Notes from Nebraska City and Otoe County

NEBRASKA CITY, May 19.—(Special)—Officer John Martins, for many years a member of the police force, has tendered his resignation. It goes out of the trouble over the dismissal of Officer Joe Miller by Chief William Quinn, who afterward resigned because Mayor Houston reinstated the dismissed officer. Mrs. William Mathena, whose husband was a section foreman on the Missouri Pacific railway and was killed by the tornado that happened on Easter Sunday, and who has since been here in the hospital in company with her young son has gone to River Sioux, Ia., to make her future home with relatives. The storm carried all of the family away in their home, killing the husband and seriously injuring the wife, but not the son. The woman was found some distance from the ruins of her home and her body was filled with splinters of wood. It required over two weeks to find and remove them all. The people along the line of the railroad, and some here took up a purse and she was enabled to take part of the funds with her.

The body of Frank Biggs of Silver Lake, Kan., was brought to Dunbar today and tomorrow will be buried under the direction of the Masonic lodge of that place, of which he was a member. Mr. Biggs was a resident of this county for nearly forty years and resided near Lorton, but went to Kansas so as to give his children more land.

A petition was presented to the county commissioners Saturday evening asking for a permit to play Sunday ball just outside of the city limits at the new city park. The petition was granted. This is the second petition granted in this county, the other being for the use of grounds near Talmage.

George W. S. Browne and Miss Lillian Nehart, both of this city, were married by Judge Bischof on Saturday evening in the presence of relatives and friends. Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Cora Meyers of this city at the home of her daughter, Mrs. August Bend, at Creston, Ia., where she went on a visit. Her remains may be brought to this city for interment.

Claude Morgan while working about a gasoline engine on the east side of the river fell into the fly wheel and seriously injured his arm.

Carl Thompson has been arrested on a complaint filed by County Attorney W. F. Moran, charged with smoking cigarettes. He is 18 years of age and his hearing has been continued for thirty days. County Attorney Moran has given notice that he intends to rigidly enforce the law covering cigarettes and the sale of them to minors.

Architect Miller Ready with Plans

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 19.—(Special)—Burd Miller, state architect, came to Lincoln this morning to complete arrangements for fixing rooms on the third floor of the capitol building for the use of offices and further to complete the work being arranged for the additions and changes at the state penitentiary. Mr. Miller said that he had gone so far with the plans of the state house remodeling that he thought work could be begun in about two weeks.

At the penitentiary a new building 90x108 feet will be built south of the main building which will be fitted up with a kitchen and dining room below on the first floor and a hospital on the second floor. The old east wing of the present building will be rearranged so that a second floor will be put in over the present dining room, which will be used as steward's living rooms, and a school room on the ground floor.

The work on this building has already begun and will be pushed to completion as fast as possible.

Socialists Ask Leading Question

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 19.—(Special)—Can the initiative be called into the political game to call a constitutional convention is the question put up to the office of the attorney general by John C. Chase, secretary of the socialist party of Nebraska.

The matter has been turned over to Assistant Attorney General Edgerton to look up. The law says that when three-fifths of the members elected to each house of the legislature shall vote to submit the matter to the people it may be submitted. The constitution says that the people may reserve to themselves the power to make laws, etc.

The latter, it would seem, give the people the power to make laws, but whether they have any right to initiate a call for a constitutional convention when the legislature has failed to raise the necessary three-fifths vote is a matter which will need some study, and Mr. Edgerton is not now ready to give an opinion on the matter.

NOTES FROM BEATRICE AND GAGE COUNTY

BEATRICE, Neb., May 19.—(Special)—John Pike, a pioneer of southern Gage county died suddenly Saturday of heart disease. He was about 58 years of age and leaves a widow and several children.

The Gage County Gas, Light and Power company Saturday paid its occupation tax for the year 1912, which amounted to $228.84. This sum is 3 per cent of the gross receipts of the company for last year.

The May term of the district court will convene Monday morning. There are sixty-eight civil cases on the docket and eight criminal cases. Eight divorce cases will come up for hearing at this term.

The stock and implements of D. Cook & Son at Blue Springs were sold Saturday at sheriff's sale for $1,800. There were three attachments on the stock, the firms being the Beatrice Iron works, the Kingman Plow company and the International Harvester company.

Drocks at Table Rock Prolonged.

