

ONE OF GREAT EDUCATORS

Attorney McHugh of Omaha Defends International Harvester Co.

Refers to the Corporation's Work as One of the Greatest Achievements of the Present Age.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 4.—Attorney William D. McHugh of Omaha, fighting the federal suit for dissolution of the International Harvester company, today in the United States district court pictured the harvester concern as one of the greatest educational and beneficial forces ever created in this country.

Attorney McHugh, continuing his argument begun shortly before the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon, appeared to the bench to hold in mind the old English maxim: "Tell me what you have done under a dead and I'll tell you what the deed is."

"In other words," said Attorney McHugh, "to quote from the Bible: 'By their fruits shall ye know them.'"

"It is very unfortunate that this case was not brought at the time this company was organized. But now ten years of action have followed and we have a record of performances and achievements to submit in meeting the charges of the government."

"When Mr. McCormick went to New York in 1903 to enlist the services of the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. to aid him in getting capital to extend the foreign trade of the International Harvester company, he met Mr. Perkins, a man who was invaluable for exactly the sort of thing Mr. McCormick desired."

"Mr. Perkins' training and experiences as a western man with headquarters at Denver for many years had made him thoroughly familiar with the great agricultural situation in this country, then later his experience in Europe had given him a comparative knowledge of agricultural conditions there."

"Mr. Perkins was a wide-awake, remarkable alert American, and he had been greatly impressed by the contrast between the primitive methods of agriculture and trade in European countries."

"But in discussing with Mr. McCormick the European situation, he declared no one of the existing companies was strong enough in capital, credits and means to properly and adequately realize the possibilities of the vast foreign field. Then he started out to get interests to form this concern, strong enough and big enough to go into this field. When he started he had in mind no particular companies, save, perhaps, from the McCormick company. Now he wants to many different companies in seeking the material he desired. His mind was open on that point."

"Tells of its Birth. Then Mr. McHugh told of the harvester concern's organization and its expansion at home and abroad, sketching it as one of the greatest factors in the settlement of the vast reaches of Siberia and other remote countries. He attacked the government's charge that the subject of foreign trade was an afterthought by the officials of the harvester company, which began to loom large about the time the federal suit was filed."

He declared the naming of the company was done with a view to the matter of foreign trade. He said and referred to evidence to show that Mr. Perkins named the company "International" over the wishes of the late Mr. Morgan, who, he asserted, wanted to call the company the "United States Harvester company."

"Mr. Perkins' experience abroad," said Attorney McHugh, "had taught him the value of the word 'International' as a trade name in Europe. That name was adopted, deliberately for the foreign trade, and yet counsel for the government says that the foreign trade idea was one which occurred after the inception of this suit."

Connecticut Woman is to Be Hanged

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Basie J. Wakefield and James Piew were sentenced this afternoon to be hanged at the state prison here, March 4, next, for the murder of William Wakefield, the woman's husband. No woman prisoner has been hanged in Connecticut since 1786.

Wakefield was killed at his home in Chestris, Conn., last June. Piew turned state's evidence and confessed that he had conspired with Mrs. Wakefield to murder her husband. While she took her three children for a walk, he shot Wakefield and then a rope around the neck to give the appearance of suicide.

Piew is a member of the famous Jewkes family, which, scientists say, has produced more than 1,500 defectives. Neither Piew nor Mrs. Wakefield showed much emotion during the trial. When the court heard the pair before the bar today he said he had been unable to find any extenuating circumstances which would lead to the fixing of a lesser degree of guilty than that of premeditated murder.

Joseph Bergeron, who shot and killed Mrs. Elizabeth Doucette, with whom he had lived for a time in Chicago, also was sentenced to be hanged today. The execution will be February 4.

NEW BAPTIST CHURCH IS NOW OUT OF DEBT

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The new Baptist church has been dedicated. It cost over $13,000 and is modern. The basement is used as a Sunday school and is equipped in the way of ordinary paraphernalia, so that this part of the building can at short notice be turned into one of the finest banquet rooms in the city. The auditorium upstairs is richly furnished and contains sixteen colored windows of opalescent glass.

Dr. Myron W. Haynes of Frankland, Ind., preached the dedicatory sermon, while the special music was under the direction of Mrs. Ada Bowen Coir. Upon it being announced that there was still $5,000 due on the church debt, a subscription was taken up and that sum of money raised in less than thirty minutes. Most of the churches in the city participated generally in the dedication, great crowds attending.

Henning, Bellboy, Testifies in Funk Case Now on Trial

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—At the trial of Alvin Karpis, charged with conspiracy to defraud Clarence S. Fund, William Henning, the former bell boy, brought in the names of C. C. Palmer of Canton, Ill., and W. D. Bennett, a lawyer of Chicago, when he testified that he and his wife stayed two weeks in Bennett's Chicago apartment in November, 1911, and that they then separated, Henning to go to Peoria, Ill., to work at a store furnished by Palmer, while Mrs. Henning traveled.

Donahoe came to see him twice at the Bennett flat, Henning said, and arranged for him to go to Canton, Ill. with Palmer. Henning did not like Canton, so it was arranged for him to go to Peoria, where Palmer opened a real estate office in which Henning pretended to work and received $5 a week.

"I was known in Peoria as George B. Stephens," said Henning. "Donahoe came in December and had me sign some papers. He told me then that my wife was in Mudavia, Ind."

