

Do You Pay for It Afterward?

If You Do, Just Carry a Little Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in Your Vest Pocket and a Big Meal Will Be Easily Laid Away.

Get away from the foreboding that every time you enjoy yourself heartily and eat a full meal that you will pay for it afterward. There is no sense in our not enjoying every meal to the utmost. And you can do so without danger from a protesting stomach if you take the precaution always to have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with you.

"I Am Going to Enjoy This Meal For I Have a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in My Vest Pocket."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing more than a concentrated form of the natural secretions which the stomach employs in digesting food.

It has long been known that the various digestive ferments could be produced as perfectly in the laboratory as in the stomach.

The perfect freedom to eat what you please and as much as you please which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets gives, has won it thousands of friends who make it a constant vest pocket companion.

Former Omahans Not in Danger from Indian Uprising

Reports of an uprising and threatened massacre by Navajo Indians near Ship Rock, San Juan county, in northwestern New Mexico, have alarmed many Omahans, because Mrs. Frank Barnard and her son, Bruce M. Barnard, formerly of this city, were known to be on the reservation. Telegrams and letters just received by Mrs. Charles W. Axtell, 418 South Fortieth street, Mrs. Barnard's sister, make assurance that the Barnards are not in danger, however.

Young Barnard is half owner of the Indian supply store on the reservation. His mother has been visiting him there, her home being at Paducah, Ky. When the Indian trouble arose, it was feared that they would lose not only their financial interests there, but possibly their lives also. But Mrs. Axtell said last night that she now felt that her relatives were safe.

Polygamous relations on the part of a few of the Indians appear to have started the trouble on the reservation, according to the latest dispatches. Fifteen hundred Indians have rallied about several of the Indians sought by the government officials. They have made their stand on Beautiful mountain and are prepared to fight. The United States marshal has asked for troops.

Miss Margaret McCheane is a sister of Mrs. Barnard and Mrs. Axtell and makes her home with the latter in Omaha. Miss Sarah McCheane, who was principal of the Long school here until her death in 1909, was another sister.

Mrs. E. L. McShane is Suing for Divorce

Mrs. Nathalie Loretta McShane, whose marriage to Edward Lee McShane in Dubuque, Ia., June 3, 1909, was the event of the year in Omaha society circles, being attended by a large number of Omaha's most prominent men and women, who went from here in a special train, has filed a suit for divorce against her husband in district court. Extreme cruelty is the charge.

Mr. McShane is a son of John A. McShane, Omaha pioneer and capitalist. He is vice president of the McShane Lumber company and formerly was secretary of the Omaha Automobile club. On account of ill health he has not been active in business affairs recently. He is living at the home of his father.

The plaintiff is considered one of the most beautiful women in Omaha. She is related to the Nash family of this city. She asks the court for restoration of her maiden name, Nathalie Loretta Myers, and for such other relief as it may decide upon, alleging that her husband is worth at least $20,000. She charges that as a result of Mr. McShane's acts she has been caused much mental distress.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Ordinance Introduced to Pay City Physician Higher Salary.

WANT LIGHTS TO BURN LONGER

City Detective Sheahan Captures Negro Wanted for Robbing Tailor Shop in Omaha—Says Liquor Law Violated.

An effort was made last night to make provisions for paying the South Omaha city physician a decent salary in an amount considerably above that which he now receives. Dr. E. J. Sheahan, who has been city physician for two years, asked that his salary be raised to $100 a month. An ordinance to that effect was introduced and it will probably be passed at the next meeting.

Dr. Sheahan according to many of the councilmen and city authorities deserves the raise. For more than a month he has been engaged in a fight night and day to stamp out scarlet fever and diphtheria. He is called to attend free of charge all the school children suspected of illness and must also do the police work. The routine takes up a great part of his time and it was thought that $50 a month was not sufficient remuneration for the physician of a city the size of South Omaha.

