

Physician Gives Recipe For Gray Hair

A Well-Known Physician and Author Gives Simple Home Recipe That Will Darken Gray Hair.

Dr. Stanton Burroughs, the well-known physician and author, recently made the following statement: "Gray hair can be easily darkened by the following simple recipe which you can mix at home: To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 cc. bay rum and 1/4 oz. glycerine. Apply it to the hair every other day until the desired shade is obtained. It not only is an excellent hair darkener but at the same time removes dandruff and other ills of the scalp. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost."

TEACHERS MEET AT CHURCH

Many Spend Day at First Methodist and Have Sessions of Speeches.

MUCH IS DUE THE EDUCATORS

Ideas Incubated Into the Minds of the Young Students Become the Foundation of Their Future Welfare.

Those members of the Nebraska State Teachers' association comprising teachers, principals and superintendents that met yesterday in the First Methodist Episcopal church spent a very pleasant, inspiring day. There was a session in the morning with music and addresses and a similar program in the afternoon.

O. T. Corson, director of the Ohio Educational Monthly, published at Columbus, O., delivered a remarkably strong address on "Is the Public School a Failure?" His remarks were chiefly directed to the destructive criticisms aimed at public schools.

"Notice that whenever I hear a man find fault with a person or with an institution, he rarely has reasonable remedies or suggestions to offer," Mr. Corson said, "and I notice also that the man who most frequently shouts his disapproval of a person or of an institution knows the least of what he is talking about."

"A little more than 12 years ago some statesmen decided that all men are born equal," he continued, "and it is in the public schools where this is most evident. It is there that jeans rubs against broadcloth in 1876 a great exposition was held in Philadelphia it was realized that some history had been made during the first 100 years of the nation's existence it was also decided to let the rest of the nation know these facts. And that is how we came to study history in our schools."

Due to the Teachers. "After that, the great organization, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, succeeded in introducing physiology in public schools. The students were taught the effect of liquor upon their systems, as well as the effect of tobacco. The great moral wave that is right now sweeping over the country against the sale of liquor is traceable to the silent endeavors of the school teacher.

"Once a staid old magazine that should have known better printed an article by a certain Englishman, in which the Englishman criticized the public school in a very destructive manner. Now criticism of the fair and just type is right, and should be welcomed. I fancy the author to wear a monocle. He had a one-eyed view and what he saw was entirely too much for his comprehension.

"Public schools are the second best uplift I know of for the nation. The home is the first. It is necessary to have discipline in the school. Do you realize that in the school is where a surprising percentage of boys and girls find the only place where they have to obey somebody?"

"There are not many had boys—really bad boys. The most of them are mischievous. The wiggling little wild animal is given to the primary teacher to give him the first rudiments in the pursuit of knowledge. Any study worth while is hard. Many want knowledge, but do not care particularly about making the requisite effort. The public school is no failure. It is a success and one of the greatest that I know of."

Remedies for Delinquency. V. L. Strickland of Tecumseh and W. W. Slane of Yale spoke on practically the same line of thought. "Some Causes of Delinquency" was ably discussed by R. V. Clark of the Kearney Industrial school, and the topic of "Some Remedies for Delinquency" was well handled by H. E. Bradford of the School of Agriculture at Lincoln.

HE ADDRESSED THE TEACHERS LAST EVENING.

Pres. Meiklejohn of Amherst-Mass

HAVE MISTAKEN IDEA OF IT

President Meiklejohn of Amherst Says Many Hold Wrong View.

COLLEGE IS PLACE OF TRAINING Institutions Are Primarily for Sake of Preparing Young Men and Women for the Struggles in After Life.

"Some young people think they can enter a liberal college to play games and get their names in the papers, while others enter the liberal college because they imagine there are strong fraternal orders there, but both kids are mistaken," said President Alexander Meiklejohn of Amherst college, to a large gathering of the Nebraska State Teachers' association in the First Methodist Episcopal church. "The liberal college is not for these conceited things. We attempt to teach, and I may say we succeed pretty well at making it an intellectual institution.

"There is nothing I like better than an intellectual fight," he assured the crowd, "an intellectual fight where each man fights honestly and takes what is coming to him like a man. When you get to the bottom of these intellectual fights you will find the fighters are seeking the same point—truth. And when you arrive at the truth they shall have a better answer to the point in question than they had to begin with.

Is a Preparation. "In our college we teach preparation for human living. The average college that has its fraternities, its games and so on, sends its graduates into the world, for the main part, thinking there is nothing in life except concrete objects. They want to reach out and touch things and see them or hear them, and they they believe in them. It is surprising how many graduates know so little of the art of living, and how to think in an abstract form.

"If I say the people of Cambridge live in Massachusetts, and the people that live in Boston live in Massachusetts, therefore the people who live in Cambridge live in Boston, why would you say it is silly. They have seen Boston and Cambridge and they have seen Massachusetts, and they know such a problem is silly. But suppose I say A is B, and so is C, they have nothing to say. They have not learned to study in the abstract form.

"We seek to teach the necessity of thinking of the moral, social, political and religious conditions, and to think in symbols and not in the concrete sense."

Advise Conferences. "The keynote" was the subject chosen by Dean E. L. Rouse of Peru State Normal for his discussion. He directed his remarks to the principals, advising that more time should be spent in each room, and that conferences between the principal and the teachers be encouraged.

A. H. Waterhouse of Fremont spoke on "A Test of Teaching" and pointed out the necessity of developing mental and physical training of the students. He said it is impossible to say what a child may develop into, or into what line of endeavor the child may delight in by his showing in the school room. "Good teaching and careful instruction will bring out his stronger inclinations," he said, "and that is the test of teaching."

FIREWORKS ARE ALL PRIMED UP FOR THE TEACHERS' MEETING

"Idlewild" Butter

Scores higher than nearly every other butter in the United States

At the National Dairy Show, held in Chicago October 27 to November 1, which was participated in by 551 creameries from twenty-three states, "IDLEWILD BUTTER" scored higher than 476 creameries.

The score—95 out of a possible 100

Only five creameries scored a trifle higher. As a result "Idlewild Butter" leads the following states: Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Indiana, Virginia, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Montana, Oregon, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arizona and Colorado.
