Real Beauty Demands a Perfect Skin

Lovely Complexions May Be Made to Take the Places of Pimples and Bad Color if You Use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Pimples, blotches, skin eruptions of all kinds, are simply the impurities in the blood coming to the surface. All the external treatment in the world won't do a particle of good unless you purify the blood. And there's nothing so humbling as a face that's all "broken out" and spotted.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will clear the most obstinate complexion, because they go right into the blood and remove the cause of the trouble. The blood is cleansed of all impurities and foreign substances and there are quickly eliminated from the system. You'll notice a wonderful change in a few days—you will surely know yourself in a week.

And Stuart's Calcium Wafers are absolutely harmless to anyone. Their ingredients are just what a physician prescribes in most cases of skin eruptions and poor blood. These wafers are put up in concentrated form, which makes them act quickly and thoroughly.

Begin taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers today and then look at yourself in the mirror in a few days, and find all those awful pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, liver spots, rash, eczema and that muddy complexion rapidly disappearing and your face cleared like the petals of a flower.

You can easily test Stuart's Calcium Wafers for yourself. You can get the regular-size package for 50c in any drug store.—Advertisement.

TRIBUTE TO TITANIC VICTIMS

Memorial for Major Butt and Artist Millet Erected on the White House Grounds.

A small ornamental fountain to commemorate Maj. Archibald W. Butt, U. S. A., formerly military aid to President Taft and Frank H. Millet, painter, formerly a member of the commission of fine arts, who lost their lives when the Titanic foundered off the coast of Newfoundland in the spring of 1912, has been erected in the grounds back of the White House. The site chosen for the memorial is a triangle in a small grove of trees, almost directly south of the president's office building, and just outside the driveway across the ellipse.

Although of small dimensions, the fountain is of decided artistic merit. It is about twelve feet in height over all, and consists of a low granite pedestal, supporting a bowl of Tennessee marble about eight feet in diameter, from the center of which rises a square shaft also of Tennessee marble. The shaft is of simple classical design and rises about four feet above the level of the water in the basin like a veil.

Around the upper edge of the basin is the following inscription:

In memory of Francis Davis Millet, 186-1912, and Archibald Wellington Butt, 1862-1912, this monument has been erected by their friends, with the sanction of congress.

On one side of the shaft is an armed female figure, in bas-relief, representing civility, having special reference to Maj. Butt's aid to women and children on the occasion of the disaster in which he met his death. On the opposite side is a similar figure, representing art, personified by a woman with rhythmic flowing drapery. Her figure has special reference to Mr. Millet as a member of the commission of fine arts.

The memorial was designed by Daniel Chester French, the New York sculptor, in collaboration with Thomas Hastings, the New York architect, both of whom donated their services.

The total cost of materials and labor in erecting the memorial will be paid from a fund subscribed entirely by intimate friends of Maj. Butt and Mr. Millet. The committee in charge of the erection of the memorial is headed by former President Taft. It is expected that the committee will arrange for the formal dedication of the memorial, now that it is entirely completed and in operation as a fountain. Colonel Hart, the engineer officer in charge of the public buildings and grounds, who supervised the erection of the memorial, says that no date had yet been selected for its dedication.—Boston Transcript.

ACOUSTICS MYSTERY SOLVED

Baffling Vagaries of Sound Controlled by Scientific Tests.

It has been a tradition among architects that none of them could guarantee an echoless auditorium or a smokeless fire. Nature is fickle, and however much her laws have been reduced to science in sound or in convection, the fact is incontrovertible that every building has been a law unto itself in the matter of sound, and every chimney the arbiter of its destiny on the question of draught.

So it is with considerable elation that the trustees or directors of sound-baffling public halls can receive the assurance that science has applied tests practically to eliminate the echo and the reverberation and to provide distinct auditions throughout large buildings. A notable test took place in the Second Presbyterian church at St. Louis, and after "tracing" the elusive sound deflectors by means of sensitive apparatus determined that a more resilient wall covering in parts of the church auditorium would obviate the trouble. The conclusions were proved correct on a trial of the modified interior walls last Sunday.

This modern architecture gives scientific attention to acoustics and gradually is arriving at fundamental rules which, it is conceivable, will enable the architect to guarantee the sound properties of his building with quite as much assurance as he calculates the sustaining power of his walls. Harmless little angles which seem merely decorative, will which throw vocal propulsion askew, will be eliminated, and materials for the interior will be chosen for their compliance with the laws of sound, rather than for their fitness in the color or structural scheme.—Indianapolis Star.

Creighton Wireless Is Now in Perfect Working Condition

The wireless telegraph station recently installed at Creighton university by Rev. William F. Riggs, Creighton university astronomer, with the aid of several Omahans, is now in working order, according to Father Riggs.

Father Riggs had no trouble catching the time signals sent by Arlington station, near Washington, D. C., to Paris Thursday evening and again last night. The stations are exchanging clock signals at certain periods of the evening and each beat of the Arlington station could be detected as a clear "peep" at the Creighton station. Father Riggs gives credit to William C. Reinhardt, MIT Taylor street, for the success of the Creighton station. Mr. Reinhardt has worked hand-in-hand with Father Riggs in the undertaking. It is due to him that Father Riggs erected the extremely simple station, consisting of two receiving wires.

Father Riggs wrote a letter Friday night to J. L. Jayne, superintendent of the United States naval observatory at Washington, D. C., stating that the apparatus, such as was described by Jayne in his circular letter to astronomers, is unnecessary. According to Father Riggs, such apparatus as was described by Jayne would cost $20, while the Creighton station, with its two detecting wires, cost less than a tenth of that sum. These figures do not include the cost for instruments.
