Slicot, Omaha; Nimrod Fisher, Omaha; W. F. Hill, Omaha; H. E. Gladwin, Omaha; J. T. Lyons, Omaha; J. H. Lynch, Omaha; E. A. Gallup, Omaha; C. T. Evans, Omaha.

OLD FIDDLERS HOLD BOARDS

C. T. Evans Wins First Honors at Unique Concert.

REVIVE SPIRIT OF FOREFATHERS

Sixteen Experts with Bow Complete at Y. M. C. A. and Bring Back Memories to Huge Audience.

Sixteen veteran fiddlers with music in their heels and in their souls, which they knew how to transmit to their bowstrings, held a contest in the assembly room at the Young Men's Christian association last night before an enthusiastic audience of nearly 1,000 persons, who so enjoyed the playing that they were compelled to permit their ears to overcome their conservatism.

C. T. Evans, 426 Lake street, won the first prize. He is 77 years old. William Balfour of Newhawa, Neb., won second and Judge Fields of Council Bluffs third. Balfour is 69 years old.

Strong for Old-Time Tunes.

The younger generation and Irving Berlin, Harry von Tilzer and other modern composers of rag melodies were relegated to an inconspicuous corner in the background, while the old-time music to which the forefathers danced at the cornhuskings and weddings was given the prominent attention.

One Exclusive Tune.

Judge Fields played an exclusive tune. It was played to him fifty-five years ago by Byron Reed when he and Reed were playmates and he learned it by ear. It is a quadrille without a title.

NARROW SKIRT STOPS YOUNG WOMAN'S FLIGHT

Ruth Ellis, 19 years old and who lives at 1901 Dodge street, would have made her escape from the city jail yesterday morning had she been wearing anything but a chic, tight-fitting skirt.

MASCULINE TEACHERS AT LIBRARY TEA; AN ACCIDENT

That a school mat'am's life is not all tedious routine work will be attested by a number of high school teachers who were present at an informal "tea" in the school library Thursday afternoon.

Form Orchestras.

After each player had contributed his individual effort, they formed a stringed orchestra and rendered "The Arkansas Traveler" and some patriotic tunes, including "Dixie," "Yankee Doodle" and others.

GAGS CHILD IN HER BEDROOM

Carries Her to Basement and Not for Her Ability to Remove Gag She Could Not Have Given Alarm.

While the mother was upstairs attending to some detail concerning the management of a large apartment house, Brownie M. Tennyson, janitor of the "Leonard Apartments" at 3551 Farnam street, stole cat-like early this morning into the sleeping room of 9-year-old Harriet Johnston, daughter of the landlady, and after binding and gagging her, he carried her down into a cellar storeroom and placed her in a spacious trunk.

Francis from fright, the girl was able to remove part of the gag, and her screams directed searchers to her. Tennyson was arrested, and at headquarters declared that he took the girl because two strange men, whom he does not know, commanded him to, upon pain of death.
