HAVE just returned from a tour of the French and Viennese watering places, and therefore I am able to send you some word pictures and some photographs of the very newest bathing costumes and wraps I saw while touring.

You never see such costumes on the beaches of America, because you in the United States are more puritanical in your costuming, even this year, when the "No-Limit" costume has invaded every other country. Having accepted the split skirt and other extreme fashions, it is satural that the bathing costume thould have the same fabric as the costume, but others are made of contrasting fabrics. These wraps are really necessary when the bathing rown is such a one as is worn by the bewitching young woman in this group who is wearing a one-piece costume with grace and nonchalance. This costume is merely a black jersey, her wrap or robe is of oherry red and white striped ratine, and her cap is red rubber charmingly pleated and very becoming.

devote much time and thought to what they shall wear. Satin is, of course, the greatest favorite. I saw one plain little satin costume that cost one hundred dollars, just for the suit, without the knickers! Everything was extra, and when the wrap, satin sandals, bonnet, silk tights and per-asol were added the whole outfit cost two hun-dred dollars! And it was only a bathing suit! I send you a picture of this costume. The white satin costume shown here with the point less bodies represents one hundred dol-

The white sain costume shown here with the point ince bodice represents one hundred dol-lars just as you see it here. The little Bul-garian costume, a marvelous color scheme in blues, greens and reds, represents one hundred and fifty dollars. Vorily, there is no limit to the extravagances of the mode.
