Simultaneously with the report a shower of pamphlets rained down on the members. They have the printed words, "Votes for women."

Two persons pointed out as the perpetrators of the outrage, were hustled from the gallery and detained, pending investigation. It was discovered later that the weapon was merely a toy pistol.

A number of toy mouse traps, satirizing the "cat-and-mouse act," reached the members wrapped in the pamphlets thrown from the gallery.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF PERFUME STOLEN

NEW YORK, July 11.—Detectives are baffled on the countless trail of robbers who stole 148 packages of perfume, weighing about 1,400 pounds and valued at about $5,000, from a downtown depot. Although several fixed post policemen were stationed in the vicinity it is believed the thieves backed up a truck to the depot late in the afternoon, just after the place had been closed and loaded their booty. There was evidence that the robbers had slept in the depot until 4 o'clock in the morning, had set an alarm clock to wake them and then drove away. They also took $14 in cash which represented a weekly base ball pool among the employees of the place.

United States and Canadian Teams Will Meet in Tennis Finals

NOTTINGHAM, England, July 11.—Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco and Harold H. Hackett of New York, by winning the doubles match against the Germans, Friedrich Wilhelm Rahe and Heinrich Kleinroth, put the United States team today into the final round of the Davis lawn tennis cup preliminaries. They won by three sets to one, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 and 8-6. They will meet the Canadian team, which today beat the Belgians at Wimbledon, on July 13, 19 and 21.

The Americans owed their victory largely to McLoughlin, although Hackett, who was weakest in his service, showed his old-time brilliancy in volleying. At the beginning the Germans took McLoughlin's service well. He then developed it until it was impossible to take. His drives down the line and his smashes also nonplussed the German although Kleinroth returned several of them very neatly.

FOLKESTONE, England, July 11.—The Canadian team won the doubles match from the Belgians and thus qualified to enter the final round where the United States and Canada will compete for the right to challenge the English team for the Davis cup.

Powell and Schwengers had an easy task to beat Watson and Davyler. They won the match in three straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Federal Grand Jury Begins Inquiry Into David Lamar's Case

NEW YORK, July 11.—The federal grand jury continued its investigation today into the case of David Lamar, under that section of the United States statutes which provided punishment for the impersonation of an officer or employee of the government.

Paul D. Cravath, an attorney, who testified before the senate lobby investigating committee in connection with Lamar's activities in the so-called Union Pacific conspiracy, was one of the witnesses under subpoena to appear before the grand jury today.

Other witnesses it is said will be United States Senator Stone and Representatives Palmer and Rorand, whom Lamar confessed to the committee that they had been impersonated in telephone conversations with Lewis Cass Ledyard and others.

The first witnesses examined today were George F. Baker, chairman of the First National bank, and J. Sergeant Cram, a lawyer prominent in Tammany circles. Both were mentioned in testimony before the lobby committee in connection with the activities of Lamar and the alleged telephone investigation of the United States Steel corporation by the senate committee.

Misuse of I. W. W. Funds is Alleged

BOSTON, July 11.—Misuse by Industrial Workers of the World of funds contributed for relief of strikers and their families during the great textile struggle at Lawrence is alleged by William Trautman, lawyer of Chicago in an affidavit filed with the supreme court in his own defense today.

Industrial Workers of the World newspaper men who needed bail money and a newspaper man are among those alleged to have been benefited. Trautman, Joseph Bedard and Joseph Shahan composed the strikers' relief committee and are accused by the attorney general of having used $100,000 of the fund for purposes other than for which it was intended.

In his affidavit Trautman says that he never handled the funds and that many payments were made without the consent or knowledge of the committee and for which none of the three should be held liable.

ROMANIANS TAKE SILISTRIA Important Fort of Danube Captured Without Resistance.

King Charles Expects to Get Permanent Possession of Strip of Bulgarian Long Coveted by His Country.

PURPOSE OF THE MOVEMENT BULLETTIN.

