he wishes to do if he will only line u with the democrats. Richardson laughed at the suggestion.

As a matter of fact, it is understood that the republicans would make Richardson president if he wanted the place. President E. R. Leigh has time and again declared his willingness to lay down the burdens of his office if the majority wished it. The trouble with the democrats seems to be that they are holding the same old promises out that have been used in the past to get what they term 'recognition." Horacek and Leigh know the game and the effort is therefore being directed against Richardson, the new member. Richardson is a strong man and can keep his own counsel. The result is that the democrats, it is said, think he can be brought over to their side in the organisation next month.
