Fashion Hint

By LA RACONTEUSE.

A subtle touch frequently makes a gown look much more delectable than it really is, but with the shoulders seen through a transparency of chiffon, a model like that illustrated by this picture always looks charming and youthful.

This theater gown is developed in emerald green velveteen. A side part of the bodice is a simple white net, covering his shoulder and edged with three pleated ruffles of the same material. The right side is a single thickness of white chiffon, richly embroidered with straps. A small bow of emerald velvet fastens this part on the left side.

The skirt of emerald charmeuse is slit on the side up to the knee, veiled by a first tunic of pleated net, sailed with a beaded emerald ribbon, fastening on the side.

A second tunic of emerald silk muslin, embroidered with straps, over a band of darker silk muslin finishes this original skirt.

Hiking Party.
A party of four young people walked from Blair, a distance of twenty-five miles, in five and a half hours Sunday. In the party were Miss Adelyn Wyckoff, Miss Edith Frederickson, Mr. Alton Kelstrom and Mr. Lehard Wyckoff.

Muncoater-McClure Wedding.
The wedding of Lieutenant J. H. Muncoater of the Fourth infantry, now stationed at Galveston, and Miss Evelyn McClure of Oklahoma City took place last Wednesday. Lieutenant Alexander Wilson served as best man. Miss McClure spent the summer in Galveston. Lieutenant and Mrs. Muncoater have gone to New York on a wedding trip, after which they will return to Galveston.

Fainting Bertha Makes Confession; to Return Thefts
After seven hours of incessant prayer on the part of Rev. Charles W. Savidge and the committee that has taken "Fainting Bertha" in charge, she confessed last Monday evening as to the whereabouts of several packages of stolen goods. Together with Mr. Savidge, various shops in Omaha and Council Bluffs were visited, where she had left bundles, and the articles will be returned to their rightful owners.

NEWSIES WIN THIRD ROUND

Commission Gives Them Right to Sell in Buildings.
OVER NEWSDEALERS' PROTEST
Ordinance Requiring Notice of Moving is Put Over for a Week—Dick Grotte Will Rule Some Day.

Over the third protest of lawyers representing the Omaha Newsdealers' association the city commission placed an ordinance giving newsboys the right to sell their wares in buildings as well as on streets on its third reading and passed it with a vote of 5 to 2.

giving the newsboys the right to the curb. The ordinance giving them authority to enter buildings unless forbidden by the superintendent or someone with authority was referred until this meeting.

City Council Notes.
The Central Labor Union sent a protest against the proposed "moving ordinance," under which the movers were to notify the police of changes of locations. The ordinance was introduced by Mayor Dahlman by request, and as his suggestion was postponed until November 24.

City Attorney John A. Rine ruled that F. S. Carver, who asks for damages for injuries received at the hands of policemen who arrested him, was without remedy at law, the city not being liable where a policeman inflicts injury or damage in the discharge of his duty.

The city purchasing agent, Dick Grotte, was instructed to take 125 tons of hay in Elmwood and Fontanelle parks and turn the same over to the fire department.

One thousand maple trees will be purchased by the park commissioner to be transplanted this season in the several city parks.

An ordinance providing for the pensioning of library employees under the provisions of the state law was passed.