BUCHAREST, Roumania, July 11.—Roumanian troops today occupied the Bulgarian city of Silistria on the right bank of the Danube. They were not opposed by the Bulgarians.

Silistria is a very important port on the Danube and has been existence as a city since the Roman era. Until the conclusion of the Russo-Turkish war in 1878, it had been for 500 years the main bulwark of the Ottoman empire on its northern European frontier.

It contained many magazines through its courtyards and always offered a stout resistance. Even as late as the Crimean war it was able to resist a bombardment by the Russians, but after the last Russo-Turkish war the Turkish troops retired and left it in the hands of the Bulgarians. It has over 12,000 inhabitants, many of whom are Mohammedans.

The Roumanian government decided yesterday to notify the Bulgarian government that the Roumanian army would cross into Bulgarian territory and also that Roumania would take part in the discussion of the final partition of the territories of what was formerly European Turkey.

Wants Share of Spoils.
LONDON, July 11.—The Roumanian declaration of war on Bulgaria is expected here to assist in bringing to an end the carnage in the Balkans by forcing speedy action on the part of the powers, who have been invited to intervene.

The object of King Charles of Roumania in assuming the part of a belligerent is to strengthen Roumanian claim to participate in the ultimate sharing of territory in the Balkan peninsula. For the present Roumania, it is thought, will probably be content itself with occupying the strip of Roumanian territory from Turtukal on the Danube of Balchik on the Black sea, including the city of Silistria. It has coveted this for a long time and it is believed it will accomplish her object under the prevailing conditions without Bulgarian resistance.

Wool Men's Gift to Clerk Manufacturer Tells of Present of $5,000 to S. N. D. North.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Martin M. Mulhall, whose published charges of his activities as a lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers, have named many congressmen as having been susceptible to influence of a "lobby," was ready today to begin his testimony when the senate investigating committee assembled. Inasmuch as some witnesses in the wool tariff phase of the inquiry were waiting to be heard Mulhall was forced to wait.

Winthrop L. Marvin, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, put in a synopsis of a statement showing the financial operations.

He was mentioned about a special $50,000 fund raised several years ago. He said he had no record of how that fund was collected or disbursed. He believed E. F. Green of Boston, who helped raise it, could tell how it had been spent. No record had been kept, but he was certain the money had been spent in printing and traveling expenses.

William Whitman, former president of the association, then took the stand. Whitman explained a $5,000 gift made to S. N. D. North, secretary of the association in 1907 and a clerk to majority members of the senate finance committee. The gift was made after the Dingley bill passed congress.

Many prominent wool manufacturers and others had connected with the association contributed to the fund.

Whitman was asked about the $5,000 gift to North, an incident which attracted nationwide attention when it was first disclosed several years ago. He put the gift in a letter to North, dated Boston, September 27, 1907, signed by himself, George Sykes, Benjamin Phipps, James T. Hill Phipps, Jr. and Turbul Greely. It set out that at a meeting of a few members of the national association, "unanimous expression" developed in favor of presenting to North "some substantial testimonial in recognition of your past services to the association and the woolen industry of the country." It then went on to say that a draft for $5,000 was enclosed, and concluded: "This is a voluntary and cheerful expression of your appreciation of your work and of the high regard in which you are held."

"While I looked upon the presentation of that sum to Mr. North as a proper recognition of his services," said Whitman, "no thought had ever entered into my mind before Mr. Phillips came to me about making such a presentation. When Mr. North left the association later in 1907, it made him another presentation in recognition of his faithful work. It was in the form of a silver service."

Senator Walsh read into the records a copy of what purported to be a letter from North to Seneca Payne, under date of December 5, 1908. It read:

Following my return to Boston after the passage of the tariff bill, the officers of the National Wool Manufacturers' association informed me that in recognition of the arduous and responsible work I had performed for the committee and the serious injury to my health, which had resulted from an assignment entirely apart from my duties as secretary of the association, they believed I had been underpaid and accordingly, as an expression of their personal good will, they presented me with the sum of $5,000. Shortly afterward my salary was increased.

