MEET OF TEACHERS ENDS

Flea for More Democracy in Education is Made.

SYSTEM CALLED ARISTOCRATIC

Pittsburgh Women Speaking on Morality and Wages Says Efficiency Must Be Increased so Employers Will Raise Pay.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 12.—With a general session in the tabernacle tonight, the fifty-first annual convention of the National Education association and affiliated societies came to a close. Dr. Joseph Swain, president-elect, spoke briefly upon the program for the ensuing year.

Thomas Jesse Jones, of the United States Bureau of Education, pleaded for more democracy in education. "While we have proclaimed our belief in the education of all the people with almost boastful pride," he said, "we have been clinging with blind tenacity to a form of education that is both traditional and aristocratic." His theme was one upon which special emphasis was laid by speakers at department meetings today.

Speaking on the subject of morality and wages, Irene E. McDermott of Pittsburgh declared that education must be looked to in order to increase efficiency so much that employers would raise wages voluntarily. Education also, she said, would prevent immorality among girls where a minimum wage would not.

The secondary department elected the following officers: Oliver S. Westcott, Chicago, president; I. M. Allen, Wichita, Kan., vice president; E. C. Roberts, Everett, Wash., secretary. The middle department elected Agnes Hanson, Chicago, president; Harriet Rose Foster, Boston, president; W. J. Monahan, University of Chicago, vice president; Orson Ryan, Midvale, Utah, secretary.

It was learned tonight that a poll of the board of directors, which meets tomorrow morning to select the convention cities for the next two years, indicated that St. Paul had a majority of three over Atlanta City for the next meeting place. Oakland will be the unanimous choice for 1915.

A new department, the classroom teachers' department, was organized today and the following officers elected: Mary Rosser, Salt Lake City, president; Mary O'Connor, Buffalo, vice president, and Miss Acklison, Denver, secretary.

labor men there to get their support." Letters from C. E. Alden, then secretary to Foraker, and Arthur B. Shelton, secretary to Aldrich, showed that Mulhall's suggestion to go to Rhode Island had been the subject of some correspondence. Alden and Shelton knew he was employed by the association and he had not tried to conceal the source of his employment even from the labor leaders, he testified.

Mulhall repeated any implication that he had tried to play "a double game" on the labor men such as he frankly testified he played in 1908. "In 1908 I took a paid up union card and had no further connection with labor unions," he said.

Flight Against Hughes. A letter of identification for Harry C. Kurten given by the Council of Allied Building Trades of Philadelphia was in evidence. It was signed by Kurten as secretary. Kurten was engaged, Mulhall testified, in the fight against William Hughes, then a representative and now a senator from New Jersey.

"Were you sent to help beat Hughes by the National Association of Manufacturers?" asked Mr. Reed. "Yes, sir."

"Why did they want to beat Hughes?" "On account of his holding a union card, being affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and his activity on the floor of the house and with the labor leaders in Washington."

Kurten was given credentials. Mulhall said, so he could get into union labor meetings to oppose Hughes. "The work of this kind was always secret," said Mulhall. "It was done under cover."

"Did you pose as a friend of the labor organizations and thus work against these organizations from the inside?" asked Senator Cummins. "Not at that time."

Chairman Overman of the senate committee sent a formal notice to chairman of the house committee at 10:30 o'clock that the senate committee would insist on keeping Mulhall as a witness until they had finished with him.

Chairman Overman asserted the house committee had the separate investors' committee that the senate committee had a house subpoena, and make available to the house committee's order "any and all papers now or which may come into my possession in connection with this matter."

Hires Labor Leaders. Mulhall identified a letter from James J. Ridge, outlining work done by Ridge among Rhode Island labor unions in 1908 in behalf of another's candidacy. Mulhall testified giving Ridge $500, which he got from Curbing, secretary for the manufacture, to help Aldrich in his campaign for re-election. In a letter relating to Ridge, it was said "the senator is well pleased with the work of your friend."

AVIATOR DROPS INTO LAKE

Glenn Martin Volplanes Seven Hundred Feet in Hurry.

TROUBLE WITH CARBURATOR After Declaring His Machine is Not Damaged and He Will Continue Journey to Detroit This Morning.

MUSKOGON, Mich., July 12.—Glenn Martin's steady nerve and perfect control of his hydro-aeroplane, in which he is making the Chicago-to-Detroit cruise, probably saved his life late this afternoon when the machine developed carburetor trouble and he was forced to make a quick descent into Lake Michigan.

Martin, with his passenger, Charles Day, was flying about seven hundred feet above the water when the air valve dropped from the carburetor. Martin volplaned to the surface of the lake, making a perfect landing about two and one-half miles from the shore. In a few minutes he succeeded in starting his engine again and reached the shore under his own power.

Martin declared his machine was not damaged and that he will resume his journey toward Chevrolet at 7:30 tomorrow morning. Beckwith Havens and Roy Francis, who reached Fenwater this afternoon will remain there during the night, a lowering barometer causing them to defer their departure until tomorrow morning.

Pat to Continue. CHICAGO, Ill., July 12.—Walter E. Johnson, whose machine was wrecked near Robertsville, Ind., Tuesday, failed to continue in the Chicago-Detroit hydro-aeroplane cruise today. He declared tonight that if the weather was favorable he would start tomorrow.

Insurance Firms Enjoin New Board

LINCOLN, Neb., July 12.—Governor Meadhead, Attorney General Martin and Auditor Howard, members of the new State Insurance board, which will take office July 12, were today made defendants in an injunction suit filed in the district court here, by the Royal Highlanders, the Woodmen of the World and the Woodmen Circle. The suit asks to prevent the enforcement of the new insurance code, to become effective July 12 as passed by the last legislature.

Other insurance companies, both fraternal and life, promise to join the three companies. The companies ask for the injunction on the ground that the insurance code, creating the board, was illegally passed, and that the law code is inconsistent with a separate bill requiring a referendum vote of the members of fraternal organizations on any contemplated change in rates.

Ridgell Wants to Abolish Fireworks

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., July 12.—Fire losses in Nebraska, caused by 1913 Fourth of July crackers, rockets and noisemakers amounted to only $100 according to a bulletin prepared by Fire Commissioner Ridgell today. There were just two fires as against twenty-one last year.

The improvement leads the state official to believe that next year many villages and towns will pass ordinances prohibiting the sale of all fireworks. The commission to be passed by the department from now on will have that and in view and Commissioner Ridgell has been promised the aid of several organizations.
