

MAY OUST THOMAS J. LYNCH

Ebbetts of Brooklyn Nationals Makes Such Prediction.

TENER IS LIKELY MAN FOR JOB

Every National League is Said to Be Strong for the Pennsylvania and Ready to Meet His Demands.

Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the Brooklyn club and dissenting member of the National league, comes forward with the announcement that the game of Thomas J. Lynch will come to a culmination after the election of officers this winter. Ebbetts asserts that he is confident that every National League is strong for Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania for the position and is ready to accede to Tener's request for a five-year term at a yearly stipend of $25,000.

Ebbetts asserts that he has conferred with Hermann, Dreyfus and Britton in Columbus relative to the candidacy of the former star pitcher of the Chicago Nationals, and that he has also approached Baker, Gaffney and Murphy on several occasions, and that all six are in favor of Tener. Ebbetts even goes further in his statements. He announced that he believed Harry Hemphost of the Giants was heartily in favor of the governor and, as he, himself, would be first in line to vote for a new president, he says he can't see where Lynch can get a vote.

Mr. Ebbetts denied the information that Tener was interested financially in the Philadelphia club. Mr. Ebbetts said that Mr. Tener had been a stockholder in the club, but had disposed of his stock during a recent reorganization. Ban Johnson and the American League is in favor of Mr. Tener's election to the office, and Mr. Ebbetts believes that the American League will back a campaign for the Pennsylvania man. Johnson has never extended effusive welcomes to Lynch, so that part of Ebbetts' assertions is probably true.

Hawkeyes Begin Handing Out Bear Dope for Saturday

TOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 17.—(Special).—A bruised and battered lot of Hawkeyes took part this evening on Iowa field in the first practice following the victory over the Ames team Saturday. Although their margin of victory in that contest was a decisive one, the team proved one of the hardest of the season for the Hawkeyes and they are carrying many bumps as a result. None of the injuries are serious enough to keep the men out of the Nebraska game, and the team is expected to be in fair condition by Saturday. Dick and Gross were somewhat shaken as a result of their spectacular work in carrying the ball through a field of Aggie tacklers, each of whom outweighed them thirty or forty pounds, and Barron, Gunderson and Bowen of the line men received slight injuries.

To offset these Carberry, the right end who was kept out of the Ames game by injuries received in the Indiana game, will be able to get back in again whenever needed. Parsons can also play if necessary. Bowen played a string game in Carberry's place Saturday, especially in going down under punts and kickoffs, but he was boxed occasionally by the Ames offense on wide end runs. As he and Carberry have been close rivals all season it is again a question as to which will start against Nebraska.

The coaches pointed out at this evening's practice the faults shown in the Ames game, and warned the men that they are going up against one of the half dozen leading teams of the west Saturday, a team which was undoubtedly the best in the Missouri valley, and which would play its best game in the final battle of the year on the home grounds. The Ames team, while it fought hard and used its superior weight to some advantage, is of course not to be considered as in a class with the Cornhuskers. The Hawkeyes have become accustomed to running up scores rather easily, and as it is certain that no such tactics can be employed against the Cornhuskers the team is likely to find itself at a loss when real opposition is encountered.

No importance is attached to the fact that the Hawkeyes defeated Ames by a score somewhat larger than Nebraska smashed against them, as it is recognized that Omaha, fully Nebraska's best ground runners, were not in the Ames game, and also that there was not the same impetus for Nebraska to run up a large score as there was in the case of Iowa. That Nebraska could have beaten the Ames more decisively no one here doubts and members of the Ames team who played against both Nebraska and Iowa say that the Cornhuskers should win.

Water Board Still Fights to Keep Up High Water Rates

The Omaha Water board in an answer to the suit of Victor Rosewater, editor of The Bee, to reduce water rates to 25 cents per 1,000 gallons, reiterates previous arguments that it has the sole power to fix charges and that its action is not subject to review by the courts to determine its reasonableness. The board took the same position in a hearing on demurrer, but was overruled by the court. It is alleged in the answer that a list of cities in which water rates are lower than here submitted by the plaintiff has no bearing on the case because the cost of pumping and purifying is higher in Omaha than elsewhere. The fact that the Omaha Water company was decided by the federal courts to have the right to make its own charges for water is cited, and the allegation is made that the price of 3 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons in effect from April 1 to May 27 of this year was not too much.