"Donahoe came to Peoria again about two weeks later and gave me some money. I wanted to see my wife, but he said that he did not know where she was."

"The next time I saw her at the flat of Mrs. Catherine Ryan in Chicago, where she was a prisoner. He made a fuss and Donahoe said that he would make other arrangements. He did not and we went to a hotel. I made a trip to Peoria for a few days. When I came back my wife and I went to Donahoe's office in New York. He was preparing to send her away. I think to Atlantic City. I wanted to go, too, but he said it was not wise."

Henning told of going to Los Angeles May 1, 1912. He did not see his wife again until they met in the state attorney's office a few days before the opening of this trial.

French Government May Offer Services

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The French government is considering the possibility of offering in this moment of crisis its friendly services to the United States and Mexico.

Nothing has been done beyond making informal inquiries at Washington and Mexico City as to whether anything could be done to ease the present tension and perhaps arrive at a satisfactory arrangement.

SUFFRAGISTS WAXING WARM

Local Political Equalists to the Front in Teachers' Election.

ALL ARE FOR MISS M'LUIGH

Principal of High School is Their Choice as President of the State Association Against Chancellor Avery.

"Every little suffragist has troubles all her own," at least such is the case with the suffrage lobby that is standing at the entrance of the Hotel Home telling teachers to vote for Miss Kate McHugh for the next president of the Nebraska State Teachers' association. Their little complaint is that Chancellor Avery of the University of Nebraska got a lot of votes Monday that he was not entitled to. To hear Mrs. George Schaffer, Mrs. G. H. Bly and a half dozen others tell it, it seems that many of the teachers who enrolled for the association Monday did not know who the candidates for president were. When the ballot was handed them, they asked:

"Chancellor Avery?"

"Why, who is running?"

"Chancellor Avery" was the reply made by several of the clerks on the desk where the enrolling is being done. So the teacher supposedly dropped her ballot for Avery. This is the assertion made by the suffrage lobby, which feels quite outraged at such conduct. They blame Miss Belle Ryan, Superintendent E. U. Graf and the whole force who are doing the registering.

In the meantime they want Miss McHugh elected just because they want her elected. "No, we are not representing the suffragists," they contend, "we are just representing the women, and we want to see Miss McHugh elected. Nevertheless, every member of the McHugh lobby is a member of the Political Equality league, the Equal Suffrage league or other suffrage organizations."

Rumors Are Wild. Wild are the rumors that pass from lip to lip among the little lobby. They even charge that some of the teachers of the city have been so intimidated that they are afraid to wear a McHugh badge for fear of losing their job. So far they have furnished no list of names of those who have been so intimidated.

Nearly 300 more Omaha and South Omaha teachers enrolled during the morning and at noon. The Lincoln delegation of teachers is to arrive on a special train Thursday morning. One book company man from Lincoln is on hand. This was Williams of the Silver-Burdette company. He is not engaged in moved about in a wholly harmless way among the teachers shaking hands, and so far as his conduct for the first few hours was concerned he was not engaged in lobbying for any candidate in the interest of any book trust. L. E. Mumford of Ginn & Co., and E. O. Garrett of the American Book company have not yet appeared on the scene.

News Notes from In and Around Beatrice

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Another chapter was added to the Kelly controversy for the custody of their 5-year-old son when Mrs. Kelly filed a petition in the county court, charging that her husband, Willie Kelly, had failed to care for the child, for the reason that he is addicted to the use of liquor. Mr. Kelly secured the child Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus. The case was called Monday and continued. The child is now in custody of the sheriff, where it will remain until Judge Pemberton decides the case.

At a meeting of the Beatrice Ministerial association, plans were laid for organizing a joint committee on charities, and all funds will be distributed by this committee. The committee is to be composed of representatives of the Ministerial association, Young Men's Christian association, Commercial club and the Gas county Board of Supervisors. Rev. G. T. Sawyer was elected secretary of the Ministerial association to succeed Rev. G. W. Wright, who has moved from the city.

City Treasurer Spicer went to Lincoln Monday to sell $10,000 of intersection bonds to the state. These bonds draw 5 per cent interest and were sold at par.

Fire, supposedly of incendiary origin, destroyed the vacant dwelling house at Wymore Sunday night belonging to S. D. Killen of this city. The loss will be about $50, partially covered by insurance.

Mrs. Jane Bunker died Monday at the home of her son, C. M. Shelters, aged 92 years. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2:30 from La Salle street Methodist Episcopal church.

Students Escort Wilson to Place Where He Votes

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4.—When President Wilson arrived here today the students of the university were massed about the station singing and cheering. Mr. Wilson started for the polling place and the students fell in behind and formed a parade. Although the president walked, the drummer of the students rode in an automobile by himself. As the procession moved along the students sang "Going Back to Nassau Hall."

At his little speech from the steps of University hall the president said: "The gentleman who seems to be in authority," said the president indicating a cheer leader, "informed me that I can proceed no further without saying a word. I came here to vote for a very excellent man for governor, the democratic candidate. But I shall not indulge in play. I only want to say how delightful it is to renew my acquaintance and show how pleased I am at your reception."

The students followed the president to the polling place in a small fire house where he has heretofore cast his ballot. He voted after his brother-in-law, Dr. Stockton Axson. As Mr. Wilson came out the students were still assembled. He laughingly said to them "All over," which is one of the characteristic Princeton phrases for terminating all ceremonies. The students then dispersed and the president drove away in an automobile for a short ride through the country.
