

PROMINENT SUFFRAGIST HERE

Miss Jeanette Rankin, Secretary of National Association, in Omaha.

SPEAKS BEFORE LOCAL WOMEN

Says that Nebraska Stands High with the Suffrage Equality Societies in the Eastern States.

Miss Jeanette Rankin, the only field secretary of the National Woman's Suffrage Association of the United States, arrived in Omaha yesterday to look over the ground and give assistance to the local and state organization.

Miss Rankin is a decided brunette with a charming personality and last, but not least, a decided optimist. Her winning smile is backed by a most conclusive argument for the cause of suffrage.

"I have been in four legislatures since the first of the year," said Miss Rankin, "and since commencing my work two years ago I have been in nine campaigns for the cause."

"Win? Of course we are going to win," said Miss Rankin. "I would be ashamed to be a woman and not be out working for suffrage."

On Way to South Dakota.

Miss Rankin is on her way to Huron, S. D., where she will assist the local society there in planning its campaign work. Distance makes little difference to this young suffragist. She has just appeared before the legislature in Florida, told the fifty-two members of the Delaware legislature why women should have the ballot, and within the next week or so pleaded the cause of woman suffrage in the Montana legislature.

This is her second trip to the Dakotas, and all this traveling has been done since January 1, 1913.

Miss Rankin spoke before the local suffrage societies yesterday at the Young Women's Christian association at 3:30 o'clock and said that Nebraska stands very high in the east among the suffragists and that they are expecting to count it as one of the states for suffrage at the close of the 1914 campaign.

Nebraska Wheat Brings High Price

The prospect of an immense wheat crop is stimulating farmers and elevator men to get rid of the old wheat as rapidly as possible. As a result the railroads are again experiencing considerable difficulty in getting cars to handle the old shipments.

It is estimated that there is now in the hands of farmers and elevator men from 25 to 35 per cent of last year's crop of wheat.

While wheat has sold off several cents within the last few days, it is said that the Nebraska product has not followed the decline, it being a milling proposition entirely. For this reason, in order to get this wheat, mill owners at the big centers have been forced to bid the price considerable above the market.

RECLAMATION SCHEME IS DECLARED CHIMERICAL

The executive committee of the Commercial club deferred action on a resolution offered by George H. Maxwell of the National Reclamation association, who spoke at the club Thursday on the Newlands river regulation bill.

T. W. McCullough, managing editor of The Bee, appeared before the committee in opposition to the resolution, pointing out that Maxwell's plans for building reservoirs and irrigation canals to stop the flood waters on the lower Mississippi was a "chimerical proposition."

Mother of Eighteen Children. "I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Hill, Va.

I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat as much as a biscuit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 138 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Hill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say. LEW RABER GIVEN SURPRISE

Typographical Union and Tri-City Ben Franklin Club Say Good-by.

PRESENTED WITH GOLD RING

Out of Esteem for the Help He Has Given Printers, Both He and Mrs. Raber Given Tokens for Remembrance.

Omaha printers, members of Omaha Typographical union No. 190, of which he has been a member for many years, together with the Tri-City Ben Franklin club, of which he has been one of the active workers since its organization, bid goodbye to Lew W. Raber yesterday afternoon. To Mr. Raber it was something of a surprise.

For fifty-two years Mr. Raber has been a printer and for the last twenty-five years he has been a proprietor of a printing establishment in Omaha. He has sold out his business and, with Mrs. Raber, will leave Thursday morning for the Ozark country in Arkansas, where he has purchased a fruit farm, on which he will reside.

Yesterday afternoon while at home Mr. Raber was sent for and was informed that he was wanted downtown and at his old office in The Bee building. Accompanied by Mrs. Raber, he hurried and when he arrived he found awaiting him a large number of the members of the typographical union and a delegation from the Ben Franklin club. The entire party posed for a picture and Mr. Raber thought this was the end of the affair, but it was not.

Given a Ring. Gerritt S. Guild, one of the old-time printers, now proofreader on the World-Herald, after the handshaking was over, called attention to the fact in behalf of the members of 190 he wanted to say a few words to Mr. and Mrs. Raber. He delivered a neat little address, telling of the esteem in which both Mr. Raber and his wife were held by the members of the organization, closing with the presentation to Mr. Raber of a beautiful solid gold ring, the words, "Lew W. Raber, June 9, 1913, O. T. 17, No. 190, Omaha, Neb.," worked out in blue enamel with letters of gold.