TABLE ROCK, Neb., May 19.—The saloon question here is arriving at the acute stage. G. A. Alexander of Falls City, who ran a saloon here a few years ago, filed his petition with the village board for saloon license two or three weeks ago. A mistake made by the newspaper in publishing the notice was considered a sufficient cause for the notice to be run an extra week. However, the remonstrators, fearing an action by the board, filed their remonstrance Friday night at the board meeting, so that the drock is likely to continue in Table Rock until about May 30. Many think there is a strong probability that the matter may be carried to the district court to be decided on the same as last year.

HARMAN HOLDS TO CASH

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 19.—(Special)—Food Commissioner Harman has prepared a statement of receipts and disbursements of the pure food, drug, dairy and oil department for the month of February and a comparison with the same month of last year.

Reed Makes Inquiry. E. W. Reed of the physical valuation department of the State Railway commission, who will have charge of the enforcement of the new blue sky law, has gone to Kansas to investigate the workings of the new law in that state. It is said that the law was effective before attempted to change it, but that the changes have made it not much better than the Nebraska law.

Mr. Hoagland Denies. Senator Walter Hoagland of North Platte was at the state house today, having a case before the supreme court. He said he had nothing to say particularly about politics or anything else, except that any man who said he was a candidate for governor or for congress was talking through his hat. He wanted no office and was not a candidate for anything.

Mrs. Hamer Convalescent. Supreme Judge Hamer returned last night from a trip to Portland, Ore., where he went to visit a short time and accompany Mrs. Hamer home. Mrs. Hamer has been in Oregon seeking to regain her health, and feeling much, returned with the judge as far as their old home at Kearney, where she will stop for a short visit with their son before coming to Lincoln.

Fund Half Spent. The tornado relief fund voted by the legislature is now a little more than one-half expended, $7,138.11 having been paid out by the auditor to date. The largest items are for clothing and cover $12,525.79 to the Byrne, Hammer Dry Goods company of Omaha and $7,737.05 to the M. E. Smith company of the same city.

Kanert Withdraws Request. The appeal of Fred F. Kanert of Hall county for a new trial has been withdrawn from the supreme court. At the first trial Kanert was given seven years. BURLINGTON ENJOINS WORK ON DRAINAGE DITCH

TECUMSEH, Neb., May 19.—(Special)—A temporary injunction has been granted the Burlington Railroad company against the Johnson county drainage district to prevent ditching along the company's tracks near this city. Members of the drainage board have been at the point in question and have been looking into the ground strata, it being alleged that it is sandy and that to disturb it would impair the stability of the railroad bed. The tests resulted in the finding of some sand, but not near the road bed, rather some little distance from it on a hilly location. The injunction is to come up for hearing in the federal court at Omaha in June. In the meantime the contractor will not put a dredge to work here. One is working near Sterling.

Governor Hatfield Answers Critics

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 19.—Governor H. D. Hatfield issued a signed statement today replying to criticisms of his policy in the miners' situation, made at a mass meeting in Wheeling yesterday by the Ohio Valley Trade and Labor assembly. The governor in part says: "The military will be relieved from duty when I am assured of law and order and when such characters as you and your co-workers cease to agitate. Who is the best judge of what is necessary to protect life and property, the jury, on the ground, or your organization?"

300 miles away? The miners who have returned to work want my protection and have asked for it themselves. They are satisfied and working. Your acts and motives are ulterior and of a revolutionary character. The miners on Paint and other creeks are cooperating with me, but the anarchists are not. They flourish when revolution and labor troubles are rife."

HORACE G. BURT IS DEAD

(Continued from Page One.) returned and entered the University of Michigan, graduating from Ann Arbor as a civil engineer in 1872. Then he cast his lot with the Milwaukee, remaining in the engineering department to a time.

Leaving the Milwaukee, Burt entered the engineering department of the Northwestern remaining nine years, serving one year as chief engineer of the system. From 1882 to 1888 he was superintendent in charge of the Iowa divisions, the last named year coming to the Elkhorn as general manager, with headquarters in Omaha. As general manager he continued in charge of the Nebraska line two years, when he was elected third vice president of the entire Northwestern system, in charge of traffic, and moved to Chicago.

Goes to Union Pacific. In 1897 and shortly after the Union Pacific passed into the hands of E. H. Harriman, Mr. Burt was called to the Overland and given its presidency, continuing until 1904, when he resigned.

At the time Mr. Burt took charge of the Union Pacific about all there was to it was two streaks of rust from Omaha to Ogden. It had been in the hands of receivers and had been milked by stockholders and others until its stock had gone down to almost nothing.

