ECONOMY VS. EXTRAVAGANCE was the subject discussed by the guests at a Kensington the other afternoon, and while the needles fairly flew, some unusual experiences were related.

Most of the wives were complaining about the dreadful extravagant habits of their husbands. "Well, I would like to have some experiences of that kind," said a good-natured looking woman. "I believe my husband is absolutely the most economical man I ever heard of. The other Sunday afternoon, when it was 100 in the shade, we were invited out for tea to meet an out-of-town friend who was here. My sister and I, dressed in our best, came downstairs and sat down on the veranda to wait for the new automobile. "We are going to walk," announced my husband; "the hot sun will blister the paint on my new automobile."

MAKES ATTACK ON WITHNELL.

Michaelsen Signs Statement Former Superior is Inefficient.

MAKES POLITICAL CHARGES

Former City Electrician Says Withnell Used Office to Foster Friendships and Neglected to Enforce Wiring Ordinances.

Waldemar Michaelsen, discharged city electrician, in a signed statement offers to show that his superior officer, Charles H. Withnell, city commissioner of fire protection and water supply, is inefficient and has used his office for political purposes.

Michaelsen declares that Withnell insisted on leaving "a certain electrical job in an unapproved condition," saying, "Now, Mike, what is the use of always wrangling with people and continually making enemies for ourselves instead of friends? What would be the worst thing that could happen if this installation was left in this unapproved condition? Would it be that the building might burn down?"

In answer Michaelsen says he pointed out that somebody might get killed. He states that Withnell replied that if the building burned the owners were safe, since they carried insurance, and that they "didn't want to run the fire department out of a job."

Continuing, Michaelsen charges "criminal neglect" in safeguarding patrons of the theaters. Verbally, he said, he had an ordinance drafted covering the protection of patrons from moving picture theaters, but when Withnell saw it he was "mad as a wet hen."

The electrician says he has called to Withnell's attention the fact that lives were endangered by the negligence in construction and maintenance of theaters, and Withnell promised to "remedy the situation," but so far has made no move to do so.

Michaelsen announced that he would not appeal the case to the district court. He said he had not made arrangements to engage in any private enterprise yet.

In referring his charges against Withnell, Michaelsen produced correspondence that he alleged he wrote to Withnell regarding several jobs. The letters specified in detail the objections that Michaelsen maintained, but on the other hand Withnell asserts that the letters were never received by him.

"My files are open to the public," Withnell said, and the letters that Michaelsen produces were never received by me.

Withnell denies the statements made by Michaelsen and says that he never asked Michaelsen to do any of the things which he charges, but on the other hand declares that the city electrician absolutely has ignored him since he has been in office.

WOMEN GET THEIR PETITIONS

Start at Once to Secure Signatures So They May Vote.

J. L. KENNEDY GIVES ADVICE Tells the Women the Way They Should Proceed in Getting the Required Number of Signatures to the Petitions.

Yesterday was "petition day" with the Nebraska suffragettes and in each district of the state a meeting of these enthusiastic women is being held. The purpose is to receive the petitions by which they will endeavor to obtain a sufficient number of signatures of the voters and by means of the initiative will obtain the ballot in 1914 and be allowed to vote in 1915.

A meeting of the suffragettes of the Second district was held yesterday in the assembly room of the Young Men's Christian association. Mrs. W. C. Sunderland, chairman of the district, presided. Rev. Mr. Lang opened the meeting with prayer. John L. Kennedy told them what to do and what not to do in obtaining the signatures.

"The men of Nebraska are great big hearted, strong minded men; they are the pioneers of this western country and are the bravest in this big country of ours," said Mr. Kennedy. "If they are approached in the right way you will have no trouble in getting them to sign

Direct Rays of Sun Are Bad for Crime

According to the learned men the action of the sun upon germs and microbes is very deleterious to their well being, therefore, it is very reasonable to suspect that the criminal "bug" suffers accordingly with his fellows. In police court Wednesday morning the scientists were upheld by the fact that only one offender was subtracted from the number of suspects arrested. Joe Durr was convicted of petty larceny and given a thirty-day sentence. Joe's operations were conducted during the nocturnal portion of the day, so his germs were unaffected by Old Sol. Hence the conviction.
