prisoner at City Jail Badly Beaten by Another Prisoner.

EAGLES' BAZAAR A SUCCESS Members of the Order Hope to Wipe Out the Debt on Their Home Before the End of the Week's Carnival.

Pat Delaney held in the south Omaha police station Saturday night on a charge of drunkenness in the South Omaha hospital with a badly battered head and face sustained at the feet and fists of John Incho, a fellow prisoner Saturday night. Delaney's eyes are totally closed and he is severely cut about the head and face by the shoes of Incho, whom the police say committed the assault in the cell some few minutes after Incho had been arrested in company with Wade Hampton, for an assault upon Carl Pregel, an elderly man, residing at Twenty-fourth and Q streets.

According to the story told by Pregel, he was on his way home from the Eagle Bazaar, when Hampton and Incho accosted him with the statement that Hampton could lick him. Without more ado, Hampton made good his threat and hit Pregel in the eye. Officer Tom Quinn happened on the scene and arrested Hampton and Incho. Pregel at the station asked that Incho be released as having nothing to do with the assault, but the police held him for being in the company of Hampton, who was under the influence of drink. At the police station, Jailer Mike Corrigan had to use force to subdue Hampton. A few minutes after the two men were locked up the police were attracted to the cell room by the cries of other prisoners, who shouted that one of their number was being beaten to death. The officers rushed the cell room and found Delaney in a condition bordering on unconsciousness as a result of being kicked and beaten. The police say Incho committed the deed, although Delaney refused to accuse any one. Dr. E. J. Humpal attended Delaney and found his injuries so great that he was ordered to the South Omaha hospital. Incho was given an additional charge of assault and battery.

Bazaar a Success.

Proceeds from the Eagle bazaar for Saturday and Sunday nights have given the Eagles such encouragement that they expect to wipe out the final $2,000 debt upon their home at Twenty-third and N streets. President Roy Waters of the local association with the assistance of the other officers of the lodge has succeeded in devising a plan of entertainment at once remunerative from a monetary standpoint and free from objectional features.

Besides the German Village, which is open to the public the cabaret features of the dining room and the dance upstairs are proving very popular. The cabaret feature is a new one and the singing and dancing are being supplied by actresses from different show houses in Omaha and South Omaha. The dances are conducted according to conservative lines and only the old two-steps and waltzes are tolerated. The tango and other modern turns are kept out of the dance hall, according to President Waters. The show will continue until next Sunday.

Falls from Street Car.

Jacob Panek, a police man residing near Twenty-seventh and L street, was thrown from a West L car yesterday afternoon near Thirty-third and L street, and painfully injured about the head. Panek, according to statements made by the police attempted to jump from the car in the middle of the block and was hurled to the ground with such force that it was thought for a time that his skull had been fractured. Police Officer William Coulter picked the injured man up and rushed him to the station in an automobile, where Dr. E. J. Shanahan dressed his wounds. The car crew reported at the station, but Officer Coulter merely took their names. Panek is not seriously injured.

AT THE THEATERS

ATTRACTIONS IN OMAHA.

American: "Mrs. Black is Back." Boyd: "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Empress: Vaudeville. Gaiety: Burlesque. Orpheum: Vaudeville.

"Mrs. Black is Back" at the American. As if calculated to augment the regret which the announcement of Miss Lang's transfer to Denver has caused, the play which she is giving this, her last week at the American, is peculiarly suited to her best talents. Moreover, the other members of her company have an opportunity to make a happy farewell to their Omaha friends.

"Mrs. Black is Back" is the title of the piece, and if the wishes of the host of the popular star's admirers could be accomplished, this title would presage another, "Miss Lang is Back." The play is an exceedingly funny comedy, written especially for Miss May Irwin, and if Mr. George V. Hobart, the author, could have seen Miss Lang last night in the leading role he might have forgotten which lady he really did have in mind.

From the time Mrs. Black slices off seven years of her age, placing the figure at 25, instead of 32, thus entrancing heretic in a web of lies occasioned by the home-coming of her 17-year-old son, reduced to 10 by his mother's curtailed figure, until she extricates herself with a clean breast of affairs to her husband, exclaiming, "You took me for worse and I've made good," the play is a constant scream.

The dancing of Mr. Tustin and songs by Lew Welch were specialties introduced during the course of the performance and pleased the large audience immensely. Speaking with a great deal of feeling, Miss Lang asserted last night that leaving Omaha was like leaving home; that she was sorry from the bottom of her heart that her departure was necessary. "I do so wish my friends really knew how much Omaha has meant to me," said she, "and how I shall always wish to be back among them."

