Applegate Pitches Fine Ball Up to Eighth Inning, but Throws Ball Away Twice-Omahana in Fine Form.

Abel Applegate, one of Pa Rourke's recruit twirlers, lost his own game yesterday to Topeka by two bad errors in the ninth inning. The final count was 4 to

Until the eighth inning Applegate had everything that a pitcher could want. He had allowed but two hits and apparestly was a sure winner. But in the eighth the visitors landed on him for three safe clouts, which, aided by a walk, gave the Kaws two runs, tieing Omaha's Justice sacrificed and Applegate scored

The Rourkes came back in the same inning and again took the lead by pushing Smith wa'ked. Cothran singled. Lee was over an extra tally, but the Kaws won safe on an infield hit and the bases were in the ninth.