The board asserts that extension of service and construction operations completed, now under way and contemplated for the future will amount to a total cost of $33,181, and alleges that this fact should be taken into consideration in fixing the price of water to consumers. In this total is included an item of $50,000 for "possible contingencies."

Mayor Proposes to Stop Overcrowding in Some Theaters

Mayor James C. Dahlman has instructed the chief of police and members of the social service board to investigate charges that patrons of some of the smaller theaters, including the movies, are overcrowding and that doors are locked on the patrons once they are inside.

"If this charge is true there is an ordinance covering the case and we will enforce the ordinance to the letter," said Mayor Dahlman. "I have told the chief of police to investigate the reports and to make an immediate investigation." City Commissioner Al Kugel, it is understood, placed the complaint before the mayor, after a visit to some of the theaters. Other city commissioners also visited the shows after complaints had been made and reported to the mayor that the charges were in a great degree true.

The theaters violating the "crowding and the doors locked" ordinance will be prosecuted without notice if the reports which have reached the mayor are verified by the policeman and the social service board.

Commissioner Ryder Thinks Omaha Should Have Refuse Destroyer.

RETURNS FROM VISIT IN EAST

Dr. Wearne, Back with Him, Also in Favor of Construction of City Crematory in Omaha First of Next Year.

John J. Ryder, city police commissioner, who returned Monday from Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Chicago and Terre Haute, where he investigated the cost and operation of incinerators, reduction plants and refuse crematories, will report to the city commission in favor of the construction of at least one incineration plant in Omaha next year. Dr. Frederick J. Wearne accompanied Ryder on the trip. Concerning the trip the commissioner said: "The garbage situation in Omaha is not nearly as aggravating as it is in some other cities. "In Indianapolis the city appropriates $2,000 a year and pays a private company to gather and dispose of the accumulations. The company has a reduction plant and is credited with making enough from its products to give it a profit perhaps equal to the sum awarded by the city. The plan seems to work all right up to date, and the deputy of the health department in charge considers it the most satisfactory plan they have yet struck.

The Terre Haute Crematory. "At Terre Haute the city built a crematory at a cost of $25,000 on the supposition it would care for all refuse, including night soil. President Walsh of the board of public works told me the plant does the work of caring for kitchen garbage and street refuse in good shape, but it will dispose of night soil with entire satisfaction without the use of a good deal of fuel. Two such small plants, either on the crematory or incinerator plan, would handle the Omaha situation for a number of years, in my judgment. They would cost more money now than Terre Haute paid, but can probably be erected for $30,000 to $50,000 each.

Milwaukee made a serious mistake in erecting one large plant of the destructor type at a point necessitating the long haul, hence considerable money is wasted, as it is in Omaha, because of lost motion. Eventually Milwaukee will have to build a second plant, possibly two of them in different sections. In that case in a city of its population, engineers agree some profit might accrue from separate, saving and selling certain materials, as is done in Buffalo and other places.

Unsatisfactory at Chicago. "Dr. Frederick J. Wearne of Omaha went with me to view the old city pits adjacent to abandoned brick yards, wherein Chicago is at present dumping its garbage and treating it with chemicals, then covering with dry refuse. The situation existing in Chicago at this moment is not at all satisfactory to anybody, and a commission is busy trying to study out a scheme that will meet the city's needs and be permanent. Dr. Wearne agreed with others who viewed the present makeshift plan of disposal that it is likely to cause considerable trouble later. In the meantime a costly reduction plant is being idle, the city having refused to buy on a valuation asserted to be much too high. Some experts assert the city could operate the plant with a big monthly profit if it could get possession at a fair figure.

"This trip has not changed my mind that we can, if public sentiment backs us up, make a start the coming year on at least one small incinerator plant and save its cost within a very few years. Then a second small plant can be built, and Omaha will be on easy street for a long time on the garbage matter. Street refuse and the garbage itself will supply the fuel for operation."

ENTERTAIN FOR DANES AT WASHINGTON HALL

About 100 Danish citizens of Omaha and vicinity listened Sunday night to an entertainment furnished by Miss Jutta Lund and Ja Herakind at Washington hall. Miss Lund is an actress comique from Copenhagen with a splendid voice, and Mr. Herakind is well known all over Scandinavia on account of his clear tenor and dramatic delivery. The vivacious couple, who are making a tour of the states and will visit California, have been the center of much entertainment while in Omaha. Parties were given for them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brodegaard last Wednesday evening and at the home of Colonel and Mrs. S. F. Nebel Sunday.
