MOREHEAD SCORES PRIMARY

Governor Thinks System in Vogue is Not the Best.

FAVORS THE MAN WITH MONEY

Your Man Does Not Have Chance to Conduct Campaign and Make Self Known to Those Who Must Select Him.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Thanksgiving day was generally observed by the state house officials and most of the offices were closed in the morning and all in the afternoon.

Governor Morehead was about the only state officer who was holding "open house." During the conversation the subject of the present primary was brought up and here the governor was in his glory. The Nebraska executive is not a lover of the present primary and believes it is a step backward instead of forward.

"The present primary," said the governor, "does not give us the best men. The poor man is practically disfranchised for he cannot aspire to become a state officer because he cannot afford to make the campaign necessary. He is up against the proposition, but of financing his own campaign, but all going up against men who have all the finances they need to make their campaign successful."

"A man, for instance, may not be a good man for the place, but if he has the money he can go out and make a campaign which will bring his name prominently before the people and when a man who may not be acquainted with any of the candidates goes to the polls, that man's name is more familiar to him than any of the others and he put his little cross opposite the name of the wrong man."

Likes Convention Plan. "Take the old convention system and I believe we get better men than we do now. For instance, if down in my county we had a man who aspired to a state office and we knew he was not qualified, the members of our delegation could quietly tip the fact off to other delegations after they reached the state convention and have the man defeated in less than no time. The way it is now that man, if he had the money, could have gone away from Richardson county, out through the state where he was unknown and have created a sentiment in favor of his candidacy. The newspapers dislike to fight a man at the primary because they have to eat crow if he should happen to get nominated and in consequence it gives the man who can get his name before the public in the most successful way the inside track.

Not Representative. "We are supposed to have a representative form of government, but under our present primary system, it is not. What does the average citizen know about the qualifications of a man who may not heretofore have been in public life. Absolutely nothing. But under the old convention system, we elected a set of representatives to go to the state convention. They met the man personally. They got a chance to talk with men who knew him intimately. They had a chance to size him up and judge of his qualifications and fitness for the office. They had a personal contact with the man that they could not have had and do not have under the primary system."

Men Are Not Known. "The way it is now, the delegate who might have been selected to go to the state convention never sees the man or has a chance to know of his qualifications. Neither does the man who would have assisted to elect the delegate know of his qualifications. Under the convention system the delegate met the candidate, sized him up and then went back to his county and was able to tell the men whom he represented what kind of a man had been nominated. Now very little is known of the candidate except what he tells himself through the paid advertisements or by friends whom he can afford to pay for traveling about the country to tell of his good qualities."

"I know, said the governor, "that my stand is not the popular one at the present time, but I am not in the habit of being for anything just because it is popular. I stand up for what I think is about the right thing and let it go at that. If people don't agree with me, why that is no affair of mine."

FAVORS ENTRY INTO MEXICO

Chief Executive Would Send Troops to Southern Republic.

ADDRESS MADE AT HAVELOCK

Gov. Morehead Holds Pronounced Opinions with Respect to Right of Government to Protect Property of Citizens.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—If Governor John H. Morehead of Nebraska was in the place of President Woodrow Wilson of the United States the army and navy of the country would be sent into Mexico and the property of United States citizens protected and the country made so that a white man could go down there and live.

Such is the substance of an address delivered by the governor at a banquet given by the Commercial club of Havelock last night, in which the governor, Sheriff Gus Hyers and County Judge Riser were the principal speakers. President Ackerman of the club presided.

Governor Morehead is familiar with the country and with conditions there. He said that the people, as a general thing, were uneducated and lived in a low state of civilization. They are incapable of self-government and are far behind in the things which mark a civilized country. He thinks, as the country lies next to the United States, that we should be interested in having a form of government there which would make it safe for citizens of the United States to enter or pass through.

Governor Morehead also took occasion to assail the present primary system and thought that the time would come when men would be drafted for public office. He spoke of the great importance of good roads and hoped that the convicts at the penitentiary would some time be used for the purpose of making and keeping the roads in good condition.

VETERINARIANS ARE MIFFED

State Board Wishes to Submit Papers in Dr. Davis Case.

OVERRULED BY THE GOVERNOR

Declare They Will Willingly Submit Papers of Examination to Any Three Competent Surgeons in the State.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The examining board of state veterinarians, who were overruled by the state board this week in the granting of a permit to Dr. Davis of Lincoln after he had been refused a license by the board because of failure to pass the examination, have prepared a statement for the public, in which they set out that they will gladly refer the examination papers of Dr. Davis to any three competent veterinarians in the state for examination and abide by their findings.

The statement goes into the case very thoroughly and cites another case similar to this during a former administration, but different in the fact that when the controversy came up the board, which consists of the governor, secretary of state and auditor, called the examiners in for a conference and the matter was shown to have been fair on the part of the examiners, and even the applicant admitted the examination to be on the square.

The present board consists of J. S. Anderson of Seward, J. D. Sprague of David City and W. H. Tucks of Weeping Water. In reply to the charge that they have failed to pass applicants because they desired to keep down the number of veterinarians in the state they show that Governor Aldrich recommended the board, Secretary of State W. H. Auditor Howard and Governor Morehead, 31.

The case occupied the time of the district court for one day and the jury deliberated far into the night before delivering a verdict. At times the twelve men were taken about town by a bailiff for exercise, so strenuous were their deliberations. Mrs. Jackson was a passenger on a Burlington train bound for Oxford. She carried with her as hand baggage one robust handbag containing the newly purchased millinery. It was too large for the baggage rack in the chair car, and was removed to the vestibule by the conductor. Quit Meat When Kidneys Bother

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Eads Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes, and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Eads Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.