Councilman Henry Hartnett asked that the electric light company be called upon to keep their lights burning from twilight until after dawn. Hartnett said it was necessary to keep the arcs lighted in order to assist the early parking house laborer. Councilman Casanovich stated that the police did not report every light that was not lighted. Mayor Hoctor said some of the police were blind, he thought.

Resolutions looking to the establishment of two viaducts over the Burlington tracks at Thirty-ninth street and at Forty-fourth street were adopted. The council will meet next Monday at 6 o'clock.

Liquor Sold Sundays. Because the newspapers did not state the condition of the liquor violations accurately enough, a prominent citizen last night called at The Bee office to say that the liquor violations now are as bad as at any previous time. He stated that the saloons did business on Sunday, and his statements seem to be borne out by the chief of police, who says that although he did not catch the saloon keepers selling he had sufficient reason to believe that liquor was being sold.

A well known and highly respected clergyman said last night that he expected to do a little scout work on his own hook in gathering evidence that would convict liquor law violators in South Omaha. He stated that when he complained about conditions on Sundays some time ago he was informed that he was "too fresh."

Sheahan Captures Negro. Without gun or weapon Detective James Sheahan yesterday arrested Joe Sims, a negro wanted for robbing a tailor shop at 112 South Sixteenth street, Omaha, Sunday night. John Williams, an alleged confederate of Sims, was also arrested, but broke away from the officer while on the way to the station.

Sheahan came upon the men trying to pawn some clothes at Twenty-sixth and N streets. He followed them to a saloon nearby and without realizing the loss of his gun he arrested the negro under arrest. A scuffle followed and Sheahan was making for the door with his two prisoners when Williams broke and ran. The men are said to have been armed at the time.

Stockman Gets Revenge.

E. J. "Ed" Drake of Woodward, Ia., one of the best known stockmen of the Missouri Valley and Leo Fitzsimmons are swearing vengeance against the whole municipality of South Omaha because "Chuck" Cox of the Interstate commission company was able to put one over with the assistance of the police judge, James Callahan.

Drake came to town last week on business. His business always takes him to the Union Stock Yards. There he hooked up with Fitzsimmons and the two began a campaign of pestering Cox, who is a boon companion. Saturday the two engaged Cox in conversation and when the talk was over Cox missed his watch. Drake and Fitzsimmons stood in convenient corners laughing over the trick played on Cox. A dear friend told Cox where his watch was. He waited until yesterday and then he waited until time for the stockmen to go home before he started the row. But just when the crowd was thickest the little one-legged commission man marched up with Detective Jack Gaughan and solemnly identified Drake and Fitzsimmons as the men who "copped" his watch.

Then the laugh went the other way. Drake and Fitzsimmons laughed, but Gaughan had both of them to Police Magistrate Callahan's court. Probably 200 stockmen came along. Callahan gave the two until this morning to find the watch for Cox. He did not have to impose a fine for the drunks. At the hour of closing last night Drake and Fitzsimmons were still buying liquid refreshment for Cox and his friends.

Drake says he is going to sue the city, the judge and everybody else in sight, including Cox, who planned the dastardly revenge. Drake says his previous reputation will insure a big verdict. Fitzsimmons says he will take his out on Cox somewhere in the feed lot when no one is around. Cox grins and says: "Bring back the watch." All three of the men are popular at the yards.

Miss Iris was taken home in the car which ran over her and was attended there by Dr. T. T. Harris, who pronounced her injuries as not being serious.

Declare War on Colds. A crusade of education which aims "that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation" has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of the "don'ts" which the doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the cold:

- "Don't sit in a draughty car." "Don't sleep in hot rooms." "Don't avoid the fresh air." "Don't stuff yourself at meal time. Overeating reduces your resistance."

To which we would add—when you take a cold get rid of it as quick as possible. To accomplish that you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most excellent. For sale by all druggists.—Advertisement.
