TO AFFECT GRAIN NEXT YEAR Sunset Strikers

New Grading of Cereals Not Likely Before Next July.

FAVORS THE TENTATIVE SCALE

New Orleans Meeting Are for the Lowering of the Amount of Moleture and Damaged Kernels.

It is now not likely that the proposed new gradation of corn will go into effect re next summer, perhaps July 1. The matter is now entirely in the bands of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, and local grain men say it is practically certain that the new table of grades will be adopted, although it is not yet certain just when it will go into

The National Grain Dealers' association at its meeting in New Orleans in the fall went on record as favoring a few changes the tentative scale of grades which was thought would lessen the hardship dealers who had made large contracts furnish grain before the regradation vent into effect. Many local grain dealere now have reasons to believe that the new schedule of grades will not go into street in time to affect this year's crop. The tentative grading contemplates low-ering the amount of moisture permisible in grains of the various grades; also owering the per cents of damaged corn ible in the various grades, and some changes in the per cent of material and badly broken or gracked kernels.
