

The Society Bee-Hive

BY MELLIFICIA. Tuesday, July 8, 1913.

HERE are quite a number of feminine followers of Isaac Walton in Omaha, although we are far removed from the haunts of the finny tribe, with the exception, perhaps, of Carter lake.

George A. Hoagland has the record of being Omaha's greatest fisherman, and spends a great deal of time at this favorite sport. Mr. Hoagland has been at Lake Jefferson for many weeks, and this week left for Lake Osakas for a short stay before returning home. He has his touring car with him and, with his friends, takes many short tours. During the winter season he usually spends a few weeks fishing on the Gulf of Mexico.

Mrs. Hoagland recently spent ten days with Mr. Hoagland at Lake Jefferson and made quite a fishing record, catching 200 fish during her brief stay.

Mrs. W. A. Pixley and Mrs. Fred Hamilton have taken numerous fishing trips for trout in the Big Horn mountains, where their husbands go frequently on fishing and hunting trips.

Brownell Hall League.

It is fifty years ago this autumn since Brownell Hall opened its doors for study. On the evening of October 21 this year the Alumnae association will meet at the school and will consider plans for the golden jubilee, which will be held during the commencement week of 1914. Former students, who are not graduates, have formed a Brownell Hall league and all "old girls" are cordially invited to become members. Mrs. John W. Towle, president of the Alumnae association, is interested in the new organization. Mrs. George C. Smith, Mrs. R. D. Barklow, Mrs. Theodore L. Ringwalt, Mrs. F. H. Davis are included in the interested workers, who are striving to make the jubilee a brilliant affair. KOLLER INTO A NEW OFFICE

To Be Assistant General Manager of the Burlington.

ASSISTANT TO G. W. HOLDREGE

Has Already Bought a Home in Dundee and Expects to Become a Fixture in the City of Omaha.

While the official notice has not been given to the public, E. R. Koller, assistant general manager of the Burlington lines east of the Missouri river, with headquarters at Galesburg, Ill., has been appointed to the same position in connection with the lines west of the river, with headquarters in Omaha, filling a position recently created.

The appointment of Assistant General Manager Koller becomes effective August 15, when he will enter upon the discharge of his duties. He is in Omaha at the present time getting a line-up on the work and becoming familiar with the office.

Mr. Koller expects to become a fixture in Omaha and has already purchased a home that will be occupied by himself, his wife and daughter. Of George & Co. he has bought the residence at 3117 California street, in Dundee, just being completed.

The appointment of Mr. Koller as assistant general manager comes as a promotion to an employe who has been with the company a quarter of a century. It places him second in charge of what the Burlington officials look upon as the most important portion of the system. It is no wise discredit to the work and management of General Manager Holdrege. For a long time it has been conceded that looking after the lines west of the Missouri has been too great a task for one man, hence the creation of the office of assistant general manager.

Mr. Holdrege will continue as general manager, but it is said that he will turn over a large volume of the detail and much of the outside work to Mr. Koller, who is a much younger man, being only about 45 years of age.

Assistant General Manager Koller started with the Burlington as an office boy and station helper. Twenty-two years ago he was station agent at Oxford, where he married a daughter of one of the citizens of that town. Then he became traveling auditor for the company, residing at Hastings. He was on the road several years and then was called to Lincoln to serve as chief clerk in the office of Superintendent Hignell. From this position he was advanced to trainmaster of the Lincoln division and then to assistant superintendent of the same division.

The next promotion was to the position of superintendent of the McCook division and from there he went to Galesburg as superintendent of the Illinois lines, subsequently becoming assistant manager of the lines east of the Missouri river.

Dapper Youth Takes Money Put Out for Ice Wagon Driver

A dozen or more housekeepers, living in the vicinity of Twenty-second and Pratt streets, are up in arms and laying in ambush for a dapper young chap who has been making early morning calls at various back doors while the mistress is engaged in some other part of the house. The young chap, who is described as wearing a straw hat, dark trousers and blue-hosiery and no coat, visits the houses just before the ice man is scheduled to make his rounds.