STORM AND FLOOD IN ITALY Southern Part of Peninsula Devastated by Hurricane.

SEVERAL VILLAGES INUNDATED
Slight Earthquake Shock Accompanied Storm at Cassano—Temperature Lowest for June in 900 Years.

ROME, July 11.—A terrible storm is raging throughout Italy and in many places the country has been devastated and the crops destroyed. It is accompanied by remarkably cold weather for this time of year, the temperature in Rome at noon today falling below 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Such weather in the middle of July has not been recorded in Italy since the year 1181, when superstitious persons attributed it to the reputation of the No. 11.

Heavy Rain at Naples.
NAPLES, July 11.—Extraordinary falls of rain and hail have flooded the surrounding country for the last two days. Torrents of water mixed with mud and ash from Vesuvius have inundated the villages along the gulf of Turin. Owing to an onrush cold wind from the north accompanied by hurricanes, the temperature today fell almost to freezing point. Snow is reported to have fallen in the Alps.

Violent Storm at Messina.
MESSINA, Italy, July 11.—A violent tempest in the vicinity of the straits of Messina, accompanied by a heavy rainfall, has caused enormous damage in this region. Crops have been destroyed and floods have compelled the population to leave the huts in which they have been living since the great earthquake of a few years ago.

Hurricane and Earthquake.
COSENZA, Italy, July 11.—Hurricanes, accompanied by slight earthquake shocks and underground rumblings have terrified the peasants in this region for the last two days. This is especially the case in the isolated villages, where the people have not recovered from the fright caused by the earthquake which occurred at the end of June.

HUMAN TIGER IS EXECUTED Most Extraordinary Convict of the Age is Hanged.

MURDERED FELLOW PRISONERS
He Was Put to Death Under New Law for Assault on Another
Convict—Case in Supreme Court
Three Times.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 11.—Jacob Oppenheimer, whom criminologists have termed one of America's most extraordinary convicts, was hanged at California prison this morning. Though he had killed two men, it was not for murder that Oppenheimer gave up his life. His crime was an attack on a fellow prisoner, and his ill will to have been the first case in this country of a felon being executed for simple assault.

Oppenheimer, when a messenger boy of 14, tried to kill his superintendent and was given a life term. He was released after he was convicted of robbery and sent to Folsom prison for fifty years. A man named Ross, who had been the principal witness for the prosecution later was himself sent to prison. Oppenheimer's sentence was lengthened to life imprisonment and he was transferred to San Quentin. There he attacked a guard and later a fellow prisoner, and for the latter assault he was sentenced to death under California's law enacted in 1907, making an attack by a convict on a guard or fellow prisoner, a capital offense.

In Prison Fourteen Years.
Fourteen of his eighteen years in prison Oppenheimer spent in solitary confinement. An enemy, Francisco Quilada, a murderer awaiting execution, used the prison "telegraph"—taps on the cell walls—to taunt the inmate of the dungeon. Oppenheimer, nursing his wrath, managed to procure an old file. And as he sharpened and pointed the file on the stone walls he would leave off to tap to Quilada: "I'll get you, you—!" One day Quilada was led to Oppenheimer's cell. Quick as a thought Oppenheimer's arm shot through the bars and his file pierced his enemy's heart. After that Oppenheimer was known as the "human tiger."

Oppenheimer's attorneys had fought desperately for six years to save him. Three times the case was taken to the United States supreme court.

Oppenheimer met death unflinchingly. His last request was that the women of California keep up their fight for the abolition of capital punishment.

New Hanged in San Quentin.
SAN QUENTIN, Cal., July 11.—Frank Bauwerts was hanged in the prison here this morning for the murder of two women near Riverside a year ago. He protested his innocence to the end.

Coal Dealers Talk Shop at Duluth

DULUTH, Minn., July 11.—A better feeling between wholesale and retail coal dealers, elimination of the practice of short weighting in coal transactions, honest advertising and feeling in favor of a reciprocal trade law are some of the reforms brought about by the Northwestern Retail Coal Dealers' association, according to President W. B. Benning of Union, Neb., who spoke at the thirteenth annual convention here today.