To Mrs. Raber, Mr. Guild in behalf of the printers presented a silk gold-handled umbrella, suitably engraved. In behalf of the employing printers and as president of the Ben Franklin club, Harry E. Tostevin expressed the appreciation and esteem in which Mr. Raber has been held.

Responding to the speeches, Mr. Raber spoke of his long residence in Omaha and the many friends he is leaving behind. He said that it was with much regret that he was leaving Omaha and that no matter where he might go he did not expect to find as many friends and none who would ever be closer to him than those in this city. He told of many times helping the printers to work and not infrequently had loaned money to them, but never in his years of residence in Omaha had there been one who had failed to return what he had borrowed.

WILLIAM J. BROWNE DIES AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

William J. Browne died yesterday at his residence, 118 South Nineteenth street, after a short illness of hardening of the arteries.

Mr. Browne was a native of England, born in Manchester. He was 70 years of age and had been a resident of Omaha for fifteen years, coming from St. Joseph, Mo., and was connected with the store department of the Union Pacific railroad. He served in the federal army during the civil war.

Surviving him, besides the widow, are two daughters, Mrs. Byron G. Burbonk and Miss Annie C. Browne, both of Omaha. Funeral services were held at the residence at 5 p. m. yesterday and the body was then taken to St. Joseph, Mo., where interment will take place today.

Mr. Browne was at his desk Monday and in the evening returned home in apparent good health. He ate a hearty supper and retired. Soon after he complained of severe pain in the chest. His condition rapidly grew worse and he died early yesterday.

Miss Ammonds was painfully bruised and after being taken to a nearby drug store, where she was given medical attention, she was conveyed to her home.

Minix was arrested and booked for reckless driving.

COMMERCE MEN ARE TO BE ENTERTAINED IN OMAHA

Arrangements are being made to entertain the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States who will pass through Omaha Sunday, July 6, to attend a meeting in San Francisco. There will be twenty-five men in the party. George H. Kelly, president of the Commercial club, being also a director in the national chamber, has been made chairman of a committee to plan entertainment features for the visitors. Auto rides and a luncheon will be a part of the welcome tendered them.

YOUTH'S SKULL FRACTURED AT CUDAHY PACKING PLANT

Eddie McCabe, 20 years old, Forty-second and S streets, suffered a fractured skull yesterday at the Cudahy packing plant, South Omaha, when a heavy metal hook fell upon his head while he was working on the killing floor. His chances are not very bright for recovery, but an operation was performed upon his head, which is his only hope.

Coroner Crosby's inquest into the death of Frank Riley, who drowned last week in Carter lake, returns a verdict that he met his death by drowning. BERTHA MOTT WANTS A DIVORCE AND HER CHILD

Mrs. Bertha Mott, who two years ago was acquitted by a jury of a charge of murdering Otis Hedy, a waiter, owing to her plea that she shot the man in defense of her virtue, probably will be granted a divorce from her husband. The case will be tried in Judge Troup's district court and Bert Mott will not resist the suit.

Mrs. Mott is asking for the custody of a baby girl, Inez, and the court is expected to grant her plea, but Mrs. Mott does not know where the child is. She has learned that the little girl was released from the Child Saving institute to her father last fall and she says Mrs. Mott is investigating the records of the juvenile court to learn who is responsible for the baby. The child had a hearing in the juvenile court a year ago.

Mrs. Mott alleges that Mott cruelly accused her of misconduct. Mrs. Mott married Bert Mott four months before Hedy was shot, the ceremony taking place in Council Bluffs.

ASKS FOR TEN THOUSAND DAMAGE FROM BREWERY

Oscar Boettger, former employe of the Storz Brewing company, has started a suit for $10,000 damages against the company. He alleges that while handling some freshly bottled beer in one of the departments of the brewery one of the bottles exploded and that as a result he has lost the sight of his right eye and the left is badly impaired.

After the accident he further alleges that he signed a receipt for $2 when he thought it was a receipt for wages, being unable to either read or write English.
