He is a bamtamweight, but is hard as nails. Time and time again, he was buried beneath piles of struggling players, only to come out apparently untouched. On one occasion only, when he was kicked in the head, did he take time out. In fact, his willingness to run with the ball cost Creighton many yards, as he was thrown for losses when Besinius or a heavier man, might have made the distance. Long was the star on the deforme for Creighton, repeatedly saving acores by his clean tackling.

The Shenendoah touchdown was of the 'Sam White' variety, coming late in the first quarter. Creighton had carried the ball to the Shenendoah fifteen-yard line, where Harrington dropped back for a drop-kick. The kick was blocked and Leacov, the lows right halfback, scopped up the buil and raced seventy-five yards for a touchdown, closely pursued by Long Captain Blackburn kicked goal, and added what later proved the winning Creighton slightly outweighed the visiters, and outplayed them during most of the game. Two colored boys, R. and G. Collins, played left halfback and right tackle, respectively, for Shenendoah. R. Collins proved a tartar for the Creighton tacklers and time and again wriggled through for long gains. He, together with Captain Blackburn, played the whole game for Shenendoah, Blackburn's forpard passing netted many yards for the lowans. On one occasion he hurled the ball the entire width of the field and twenty yards toward the Creighton goal into Gecenway's arms.

For Creighton the brilliant end runs and kicking by Besinius featured. This man repeatedly fought his way through the Shenendoah team, and his sixty-fiveyard run put Creighton in striking dis-tance for its touchdown. Kelly of Creighton played a beautiful defensive game. Duhurst, the Creighton tackle playing his first game as captain of the Creighton even, was ejected from the game in the second quarter for slugging G. Collins, returned in the second. Leacon, the lad who made the long run fo the visitors, is just recovering from a broken shoulder, and was removed from the game in the second haif by Coach Meltzer.

Saturday's game will probably be the last of the year for Creighton High.

Farrell Misses a Guess.

The Boston Red Sox had a chance to land Harry Williams, the New York's promising young first baseman, last summer, but passed it up. "Buke" Farrell, who was scouting for Moaleer, visited Houston and saw Williams play several games. Then he wired Mealeer that the youngster couldn't hit and needed another year in minor lengue company. A few weeks later arthur Irwin breezed into Houston and after watching Williams in action telegraphed Chance that a purchase was advisable. Williams new looks like a sure comer. Farrell Misses a Guess.

Offhooley Gets the Rale. Gilheoley Geta the Rale.

The National commission's records show that the New York Americans agreed to pay $19,000, not $7,500, to the Montreal club for Outfielder Gilhooley. But when the feat was made it was stipulated that about half of this sum would be held back until next spring, when Chance could decide definitely whether Gilhooley measured up to the requirements. As Chance put his O. K. on the speed boy before he left for California, Owner Lichtenhein of Montreal is all smiles.

Hug to Battle Champs.