Mr. Burt was familiar with the road and knew of its ailments, but nevertheless, with Mr. Harriman, he made a trip over the property and then, on his return, went on to New York, as the story goes, E. H. Harriman handed over to Mr. Burt a certified check for $2,000,000, with the remark, "Take this and make a railroad of the Union Pacific and when this money is used up, there will be plenty more at your command."

As president of the road, Burt returned to Omaha and soon had his plans mapped out, and in a general way they have been followed to the letter, though he has been out of the company service several years. His plans provided for double-tracking and shortening the distance between Omaha and Ogden thirty miles.

Tours the World. Resigning the presidency of the Union Pacific, at a salary of $30,000 per year and expenses, he is said, E. H. Harriman commissioned Mr. Burt to visit China and Japan and investigate the possibilities for profitable railroad building in those countries. The trip was made and consumed a year, Mr. Burt making a tour of the world. What information he gained with reference to railroads and railroad building, was never known by the people, as it was never given to the public.

Seen after his return from abroad, Mr. Burt took charge of the Great Western and assisted in its reorganization after it passed out of the hands of the receivers. At the time of his death he was at the head of the Chicago Railroad commission, and is said to have been drawing a salary of $25,000 per year. He was working out a plan looking to the elevation of all of the surface lines entering Chicago, the construction of gigantic tunnels under the streets, a belt line road around the city and an abatement of the smoke nuisance.

Leaves Union Pacific. At the time of the resignation of Mr. Burt from the presidency of the Union Pacific it was said that his quitting was due to friction between himself and Mr. Harriman, but whether this be true or not Mr. Harriman at the time wrote Mr. Burt a letter, telling him that his going was like parting with an old comrade and one who had been true to every trust.

While living in Omaha Mr. Burt gave freely to charity. He was a great lover of music and was something of a musician. He loved music to such a degree that when he was president of the Union Pacific, in his private car he had installed a piano, which he constantly kept equipped with the latest and best musical selections as rapidly as they appeared.

At the time of his death Mr. Burt was wealthy and was rated as a millionaire. For many years he had drawn large salaries in the various positions he had occupied and is said to have been fortunate in investing his money.

Loyal to Friends. T. M. Orr, president to President Mohler of the Union Pacific, was probably as intimately connected with Mr. Burt as any man in the world. Speaking of him, Mr. Orr said:

"Mr. Burt was thoroughly loyal to his friends and for this reason had many. He was impulsive and a perfect steam engine of energy, and his forceful manner frequently made him misunderstood. He possessed a lovable disposition and socially was one of the most pleasing men to meet. He was fond of children, a great lover of music and admired nature in all of its forms."

The funeral at Oak Park will be attended by J. A. Monroe, vice president of the Union Pacific, and Mrs. T. M. Orr. Officers of the Union Pacific are sending various floral tributes to Mrs. Burt to show the esteem in which they held their former chief. The flag on the Union Pacific headquarters has been placed at halfmast and will remain so until after the funeral.

CORN AND OATS NOT SO GOOD

Cold and Damp Weather Has Retarded Growth of the Plants Already Up—Dry Spell Now Needed for Yellow Cereal.

The weekly crop report issued by Frank Fowler of the Nye, Schneider, Fowler Elevator company is out, and so far as wheat is concerned, is optimistic. However, Mr. Fowler takes a somewhat different view when discussing the outlook for corn and oats.

Speaking of the wheat in Nebraska, Mr. Fowler says that the reports coming from elevator men and farmers in all parts of the state, indicate that conditions are the best. Everywhere the cereal is growing rapidly and promises an enormous yield.

With oats it is quite different. For them there has been too much rain and too little sunshine. Already the straw is beginning to rust and turn yellow.

For corn, the great need is dry weather and sunshine. Dry weather is needed that farmers may get into the fields and do their planting and sunshine is needed to destroy the cut worms that are working night and day, playing havoc with the corn that has sprouted and is just coming through the ground.

The weekly crop report of the Northwestern railroad, taking in Nebraska points, indicates that wheat is making good headway and is in the best condition in years. Alfalfa is about ready for the first cutting and pastures are good, except in localities where dandelions have killed out the grass. A number of such instances are noted, and in such cases, generally, farmers have plowed up their pastures and sowed them to alfalfa. This plant they hope will kill the dandelions.

Agents in every part of the state say the weather has been too cold for corn, which, with the almost continuous rains for a couple of weeks, has delayed planting. The agents estimate that up to last Saturday night, about one-fourth to one-third of the corn acreage had been planted.