The women of the neighborhood are in the habit of leaving the money for the ice on the refrigerator or in some other easily accessible position in the kitchen or porch. When the ice man appears on the scene the young man boldly steps into the house, takes the change and

Care of the Baby in Hot Weather

By E. W. Connell, Health Commissioner.

Some valuable hints have been published by the department of health of Chicago, pertaining to the care of the baby, a number of which will be quoted.

There are many who have the care of babies who are unable to keep ice boxes or even furnish ice for the proper care of the milk, but there are very few who cannot improvise a cheap ice box sufficient to keep the milk in as good condition as though they had an expensive refrigerator. It is made in the following manner, with an ordinary soap box or fruit packing case. In this is placed a tin pail surrounded with a sheet of tin bent in circular form, which makes an air space. Between this and the walls of the box pack with sawdust. Place the ice in a circular chamber surrounding the pail. Fold one dozen thicknesses of newspaper the size of the box and place over the top and cover with lid. The cost of ice for a box made in this manner would be only 2 or 4 cents a day.

The visiting nurses in their work this summer in looking after the welfare of babies will make arrangements whereby they will furnish these kind of boxes and also the ice, to those who have infants and are not able to supply the boxes and ice themselves. A postal dropped to the visiting nurses will receive an immediate response.

The best substitute for mother's milk is properly prepared or modified cow's milk. Milk should be modified according to the age, health and strength of the baby under the advice of the physician. If the baby has colic or looseness of the bowels or is feverish, something is wrong. Send for the doctor.

The new born baby is an undeveloped creature and needs its mother to complete it. Before birth it needed her blood, after birth it needs her milk. Cow's milk, while it is the best substitute, is adapted naturally only for the calf, and unless it is modified for the individual baby it is about as well fitted for the baby as hay, grass or oats would be for the mother.

Feeding too much, too often, or the wrong thing, is the chief cause of diarrhea in infancy. Hot weather weakens the baby, so that it contracts diarrhea more easily. The baby contracts diarrhea stop all food. At the first sign of diar-

COUNCIL BLUFFS IS ADDED TO OMAHA CUSTOMS OFFICE

Council Bluffs has practically been added to the Omaha district of the United States customs office. Council Bluffs, under the reorganization of the department, was not named as a port of entry, but an I. T. port of entry, which means that merchandise destined for Council Bluffs may be forwarded to that point in care of the collector of customs, Omaha. Seaport customs officials have been instructed to send all official papers for Council Bluffs to the collector in Omaha. Owing to the close proximity of the two cities it did not seem necessary to the department to station a customs officer at Council Bluffs. Examination will be made at Council Bluffs by an officer detailed there from Omaha for that purpose.

Do you know that there is more nutrition in a 10c package of FAUST SPAGHETTI than there is in 4 lbs. of beef? It is rich in gluten, the food content that makes muscle, bone and flesh.

Why babies cry?

Babies cry because they are tired of lying on one side and are not strong enough to turn over. They cry because they are warm and tingling with prickly heat. They cry because they are wet or their clothes are uncomfortable. They cry because they are thirsty. They cry because they are sleepy and want to be laid down and let alone. They may cry for hunger—but we must not think they are hungry every time they cry. They cry when in pain, but see that none of the above is the cause of their crying before deciding pain causes them to cry. When a baby is well: It sleeps twelve hours out of every twenty-four, without being rocked. When it nurses every three or four hours and is satisfied. When it has a soft yellow stool every day, without medicine or other help. When it looks happy and contented. No solid food should be given a nursing baby. Don't give it anything to chew until there are teeth to chew with. Don't rock the baby. Don't take it up every time it cries. Don't let visitors or relatives pinch or poke or "boop" at it to make it notice them or laugh. Don't let the children of the neighborhood visit and kiss it. There may be danger of the baby taking some disease.