H. L. Laird of Minneapolis, secretary of the association, said the organization has spread education among small dealers.

"God help us when the small order houses have driven out the small dealer or any other merchant in small towns," he said. "During the last ten years 6,000 towns have decreased in population. This should never have occurred. Patronize home industries."

Cutting Down the Cost

You hear more or less—principally more—these July days about the high cost of living.

"Oh, dear, this is so high and that is so high."

Such phrases are common; but in some instances they are superficial, or would be if advertising were given keener, more thoughtful attention.

The dry goods dealer, butcher, baker or grocer who advertises materially aids in reducing the high cost of living.

He tells YOU where you can buy to best advantage.

He shows you how, when and where to buy.

That naturally helps cut down your living expenses.

He reduces his selling expenses by increasing his volume of business.

His advertisements are reasonable; your needs are reasonable; harmony and supply and demand.

You should become thoroughly acquainted with the advertisements in THE BEE.

For to do so plainly points a way to the road that cuts the cost of living.

CHARGES AGAINST AMERICANS Papers of Mexico City Say They Are Assisting Rebels—Warships at Guaymas Said to Have Thrown Searchlights on City

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Secretary Garrison today ordered Colonel Edwin P. Brewer of the Fourteenth cavalry at Fort McIntosh, Tex., to demand the release of five Americans, together with 30 cattle and thirty horses, held by Mexican revolutionists at Fidal Gomo, Mex. Secretary Bryan requested the action.

The attention of the State department was called to the imprisonment of the Americans and the seizure of their property by Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo, Mex. When Consul Garrett demanded the release of his countrymen the revolutionists told him they must await orders from Piedras Negras.

So great is the lawlessness around Tampico that the better class of Mexicans have joined Americans in organizing and under command of the federal military governor of San Luis Potosi, already fourteen bandits have been hanged. It is expected that a military governor will take charge of the state of Tamaulipas, as has been done in Vera Cruz and San Luis Potosi during the last few days.

The consul at Mazatlan has reported to the State department that many demagogic Americans are arriving at that port and that he has sent twenty-four refugees to San Francisco.

Charges Against Americans.
MEXICO CITY, July 11.—Much space is devoted today by the newspapers here to articles in support of charges that American citizens are aiding the rebels. Alleged specific instances are given, the material for which in part at least has been supplied from official sources.

The official correspondence is given in the case of Jesse B. Johnson, United States consul at Matamoros, whom Elias, the Mexican inspector of consuls, charged with attempting to induce federal troops to join the rebels, who had captured that town. Elias also accuses Frank Rabb, whose probable appointment as post collector at Laredo, Tex., was recently under discussion.

The charge is brought that an American warship at Guaymas threw its searchlights on the city during the recent fighting, thus enabling the rebels to take better aim.

Alleged Information is Supplied.
Another charge is that the wireless stations at Tuxpam and Tampico, which are operated by Americans, were used by the consul at Tampico, to supply the movements of the federal army to the rebels, while during the battle at Naco, it is asserted, Americans, knowing that a big shipment of supplies for General Ojeda was coming, instigated the rebels to hasten their attack so as to obtain possession of the shipment. It is also declared that the Eighteenth United States cavalry, while on patrol duty, aided the rebels in their attack.

El Pais makes the greatest display of these charges, which fill seven columns. The newspaper insists that the public should recognize the danger of an American invasion of Mexico.

ITALIAN OFFICERS ARE COMING FOR CHARLTON

NEW YORK, July 11.—The Italian consulate is advised that two agents of the Italian government are leaving Italy today for this country to get Porter Charlton and take him back to Italy to stand trial there for the murder of his wife on June 1, 1910.

The authorities of the Hudson county jail in Jersey City have been directed to turn the alleged murderer over to the Italian agents, in accordance with the recent mandate of the United States supreme court. Mrs. Charlton was the divorced wife of Neville H. Castle, a lawyer of San Francisco.
