Society

By MELLIFLOIA. Friday, October 31, 1913.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT MANTELL, who are at the Brandeis theater this week, were the guests of honor at an informal supper given by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gilmore at the Omaha club last evening following the play, "Othello." Dr. and Mrs. Gilmore had a box party at the play and afterward the guests enjoyed meeting Mr. and Mrs. Mantell. The noted actor and Dr. Gilmore have been friends since boyhood and attended the same university in Belfast, Ireland. Both come from prominent Scotch-Irish families and attended universities in England and Ireland.

One Omaha guest who met Mr. Mantell the other evening was both flattered and pleased when, after an introduction, the actor said, "Why, I met you two years ago, when I was in Omaha." For a man who has at least a dozen Shakespearean roles in his mind, besides other plays, to also remember faces and names seemed quite remarkable.

Hallowe'en.

Delta Theta Phi Dance.
The local chapter of the Delta Theta Phi fraternity at Creighton university gave a Hallowe'en party at their frat house, 226 Howard street. Games were participated in during the early part of the evening. Later everyone enjoyed dancing. Those present were:
Misses—Rose McGovern, La Vera Kila, Ange Brenner, Betty Downs, Leola Cullen, Katharine Goodall, Blanche Deaver, Ivy Lee, K. Graubauer, Louise Hupp.
Messrs—H. E. Ganz, R. Madden, A. Habenstein, Phil Medley, L. Madden, E. J. Nicholas, R. R. Ryan, Donald Burke, Joseph Adams, Frank Malm, Meadames—H. J. Ganz.

Hallowe'en Surprise.
A Hallowe'en surprise party was given Thursday evening in honor of Miss Josephine Chapek at her home, 134 Martha street. The evening was spent in dancing, music and games. Those present were:
Misses—Anna Kotva, Josephine Chapek, Mary Swoboda, Helen Lastovicia, Helen Oponosky, Alice Jindra, Mary Lastovicia, Matilda Novak, Eleanor Novak, Messrs—Frank Patach, John Baria, John Kubat, Charles Dusek, Joseph Kofka, Frank Lastovicia, John Veltrudsky, John Baria, Leo Lastovicia, Mr. and Mrs. James Chapek.

W. W. Club Hallowe'en Party.
Mrs. L. B. Scott was hostess for the W. W. club Wednesday at a delightful Hallowe'en luncheon. The house was decorated in black and gold colors, with the table decorations, with the refreshments, were all suggestive of Hallowe'en. The amusing pumpkin contest gave the first prizes to Mrs. W. S. Hampton and Mrs. Charles Gruening. Those present were:
Meadames—H. P. Diefenbacher, F. Martin, Martin, Charles Gruening, H. P. Shearer, C. McCombs, C. C. Price, W. S. Hampton, L. Oldfield, Mrs. C. Van Doran will entertain in two weeks.

Wedding Plans.
The wedding of Miss Dorothy Morgan, daughter of Mrs. Robt. Morgan and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Yates, to Mr. Ralph Peters, will take place December 10 at Trinity Cathedral. The wedding unites two prominent families of this city and will be one of the larger social events of the early winter. Both young people are among the most popular of the younger social set.

Hallowe'en Dancing Party.
One of the larger social events of the autumn will be the dinner dance this evening at the Omaha club. Numerous dinner parties will be given by club members and the evening will be spent in dancing. The entire club will be thrown open this evening for the guests.
A subscription dance will be given this evening at the Field club. It is expected that about 100 will attend.

Brownell Hall Anniversary Tea.
In commemoration of the opening of Brownell Hall fifty years ago this fall, a special service was held in the chapel of St. Matthias on October 31 at 3 o'clock. Immediately following the service the Alumnae association gave a tea for all former members of the school.
Before the service, at 1:30, a basket ball game between the odd and even classes was played in the gymnasium.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE OPENS

Miss Grace Lindley Tells of Work Among the Indians.

SESSIONS AT JACOBS HALL

Bishop Williams Opens the Meeting and Mrs. Philip Potter Presides at the Morning Session— Meetings Saturday.

Missionary institute of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Nebraska convened at Jacobs Memorial hall yesterday with Miss Grace Lindley, former missionary to China, the chief speaker. The institute will hold services over Saturday.

Miss Lindley confined her talk to organizing missionary classes and courses. She told her audience, of about fifty men and women, of the importance of limiting the courses to a certain number of meetings and not to extend them. She also said that more people would attend these classes if the meetings were closed at a certain time each night.

Indian Women Talks.
Mrs. Mary Lambert, an Indian from the Yankton reservation in South Dakota, told of the work completed by herself and husband on the Yankton and Rosebud agencies. She was high in her praise of the Christian spirit among the Indians of the Yankton agency, saying that the majority of them were Christians and regular attendants at the Sunday services.

Mrs. Philip Potter presided at the meeting. Bishop A. L. Williams opened the session with prayer.

Standard Starts Mammoth Refinery at Casper, Wyoming

At Casper, Wyo., the Standard Oil company has commenced construction of the largest motor spirits and oil refining plant in the world. It will be completed early next spring and will have a capacity of 30,000 barrels of the two products daily.

The Standard's new plant is the fourth of its refineries to be built at Casper. The new plant covers ten acres of ground. All of the buildings are of brick, steel and cement, and in the construction of the new plant, employment is given to 100 men. Complete the buildings and the stills will cost $1,500,000. This plant, like the others, is right in town, being but six blocks from the business center.

The importance of Casper as an oil shipping point has already been recognized by the Burlington, that has been operating into the town, but little more than a week. Already it is handling out ten to twelve tank cars daily, most of the product going into Montana, Washington and to coast points. The business is growing so rapidly that it is difficult to secure enough tank cars to handle the orders for oil.

Illinois Central is to Become Better Known with Patrons

The Illinois Central is out with a "get acquainted" train, and as the schedule is now made up it will arrive in Omaha next Wednesday evening and remain over night, then proceeding east. On board are Assistant Freight Traffic Manager, Fred Coal Traffic Manager, Cameron General Freight Agent Brown, General Passenger Agent Phelps and several other officials of the road.

The purpose of the officers of the Illinois Central is to visit the cities and larger towns along the line of the system and meet the business men and commercial bodies, thus establishing closer and more friendly relations. In Omaha they will be at the Commercial club during the evening.

At the Commercial club Wednesday evening is something of an off night and the Illinois Central officials are being communicated with to ascertain if they cannot arrange their itinerary so as to be here Tuesday evening instead.

Prairie Park Club.

The Prairie Park association is arranging for an elaborate entertainment to be given by the ladies of the needlecraft society to members of the association and invited guests. Hallowe'en night. ### Governor Morehead Speaks Here Nov. 18

Governor J. H. Morehead is to be in Omaha November 18 to speak before the State Fire Protection association, and also to speak to the Manufacturers' association. The local manufacturers' association has been trying for some weeks to secure an engagement from Governor Morehead to come here and tell them his ideas on convict labor on the Lincoln highway and on the roads in the state in general. The governor's attitude on convict labor in this work has attracted some attention in the state, and the governor has consented to come to Omaha to give his views. He speaks to the Manufacturers' association at 7 o'clock in the evening at the Commercial club.