Miss Lang will leave at the close of this week's performance for Denver, where she will star in stock productions at the new Denham theater.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" is being presented with striking fidelity to the novel at the Boyd theater this week. All of the pathos and quaint comedy studies of life among the lowly it represents are faithfully brought out and so many of the performers have so much to do with the production that it is really hard to distinguish at times which particular one or two might might be designated as the leading role or roles. Miss Florence Stone shines brightest in the first act as Miss Hazy, a rather ripe blushing bride, she labors under the aching pre-occupations such a woman is liable to experience. Her hair is done up in the befitting psyche and with lace curtains as her bridal veil and peacock feathers adorning her head, she made up an extraordinary picture. Through the "fishing" ability of Mrs. Wiggs, she is married off to one Hiram Stubbins, whose apothecary of a wife rents in her ability as a cook. Mrs. Wiggs, as a bustling emsary of Love, puts forth her best hand and does the job for Miss Hazy, who wins Stubbins in one brief week. However, another week after the wedding has been performed Hiram Stubbins finds that he has been hoodwinked into a bad bargain and he goes out on a spree. The neighborhood is aroused and Stubbins is put in the box car of a passing train with three of Mrs. Wiggs' pies. The pies save his life and he comes back in the course of time to thank his wife for her thoughtfulness. In the meantime Mrs. Stubbins goes into mourning and embers of curiosity are kept aglow by a girl with a young boy who will not tell anything about herself or the youngster and both of whom Mrs. Wiggs is sheltering in her home. The busybodies point their fingers of accusation at the young girl, and in the course of time the sheriff, a gruff fellow, comes to arrest the girl, Lovey Mary, for kidnaping. The warrant has been sworn out by Mrs. Wiggs' former husband, who is the father of the child, and when he comes to get the youngster he faces to his astonishment his first wife. Explanations are then in order and both Lovey Mary and the little boy are adopted by Mrs. Wiggs and her husband is forgiven. About this time Hiram Stubbins returns, gets a lot of back pension and a monthly stipulation and the village is again in the seventh heaven of delight. David Harbott is playing the part of Hiram Stubbins. Miss Carrie Thatcher does Mrs. Wiggs up very well while Miss Mable Scott is particularly sweet as Lovey Mary.

Vaudeville at the Orpheum. An excellent variety of acts are offered in the bill at the Orpheum this week. Downs of every description may be seen at the women taking part. The striking long costume, the sunshin frock, the dresses worn by the Spanish dancers, all equally pretty and attractive add to the presentation of the acts. Good music, clever imitations, catchy dances, a witty cowboy and a very good sketch are all included in the bill.

Miss Cathrine Countess presents a dramatic playlet, "The Birthday Present." The emotional part played by Miss Countess is very well done and reminds one of the successes with which she has met before. The sketch is well staged and Miss Countess is ably assisted by Miss Anita Allen, John Lott and Master Mac Macomber.

Nonette, the violinist who sings, won the admiration of the audience and it was not until several encores had been given that the applause ceased. She has a delightful voice and is a most capable violinist.

A wonderfully clever imitation of the Titanic on its maiden trip across the Atlantic is presented in three acts showing the large ship as it leaves the dock; then in mid ocean and finally striking the iceberg. The lifeboats leave the ship and the explosion and sinking of the huge ship concludes the act.

Eddie Mack and Dot Williams, who are novelty dancers, prescribed their share of applause. A new feature of their work was the original stairway dance and for the base ball fans who were in the audience, the home run of Frank Baker's, given by Eddie Mack, was the feature of the number. Will Rogers is a cowboy comedian and his work in throwing a rope was interesting and well done. His witty remarks accompanying his stunts kept the audience laughing during the entire act. Aronera, Spain's noted dancer, gives a series of Spanish dances assisted by Sig, Victor, Lorna and Toots Pounds, who have met with success in the London music halls, give a number of excellent impersonations from well known plays.

Promises of the Press Agents. Robert E. Mantell, who will be seen at the Brandeis theater all of next week in Shakespearean and classic repertoire, believes that theater goers are tired of the problems of the seamy side of life, with which they have been bombarded so frequently of late and are ready to return to the good old romantic stories that held the stage for 300 years. They are going back to Shakespeare as the original source of such dramas. In this season of numerous Shakespearean revivals, Mr. Mantell himself has contributed a novelty in "King John," which he is presenting from coast to coast. Hitherto he has played John only in Chicago and New York. It will be his opening bill at the Brandeis next week. The Perseus and Antiochus. Use of Newspaper Advertising is the Road to Business Success.

ERUPTION ALL OVER CHILD'S BODY

Began With Small Red Spots. Cried Almost Day and Night. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in One Week.

R. F. D. No. 2, Jackson, Mo.—"Our daughter who is ten months old was suffering from an eruption all over the body. In the beginning they were small red spots which afterwards turned to bloody sores. We tried all sorts of ointments but they did not procure any relief for our child. She had no rest day or night and we tried everything to procure relief for our baby. She cried almost day and night and we scarcely could touch her, because she was covered with sores from head to foot.

"We had heard about the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and made a trial with them, and after using the remedies, that is, the soap and the Ointment, only a few days passed and our child could sleep well and after one week she was totally well." (Signed) August F. Barrels, Nov. 25, 1912.
