HOME OF J. J. FOY, DUNDEE.
 The reproductions above are of a residence that was built in Omaha by Home Builders. It is modern in every way, having conveniences which make it desirable for any family.

The house is 24x26, with 10x6 addition. It has a full cellar with cement floor. The foundation is of press brick and hollow tile.

The roof is of red cedar shingles. The body of the house is covered with narrow siding.

The windows all have divided top sash. The first floor has five rooms.

The house has a reception hall with built-in seat and stairs, a colonnade between dining room and parlor; large den off of dining room; panel stripes and plate rail in dining room. Pantry area entry off the kitchen; hardwood floors downstairs; oak finish in three main rooms; yellow pine finish in balance of first floor; stairs from kitchen to main stair.

The second floor has two large bed rooms, bath and a sleeping porch. All rooms have large closets.

There is no waist space in hall. The house has yellow pine finish throughout.

The bath room in white enamel. The bed rooms are varnish finished in glass.

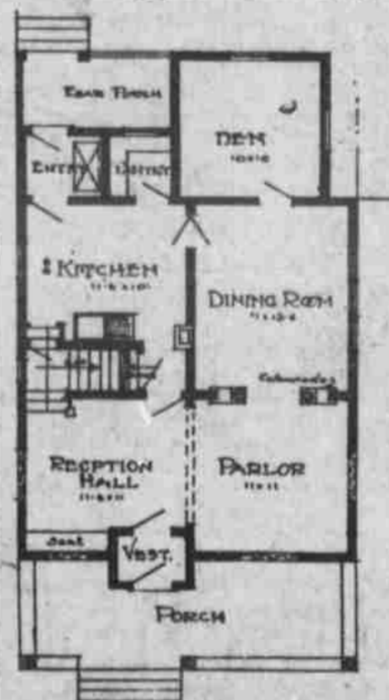

Yellow pine floors are throughout the second floor.

Fir floor is in the sleeping porch.

There is a hard wall finish for all plasterwork.

As a whole the exterior and interior are entirely harmonious, and the plan shows not only a most economical handling of space, but it is also adapted to the average family, where three bed rooms are sufficient to meet their requirements.

Everett S. Dodds is the architect. Phone Douglas 3881. Ground Floor Brandeis Theater Building.

The Kind of Paint that Lasts Sold by Four Good Stores

The name of Sherwin-Williams has been a household word in America for so many years that the person who thinks paint in the spring nearly always thinks of this brand. In Omaha it is sold at the four good drug stores of Sherman & McConnell, who have handled this line for fifteen years. During the present spring a new record has been set by this company on the sale of paints. The business probably will go many per cent higher than that which ever has been recorded. Sherman & McConnell have all kinds of paints and varnishes and are able to supply it in any quantity.

Provides Electric Conveniences. In a suburb of Toledo, O., known as Wildwood, the White Realty company is erecting thirty-five residences in a new subdivision, which will not only be equipped for electric lighting, but in each of which an electric stove will be supplied for cooking.
