Friday, June 6, 1913.

REMARKABLE coincidence of auto-suggestion was noticeable at a recent wedding, when it was recalled by the guests that the groom was from Dresden and that tableware from the porcelain potteries of Meissen at the Saxony capitol would be quite appropriate to the occasion. No less than half of the wedding tokens were so marked. Consequently this bride has one of the best collections of this attractive china in the city.

There were handsome Dresden plates of various sizes, platters and attractive comports, and an after-dinner coffee set. So, although many of the wedding guests had the same idea, it did not come amiss, and the bride is congratulating herself, for she has an attractive apartment and is an especially clever hostess, and the handsome china is among the most appreciated of all of her gifts.

COUNCILMEN UP IN THE AIR Oil Shipments from New Wyoming Field Howell's Plan of Assessments is Too Big a Tangle for Them.

CASES PROBABLE TO COURTS Wote on Approving Plan of Assessing Property to Pay Cost of Extending Water Mains is Taken-Plan Rejected.

The third day of the city council's struggle with Water Commissioner How- kots over the Pierre and Huron line. ell's plan of assessing property to pay the cost of water main extensions ended with the council still up in the air, but inclining toward approval of the water commissioner's plan and allowing the property iners to go into court and recover if they have suffered damages.

The question of whether property, where private mains are installed, ought to be charged 50 cents per front foot or not was discussed and the council finally afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the water office will have furnished the council with plats showing connections of private THREE COUNTRY CLUBS maina

Another question discussed was whether or not a corner lot ought to be taxed on both sides. Water Commissioner Howell, who argued for the flat 50 cents on all property, whether provided with private mains or not, believed it should. The pouncil, however, could not so determine.

No Vote Taken. Numerous suggestions and motions asked for a vote on the proposition of recents, made by Councilman McGovern, but other matters intervened and no vote was taken.

A vote to approve the plan of assessment in district No. 5, Thirty-eighth atrest from Mason to Leavenworth, was lost by a vote of 4 to 3, Ryder, Withnell and Dahlman voting for approval, saying the property owners were going to take the matter to the court anyway.

Butler suggested that the tax on propsrty provided with private mains be reduced from 50 to 35 cents per front foot, but this was lost on the advice of the assistant city attorney, who said he believed the only method would be to investigate each protest and determine the protestant derived a benefit.

The oil business out of Casper has grown to such an extent that the Northwestern has added a daily oil-tank train to its service. Distribution begins at Orin Junction, where cars are sent south. The next junction is at Chadron, from where the tank cars go up on the Black Hills branch and also out into South Da-

The Northwestern is supplying many of the cars, but the Midwest Oil company has found its business increasing so rapidly that it has commenced buying and using its own cars. Within the last month it has put 300 oil-tank cars into the service and has nearly as many more ordered and nearly ready for use. Casper, according to the railroad officials, has increased fully $,000 in population in the last sixty days and is growadjourned without action until Tuesday ing by leaps and bounds. It has become wide-open business town.
